individuos podemos preparar nuestros hogares y familias para hacer frente durante ese período crítico. A través de la planificación previa al evento, los vecindarios y los trabajadores también pueden trabajar juntos para ayudar a reducir las lesiones, la pérdida de vidas y el daño a la propiedad. La preparación del vecindario mejora la capacidad de las personas y los vecindarios para reducir sus necesidades de emergencia y para administrar sus recursos existentes hasta que la asistencia profesional esté disponible. Estudios de comportamiento después de los desastres han demostrado que los grupos que trabajan juntos en el período de desastre se desempeñan de manera más eficaz si ha habido planificación previa y capacitación para la respuesta ante desastres. Estos estudios también muestran que los esfuerzos de base organizados pueden ser más exitosos si se tejen en el tejido social y político de la comunidad: asociaciones vecinales, escuelas, lugares de trabajo, sitios de culto y otras organizaciones existentes. Por lo tanto, la respuesta efectiva requiere una planificación y una coordinación integrales de todos los que están involucrados: Gobierno, grupos de voluntarios, empresas privadas, escuelas y organizaciones comunitarias. Con la capacitación y la información, los individuos y los grupos comunitarios pueden estar preparados para servir como un recurso crucial capaz de desempeñar muchas de las funciones de emergencia necesarias en el período inmediato posterior al desastre. El programa CERT está diseñado para capacitar a los individuos para que sean activos para ayudar a las comunidades a prepararse para una respuesta eficaz ante desastres.
