2. An ionic bond occurs when one atom gives up an electron to another atom, which then takes the electron to complete its outer shell. This results in oppositely charged ions. The attraction between the oppositely charged ions is called an ionic bond. This attraction is the force that holds the ions together in a crystal lattice. The strength of the ionic bond is determined by the charges on the ions and the distance between them. The greater the charges, the stronger the bond. The smaller the distance, the stronger the bond.
3. The two main types of chemical bonds are ionic and covalent. Ionic bonds are formed between a metal and a nonmetal. Covalent bonds are formed between two nonmetals.
