

A person in a dark suit and tie is seated at a desk, signing a large document with a pen. The background shows the ornate stone columns and pediment of a classical building, likely a government or institutional structure. A semi-transparent white banner is overlaid across the middle of the image.

Hunter,Samantha Cohen,2019-01-04 This paper garners information crucial to understanding business growth for new entrants and small businesses who contract with the federal government by utilizing publicly available contracting data from the Federal Procurement Data System FPDS to track new entrants from 2001 2016 This information is then used to evaluate entrances exits and status changes among federal vendors with the purpose of comparing challenges faced by small businesses with those of larger ones Measuring market trends over time and in multiple sectors shows how the challenges facing small businesses such as market barriers to entry and imperfect competition keep them from growing The final results compare the survival rates between small and non small new entrants contracting with the federal government and analyze the graduation rates for those small new entrants who grew in size during the observation period and survived after ten years The study finds that around 40 percent of new entrants exit the market for federal contracts after three years around 50 60 percent after five years and only about one fifth of new entrants remain in the federal contracting arena in the final year of observation Across the six samples studied the graduation rates of small businesses consistently decrease

Capturing Federal Contracts as a Small Business Jerry Evans, 2018-01-12 In the current fiscal environment of reduced federal budgets the ability for small businesses to grow and win more government work both as a prime contractor and as a subcontractor is becoming more and more difficult Gone are the days when a small business could rely on winning small business set asides or being added to a large company team just because of their socioeconomic status without solid marketing and capture activities My background is in the federal market space specifically Intelligence and Department of Defense Therefore I will commonly refer to marketing as the business development process or a structured capture process that I feel is needed by any small businesses to win work in the federal market space
