Chicago on Foot Ira J. Bach, 1973 Chicago in and Around the Loop Gerard R. Wolfe, 2004 Along the Chicago river The magnificent mile and streeterville South of the loop printers row Grant park to the museum campus Chicago's North Michigan Avenue John W. Stamper, 1991-08-27 Since its opening in the 1920s Chicago's North Michigan Avenue has been one of the city's most prestigious commercial corridors lined by some of its most architecturally distinctive business residential and hotel buildings Planned by Daniel Burnham in 1909 the avenue became the principal connecting link between downtown and the wealthy residential Gold Coast north of the Loop Some thirty buildings were constructed along its path in the ten year period before the Depression an urban expansion comparable in significance to that of Pennsylvania and Park Avenues John W Stamper traces the complex development of North Michigan Avenue from the 1880s to the 1920s building boom that solidified its character and economic base describing the initiation of the planning process by private interests to its execution aided by the city's powerful condemnation and taxation proceedings He focuses on individual buildings constructed on the avenue including the Renaissance and Gothic inspired Wrigley Building Tribune Tower and Drake Hotel and places them within the context of factors governing their construction property ownership financing zoning laws design theory and advertising Stamper compares this stylistically diverse mixture of low and high rise structures with earlier rejected planning proposals all of which had prescribed a uniformly designed European like avenue of continuous cornice heights consistent facade widths and complementary stylistic features He analyzes the drastically different character the avenue took by 1930 with high rise towers reaching thirty stories and beyond in terms of the clash among economic political and architectural interests His argument that the discrepancies between the rejected plans and reality illustrate the developers choice of economic return on their investment over aesthetic community is extended through to the present avenue and the virtual disregard of the urban qualities proposed at its inception Generously illustrated with an epilogue condensing the avenue's history between the end of World War II and the present this is an exhaustive account of an important topic in the history of modern architecture and city planning Chicago by the Book The Caxton Club, 2018-11-20 Despite its rough and tumble image Chicago has long been identified as a city where books take center stage In fact a volume by A J Liebling gave the Second City its nickname Upton Sinclair's The Jungle arose from the midwestern capital's most infamous industry The great Chicago Fire led to the founding of the Chicago Public Library The city has fostered writers such as Nelson Algren Saul Bellow and Gwendolyn Brooks Chicago's literary magazines The Little Review and Poetry introduced the world to Eliot Hemingway Joyce and Pound The city's robust commercial printing industry supported a flourishing culture of the book With this beautifully produced collection Chicago's rich literary tradition finally gets its due Chicago by the Book profiles 101 landmark publications about Chicago from the past 170 years that have helped define the city and its image Each title carefully selected by the Caxton Club a venerable Chicago bibliophilic organization is the focus of an illustrated essay by a leading scholar writer or bibliophile Arranged chronologically to show the history of both the city and its books the essays can be read in order from Mrs John H Kinzie s 1844 Narrative of the Massacre of Chicago to Sara Paretsky s 2015 crime novel Brush Back Or one can dip in and out savoring reflections on the arts sports crime race relations urban planning politics and even Mrs O Leary s legendary cow The selections do not shy from the underside of the city recognizing that its grit and graft have as much a place in the written imagination as soaring odes and boosterism As Neil Harris observes in his introduction Even when Chicagoans celebrate their hearth and home they do so while acknowledging deep seated flaws At the same time this collection heartily reminds us all of what makes Chicago as Norman Mailer called it the great American city With essays from among others Ira Berkow Thomas Dyja Ann Durkin Keating Alex Kotlowitz Toni Preckwinkle Frank Rich Don Share Carl Smith Regina Taylor Garry Wills and William Julius Wilson and featuring works by Saul Bellow Gwendolyn Brooks Sandra Cisneros Clarence Darrow Erik Larson David Mamet Studs Terkel Ida B Wells Barnett Frank Lloyd Wright and many more

Chicago in Stone and Clay Raymond Wiggers, 2022-09-15 Chicago in Stone and Clay explores the interplay between the city s most architecturally significant sites the materials they re made of and the sediments and bedrock they are anchored in This unique geologist s survey of Windy City neighborhoods demonstrates the fascinating and often surprising links between science art engineering and urban history Drawing on two decades of experience leading popular geology tours in Chicago Raymond Wiggers crafted this book for readers ranging from the region s large community of amateur naturalists citizen scientists and architecture buffs to geologists architects educators and other professionals seeking a new perspective on the themes of architecture and urbanism Unlike most geology and architecture books Chicago in Stone and Clay is written in the informal accessible style of a natural history tour guide humanizing the science for the nonspecialist reader Providing an exciting new angle on both architecture and natural history Wiggers uses an integrative approach that incorporates multiple themes and perspectives to demonstrate how the urban environment presents us with a rich geologic and architectural legacy
