Flanagan, Vincent C. Alfonso, 2016-01-28

WJ IV Clinical Use and Interpretation: Scientist Practitioner Perspectives provides clinical use and interpretive information for clinical practitioners using the Woodcock-Johnson Fourth Edition WJ IV. The book discusses how the cognitive achievement and oral language batteries are organized, a description of their specific content, a brief review of their psychometric properties, and best practices in interpreting scores on the WJ IV. Coverage includes the predictive validity of its lower order factors and the clinical information that can be derived from its 60 individual subtests. Part II of this book describes the clinical and diagnostic utility of the WJ IV with young children for diagnosing learning disabilities in both school age and adult populations and for identifying gifted and talented individuals. Additionally, the book discusses the use of the WJ IV with individuals whose culture and language backgrounds differ from those who are native English speakers and who were born and raised in mainstream US culture. Discusses the organization and content of all three batteries in the WJ IV. Reviews best practices for score interpretation. Covers psychometric properties and predictive validity. Explores clinical information that can be extracted from 60 individual subtests. Includes diagnostic utility for learning disabilities, giftedness, and non-English speaking populations. Essentials of NEPSY-II Assessment Sally L. Kemp, Marit Korkman, 2010-10-12

Foundations of Sport-Related Brain Injuries Semyon M. Slobounov, Wayne J. Sebastianelli, 2006-08-25 This book is the partial product of a conference on concussion in athletics held at the Pennsylvania State University April 29 30 2004 For a number of reasons it seemed timely to hold such a conference as well as to condense our current understanding of mechanisms predispositions and latest developments in evaluation and managements of sport related concussions in a single book format Despite dramatic advances in medicine traumatic brain injury commonly know as concussion is still one of the most puzzling and least understood injuries facing the sport medicine world today There still no universal agreement assigning the level of severity the sport related concussions nor there is any treatment besides the passage of time Medicines inability to fully understanding concussion has led us to question when it is truly safe to return an athlete to full sport participation so threat for risk of re injury is minimized The need for a multidisciplinary approach to understanding the spo related concussions stem from recent evidence that there are long lasting residual behavioral psycho social and neural disabilities that are often overlooked using current research methods The notion of transient and rapid symptoms resolution is misleading since symptoms resolution is frequently not indicative of injury resolution There are no two traumatic brain injuries alike in mechanism symptomology or symptoms resolution Most grading scales are based on loss of consciousness and post traumatic amnesia both of which occur infrequently in sport related mild traumatic brain injuries

Essentials of Neuropsychological Assessment Rik Carl D'Amato, PhD, Lawrence C. Hartlage, PhD, 2008-06-16 The field of clinical neuropsychology has grown substantially since the first edition of Essentials of Neuropsychological Assessment was published in 1987 While retaining much of its original structure this new edition has been thoroughly updated and expanded Chapter 5 The Neuropsychological Examination has been broken into three separate chapters that focus on specific neuropsychological batteries And three new chapters on brain imaging neuroanatomy and cross cultural issues in neuropsychology have been added The resulting new edition is a substantial expansion upon the earlier one The book is written for recently trained neuropsychology practitioners and PhD students in clinical psychology who are preparing for careers in neuropsychology But it should also appeal to experienced clinicians who need a primer on neuropsychological assessment
