Crime, Bodies and Space Miriam Tedeschi, 2019-12-12 With cities increasingly following rigid rules for designing out crime and producing spaces under surveillance this book asks how information shapes bodies space and ultimately policymaking In recent years public spaces have changed in Western countries with the urban realm becoming an ever more monitored privatised homogeneous and aseptic space that has lost its character uniqueness and diversity in the name of security This underpins precise moral and political choices in terms of what a space should be how it can be used and by whom These choices generate material consequences concerning urban inequality and freedom or otherwise of movement Based on ethnographic and autoethnographic explorations in London s criminal spaces this book illustrates how rules policies and moral values far from being abstract concepts are in fact material

Outlining the basis of a new urban information ethics the book both exposes and challenges how moral values and predefined categories are applied to and materially shape the movement of bodies in urban space with regard to crime and security policies Drawing on Gilbert Simondon's information theory and a wide range of work in urban studies geography and planning as well as in surveillance studies object oriented ontology and contemporary theoretical work on both materiality and affect the book provides a radically new perspective on urban space in general and crime and security in particular This book uses a balanced mix of theoretical concepts and empirical study to bring theory and practice together in an intertwining of ethnography and autoethnography This book will be of interest to students and scholars in the fields of urban studies urban geography sociology surveillance studies legal theory socio legal studies planning law environmental law and land law

Inside War Fabio Armao, 2016-02-22 The post Cold War era was characterised by both the recurrence of state wars and the spread of forms of organised violence other than wars Asymmetric warfare between alliances led by the USA and groups of insurgents such as those witnessed in Afghanistan and Iraq coexist alongside domestic conflicts such as that of former Yugoslavia and more recently Libya and Syria and still other conflicts involving gangs mafias or narco traffickers The massive military industrial complexes conceived in the context of the threat of nuclear Armageddon are still there of course but they now coexist with irregular armies of insurgents carrying out massacres through the use of light weapons and improvised explosives devices This book opposes the idea that this situation prefigures the return to an anarchical pre political condition by assuming that new wars are rather the product of the blurring of the public private divide induced by the end of the Cold War together with globalisation As a consequence also the internal and external factors are blurred and ever more permeable and elusive is becoming even the border between war and crime Inside War goes beyond a state centered analysis and adopts an interdisciplinary and multilayered approach and is intended to foster the dialogue among researchers from different fields It places war at the core of analysis assuming that the reality of war is what we make of it and that the only insurmountable limit to our comprehension of war is our way of knowing and representing it Fabio Armao teaches courses in Politics and Globalisation Processes and Criminal Systems He has been Visiting Professor at Cornell University and co convenor of the Standing Group on Organized Crime European Consortium for Political Research Founding member of T wai Torino World Affair Institute he is also member of the Editorial Board of Global Crime His research interests and publications focus on international wars and geopolitics on violent non state actors and transnational organised crime and on urban security

The Contributions of Specialized Institutes and Non-Governmental Organizations to the United Nations Criminal Justice Program M. Cherif Bassiouni,2023-08-28 The increase of crime at the national transnational and international levels has heightened concern in the international community and generated greater interest in international criminal justice policy Since the 1950s the United Nations has been developing the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme which was designed to respond to these concerns But United Nations resources and support for the programme have been limited notwithstanding the services and contributions of the Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Branch As the United Nations celebrates its Fiftieth Anniversary it is fitting to have a book that describes the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme The information it contains highlights the significant contributions of a number of organizations whose work may not be sufficiently known outside the circles of scholars experts and professionals in the field of international criminal justice The book is thus also a deserving tribute to these organizations giving greater publicity to what they have contributed over the years with scant United Nations recognition Without these organizations and the active NGOs the United Nations would hardly have leave to claim part of what is now an important though still insufficient contribution to international criminal justice
