Farenga, 2017-03-16 Through conversations in honor of Dale D Johnson this book takes a critical view of the monoculture in curriculum and policy that has developed in education with the increase of federal funding and privatization of services for public education and examines the shift from public interest and control to private and corporate shareholder hegemony Most states educational responsibilities assessment of constituents curriculum development and instructional protocols are increasingly being outsourced to private enterprises in an effort to reduce state budgets These enterprises have been given wide access to state resources such as public data from state sanctioned testing results field testing rights to public schools and financial assistance Chapter authors challenge this paradigm as well as the model that has set growing premiums on accountability and performance measures Connecting common impact between the standards movement and the privatization of education this book lays bare the repercussions of high stakes accountability coupled with increasing privatization Winner of The Society of Professors of Education Book Award 2018 Race, Class, and the State in

Connecting the Dots Peggy Wireman, 2017-09-08 Despite its size and social diversity the United States is one nation and what happens in one city or neighborhood ultimately affects all Americans Connecting the Dots addresses the complex relationships between family and community and between community and other players affecting family and community life including the private sector government nonprofit groups and religious organizations Contrary to much rhetoric Wireman argues that America does not suffer from a loss of family values but from a shift in business practices and public commitments The American dream of work hard buy a home and give your children a better life is no longer realistic for millions of workers both white collar and blue collar At an individual level millions of Americans face significant challenges as they go about trying to meet the everyday responsibilities of earning an income feeding their families maintaining their health finding housing handling everyday household chores and caring for their children Besides identifying top down structures laws and attitudes that create a supportive context for family life the book includes bottom up anecdotal examples to ground its policy oriented discussion It also provides statistical data needed to develop realistic solutions Wireman examines diversity as well since how America handles racial and ethnic differences remains crucial to its future She discusses ways in which communities have created social capital community cohesion and local organizational ability Wireman provides a framework for policymakers local community leaders and neighborhood activists to use in analyzing their situations and selecting the best approach she also describes what various players can and must do to uphold the American dream Connecting the Dots will be of keen interest to sociologists political scientists economists and social workers

Sociology Richard T. Schaefer, 2004 Three basic premises guide this highly successful introductory text first that theory and research must be both comprehensive and clear second that the text must show how sociology is relevant both to the study of society and to students lives and third that sociology can play a valuable role in teaching critical thinking skills To that end this solid well respected text combines a balanced three perspective approach with excellent student oriented examples and distinctive social policy sections in a concise presentation that offers an alternative to full length books

Barlow, 2003-08-01 Globalization is transforming societies everywhere in paradoxical and contradictory ways This book examines globalization s impact on race in the United States since the mid 1970s On one hand globalization is creating conditions that support intensified efforts to claim white privileges But globalization also creates new possibilities for anti racist movements and thus the potential to undermine racial privileges Globalization is thus transforming the terrain of all racial projects in the United States This book is an original contribution to the study of race It provides a structural analysis of race and a methodology for connecting global to national and local racial processes Written in a lively and down to earth style this book is a call to action in a time of fear and hope
