Time Matter(s): Invention and Re-Imagination in Built Conservation Federica Goffi, 2016-02-24 Even though the idea of altering an existing building is presently a well established practice within the context of adaptive reuse when the building in question is a mnemonic building of recognized heritage value alterations are viewed with suspicion even when change is a recognized necessity This book fills in a blind spot in current architectural theory and practice looking into a notion of conservation as a form of invention and imagination offering the reader a counter viewpoint to a predominant western understanding that preservation should be a still shot from the past Through a micro historical study of a Renaissance concept of restoration a theoretical framework to question the issue of conservation as a creative endeavor arises It focuses on Tiberio Alfarano s 1571 ichnography of St Peter s Basilica in the Vatican into which a complex body of religious political architectural and cultural elements is woven By merging past and present temple s plans he created a track drawing questioning the design pursued after Michelangelo s death 1564 opening the gaze towards other possible future imaginings This book uncovers how the drawing was acted on by Carlo Maderno 1556 1629 who literally used it as physical substratum to for new design proposals completing the renewal of the temple in 1626 Proposing a hybrid architectural conservation approach this study shows how these two practices can be merged in contemporary renovation By creating hybrid drawings the retrospective and prospective gaze of built conservation forms a continuous and contiguous reality where a pre existent condition engages with future design rejoining multiple temporalities within continuity of identity This study might provide a paradigmatic and timely model to retune contemporary architectural sensibility when dealing with the dilemma between design and preservation when transforming a building of recognized significance

The Great Lone Land William Francis Sir Butler,2022-09-04 In The Great Lone Land William Francis Sir Butler invites readers into the untamed wilderness of Canada during the latter half of the 19th century The narrative weaves a rich tapestry of adventure exploration and the stark beauty of nature capturing the essence of frontier life through vivid descriptions and engaging anecdotes Butler s prose is characterized by its lyrical quality reflecting both the grandeur and desolation of the landscapes he traverses while also offering keen insights into the indigenous cultures and the impact of colonialism. The book emerges as a significant work in the genre of travel writing positioning itself within the broader literary context of exploration narratives that flourished during the Victorian era, thus highlighting humanity's relationship with nature and the challenges of survival in an untamed land. This multifaceted perspective enriches the narrative, illuminating his motivations influenced by the spirit of adventure and his contemplations on the ethical ramifications of colonization. For readers drawn to tales of exploration and adventure, The Great Lone Land stands as a compelling testament to the human spirit's resilience against nature's challenges. The Academy and Literature, 1903 Catalogue of Books Howell, Edward, firm, booksellers, Liverpool, 1878 A History of India Michelguglielmo Torri, 2025-02-25 Comprehensive and in-depth exploration of one of the oldest civilisations in the world, revealing the dynamic changes of its society, the links to the rest of the world, and the underlying forces that led to India's significant role on today's global stage. This three-volume history of India explores the dynamics at play in the subcontinent from the first human settlements to the 2014 general election. The first volume examines the history of India from the first human settlements in the subcontinent up to the death of Emperor Aurangzeb in 1717. The political, military, economic, and social developments are analysed against the backdrop represented by the rise, decline, fall, and renaissance of flourishing urban civilizations. The book also demonstrates that, despite exceptions, an essentially harmonious coexistence prevailed between Hinduism and Islam, which often resulted in cooperation. The second volume covers the collapse of the Mughal Empire to the end of colonialism in 1947. It analyses the features of the most important pre colonial Indian states and the role played by British colonialism. Finally the volume closely examines the rise and evolution of Indian nationalism, the reasons that forced the British to end their rule and the causes of partition. The third volume examines the political, economic and social evolution of India from independence to the 2014 general election. It argues that the period is subdivided into two main phases. The main features of the first phase were a secular democracy, a dominant party system and an economy where the state played a crucially important economic role. The second Neoliberal Age was characterized by the eclipse of the dominant party system and the implementation of neoliberal economic policies which sped up development but widened social and economic disparities and also saw the rise of Hindutva.
