Child Of All Nations:

Child of All Nations Pramodhya Ananta Toer, 1996-05-01 In Child of All Nations the reader is immediately swept up by a story that is profoundly feminist devastatingly anticolonialist and full of heartbreak suspense love and fury Pramodhya immerses the reader in a world that is astonishing in its vividness the cultural whirlpool that was the Dutch East Indies of the 1890s A story of awakening it follows Minke the main character of This Earth of Mankind as he struggles to overcome the injustice all around him Pramodhya's full literary genius is evident in the brilliant characters that populate this world Minke's fragile Mixed Race wife a young Chinese revolutionary an embattled Javanese peasant and his impoverished family the French painter Jean Marais to name just a few

Child of All Nations Irmgard Keun, 2009-01-29 Kully knows some things you don't learn at school She knows the right way to roll a cigarette and pack a suitcase She knows that cars are more dangerous than lions She knows you can't enter a country without a passport or visa And she knows that she and her parents can't go back to Germany again her father's books are banned there But there are also things she doesn't understand like why there might be a war in Europe just that there are men named Hitler Mussolini and Chamberlain involved Little Kully is far more interested where their next meal will come from and the ladies who seem to buzz around her father Meanwhile she and her parents roam through Europe Her mother would just like to settle down but as her restless father struggles to find a new publisher the three must escape from country to country as their visas expire money runs out and hotel bills mount up
