Skylark Farm Antonia Arslan, 2008-12-10 A beautiful wrenching debut chronicling the life of a family struggling for survival during the Armenian genocide in Turkey in 1915. After forty years in Venice, Yerwant is planning a long-awaited reunion with his family at their homestead in the Anatolian hills of Turkey. But as joyful preparations begin, Italy enters the Great War and closes its borders. At the same time in Turkey, the Young Turks determined to rid their nation of minorities force his family on a brutal march of hunger and humiliation. We follow Yerwant's relatives as they strain to stay alive and as four children set out on a daring course to reach Yerwant and safety in Italy. A novel as lyrical and poignant as a fable.

Imagining Human Rights Susanne Kaul, David Kim, 2015-09-25 Why is it that human rights are considered inviolable norms of justice at local and global scales although the number of their violations has steadily increased in modern history On the surface this paradox seems to be reducible to a straightforward discrepancy between idealism and reality in humanitarian affairs but Imagining Human Rights complicates the picture by offering interdisciplinary perspectives on the imaginary status of human rights By that the contributors mean not merely subject to imagination open to interpretation or far too abstract but also formative of a social imaginary with emphatic identifications and shared values From a variety of disciplinary perspectives they explore critical ways of engaging in rigorous interdisciplinary conversations about the origin and language of human rights personal dignity redistributive justice and international solidarity Together they show how and why a careful examination of the intersection between disciplinary investigations is essential for imagining human rights at large Examples range from the legitimacy of land ownership rights and the inadequacy of human faculty to make sense of mass violence in visual representation to the stewardship of human rights promoters and the genealogy of human rights

The organization Genocide Watch estimates that 100 million civilians around the globe have lost their lives as a result of genocide in only the past sixty years Over the same period the visual arts in the form of documentary footage has aided international efforts to document genocide and prosecute those responsible but this book argues that fictional representation occupies an equally important and problematic place in the process of shaping minds on the subject Edited by two of the leading experts in the field The History of Genocide in Cinema analyzes fictional and semi fictional portrayals of genocide focusing on amongst others the repression of indigenous populations in Australia the genocide of Native Americans in the 19th century the Herero genocide Armenia the Holodomor

Stalin's policy of starvation in Ukraine the Nazi Holocaust Nanking and Darfur Comprehensive and unique in its focus on fiction films as opposed to documentaries The History of Genocide in Cinema is an essential resource for students and researchers in the fields of cultural history holocaust studies and the history of film
