Sifuentes-Jáuregui, Marisa Belausteguigoitia, 2016-01-26 Through a collection of critical essays this work explores twelve keywords central in Latin American and Caribbean Studies indigenismo Americanism colonialism criollismo race transculturation modernity nation gender sexuality testimonio and popular culture The central question motivating this work is how to think epistemologically and pedagogically about Latin American and Caribbean Studies as fields that have had different historical and institutional trajectories across the Caribbean Latin America and the United States Centre for Research on Latin America and the Caribbean Centre for Research on Latin America and the Caribbean, Media, Sound, and Culture in Latin America and the Caribbean Alejandra Bronfman, Andrew Grant Wood, 2012-04-22 Outside of music the importance of sound and listening have been greatly overlooked in Latin American history Visual media has dominated cultural studies affording an incomplete record of the modern era This edited volume presents an original analysis of the role of sound in Latin American and Caribbean societies from the late nineteenth century to the present The contributors examine the importance of sound in the purveyance of power gender roles race community religion and populism They also demonstrate how sound is essential to the formation of citizenship and nationalism Sonic media and radio in particular have become primary tools for contesting political issues In that vein the contributors view the control of radio transmission and those who manipulate its content for political gain Conversely they show how in neoliberal climates radio programs have exposed corruption and provided a voice for activism The chapters address sonic production in a variety of media radio Internet digital recordings phonographs speeches carnival performances fireworks festivals and the reinterpretation of sound in literature They examine the embodied experience of listening and its importance to memory coding and identity formation This collection looks to sonic media as an essential vehicle for transmitting ideologies imagined communities and culture As the contributors discern sound is ubiquitous and its study is therefore crucial to understanding the flow of information and influence in Latin America and globally Discourses from Latin America and the Caribbean Eleonora Esposito, Carolina Pérez-Arredondo, José Manuel Ferreiro, 2018-09-13 This edited collection brings together the latest research on discourse and society in Latin America and Caribbean in one volume Employing cross cutting approaches to current political institutional and media discourses it bridges existing theoretical and analytical gaps between the socio political macro issues and the micro aspects of linguistic analysis to provide fresh insights that deconstruct the complex socio political power dynamics in Latin America and the Caribbean Across eight chapters this volume explores the regions thorny relationship with their complex histories of colonialism and slavery as well as the ongoing multifaceted constructions of hegemonic and counter hegemonic identities at the individual regional and national levels In doing so it demonstrates the unique and rich particularities of these regions and why it is that they challenge many conventional dogmas and methods across the Social Sciences This book will be of particular interest to scholars working in Discourse Studies Sociology Politics Anthropology and Latin American and Caribbean Studies Music in Latin America and the Caribbean: An
