Cinema, Censorship and Sexuality 1909-1925 (Routledge Revivals) Annette Kuhn, 2016-04-06 First published in 1988 This book shows how censorship as a set of institutions practices and discourses was involved in the struggle over the nature of cinema in the early twentieth century It also reveals the part played in this struggle by other institutions practices and discourses for example new knowledge about sexuality and organisations devoted to the promotion of public morality Instead of censorship simply being an act of prohibition by a special institution this work reveals the issues at work were far more complex and contradictory opening up critical scrutiny and challenging assumptions This title will be of interest to students of media and film studies

The German Fifth Column in the Second World War Annette Kuhn, 1988 Originally published in English in 1956 this book is divided into 3 parts the first outlines how after 1933 those outside Germany began to become increasingly afraid of sinister operations on the part of German agents and the partisans of National Socialism The second part examines the role of the German Fifth column during the war and the third part analyses the role of the groups which were living outside Germany at the time Hitler started his assault

Children, Cinema and Censorship Sarah J. Smith, 2005-06-22 Children have long been one of cinema's largest audiences yet from its infancy cinema has in the minds of moral watchdogs accompanied a succession of pastimes and new technologies as catalysts for juvenile delinquency From penny dreadfuls and comic books to television video nasties and computer games and more recently gangsta rap mobile phones and the Internet all have been seen as threats to children's safety health morality and literacy and cinema is no exception Writing with energy and wit and mobilising impressive original research Sarah J Smith explores recurring debates in Britain and America about children and how they use and respond to the media focusing on a key example the controversy and apparent moral panic surrounding children and cinema in its heyday the 1930s She shows how children colonised the cinema and established their own distinct cinema culture And considering films from Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs to Scarface and King Kong she explores attempts to control children's viewing the underlying ideas that supported these approaches and the extent to which they were successful Revealing the ways in which children subverted or circumvented official censorship including the Hays Code and the British Board of Film Censors she develops a challenging new proposition that children were agents in the regulation of their own viewing not simply passive consumers

Sex Before the Sexual Revolution Simon Szreter, Kate Fisher, 2010-10-14 What did sex mean for ordinary people before the sexual revolution of the 1960s and 1970s who were often pitied by later generations as repressed unfulfilled and full of moral anxiety This book provides the first rounded first hand account of sexuality in marriage in the early and mid twentieth century These award winning authors look beyond conventions of silence among the respectable majority to challenge stereotypes of ignorance and inhibition Based on vivid compelling and frank testimonies from a socially and geographically diverse range of individuals the book explores a spectrum of sexual experiences from learning about sex and sexual practices in courtship to attitudes to the body marital ideals and birth control It demonstrates that while the era s emphasis on silence and strict moral codes could for some be a source of inhibition and dissatisfaction for many the culture of privacy and innocence was central to fulfilling and pleasurable intimate lives

Cinemas of the World James Chapman,2004-06-03 The cinema has been the pre eminent popular art form of the 20th century In Cinemas of the World James Chapman examines the relationship between film and society in the modern world film as entertainment medium film as a reflection of national cultures and preoccupations film as an instrument of propaganda He also explores two interrelated issues that have recurred throughout the history of cinema the economic and cultural hegemony of Hollywood on the one hand and on the other the attempts of film makers elsewhere to establish indigenous national cinemas drawing on their own cultures and societies Chapman examines the rise to dominance of Hollywood cinema in the silent and early sound periods He discusses the characteristic themes of American movies from the Depression to the end of the Cold War especially those found in the western and film noir genres that are often used as vehicles for exploring issues central to us society and politics He looks at national cinemas in various European countries in the period between the end of the First World War and the end of the Second which all exhibit the formal and aesthetic properties of modernism The emergence of the so called new cinemas of Europe and the wider world since 1960 are also explored Chapman is a tough thinking original writer an engaging excellent piece of work David Lancaster Film and History

Moral Atmospheres Timothy P. A. Cooper, 2024-03-12 Lahore s Hall Road is the largest electronics market in Pakistan Once the center of film and media piracy in South Asia it now specializes in smartphones and accessories For Hall Road s traders conflicts between the economic promises and the moral dangers of film loom large To reconcile their secular trade with their responsibilities as devoted Muslims they often look to adjudicate the good or bad moral atmosphere mahaul that can cling to film and media Timothy P A Cooper examines the diverse and coexisting moral atmospheres that surround media in Pakistan tracing public understandings of ethical life and showing how they influence economic behavior Drawing on extensive ethnographic work among traders consumers collectors archivists cinephiles and cinephobes Moral Atmospheres explores varied views on what the relationship between film and faith should look sound and feel like for Pakistan s Muslim majority public Cooper considers the preservation and censorship of film in and outside of the state bureaucracy contestations surrounding heritage and urban infrastructure and the production and circulation of sound and video recordings among the country s religious minorities He argues that a focus on atmosphere provides ways of seeing moral thresholds as mutable and affective rather than as fixed ethical standpoints At once a vivid ethnography of a market street and a generative theorization of atmosphere this book offers fresh perspectives on moral experience and the relationship between religion and media

Saturday Morning Censors Heather Hendershot, 1998 On television and censorship

renewal to develop high value housing markets in place of so called failing markets of low cost housing The Hidden Cinema Dr James C Robertson, James Robertson, 2005-08-02 How does film censorship work in Britain Robertson examines the history of the British Board of Film Censors and shows that censorship has had a greater influence on film history than is often assumed Edited Clean Version Raiford Guins, 2008-12-31 According to Guins these new control technologies are designed to embody an ethos of neoliberal governance through the very media that have been previously presumed to warrant management legislation and policing Repositioned within a discourse of empowerment security and choice the action of regulation he reveals has been relocated into the hands of users BOOK JACKET Screening the Police Noah Tsika, 2021-07-28 American police departments have presided over the business of motion pictures since the end of the nineteenth century Their influence is evident not only on the screen but also in the ways movies are made promoted and viewed in the United States Screening the Police explores the history of film s entwinement with law enforcement showing the role that state power has played in the creation and expansion of a popular medium For the New Jersey State Police in the 1930s film offered a method of visualizing criminality and of circulating urgent information about escaped convicts For the New York Police Department the medium was a means of making the agency world famous as early as 1896 Beat cops became movie stars Police chiefs made their own documentaries And from Maine to California state and local law enforcement agencies regularly fingerprinted filmgoers for decades amassing enormous records as they infiltrated theatres both big and small As author Noah Tsika demonstrates understanding the scope of police power in the United States requires attention to an aspect of film history that has long been ignored Screening the Police reveals the extent to which American cinema has overlapped with the politics and practices of law enforcement Formations of Class & Gender Beverley Skeggs, 1997-07-21 Explanations of how identities are constructed are fundamental to contemporary debates in feminism and in cultural and social theory Formations of Class Gender demonstrates why class should be featured more prominently in theoretical accounts of gender identity and power Beverley Skeggs identifies the neglect of class and shows how class and gender must be fused together to produce an accurate representation of power relations in modern society The book questions how theoretical frameworks are generated for understanding how women live and produce themselves through social and cultural relations It uses detailed ethnographic research to explain how real women inhabit and occupy the social and cultural posit Speaking in Subtitles Tessa Dwyer, 2017-05-18 Over 6000 different languages are used in the world today but the conventions of media speak are far from universal and the complexities of translation are rarely acknowledged by the industry audiences or scholars Redressing this neglect Speaking in Subtitles argues that the specific contingencies of translation are vital to screen media s global storytelling Looking at a range of examples from silent era intertitling to contemporary crowdsourced subtitling and from avant garde dubbing to the increasing practice of fansubbing Tessa Dwyer proposes that screen media itself is a fundamentally translational field The Pleasures of Horror Matt Hills, 2005-06-20

Pleasures of Horror is a stimulating and insightful exploration of horror fictions literary cinematic and televisual and the emotions they engender in their audiences The text is divided into three sections The first examines how horror is valued and devalued in different cultural fields the second investigates the cultural politics of the contemporary horror film while the final part considers horror fandom in relation to its embodied practices film festivals its reading formations commercial fan magazines and fanzines and the role of special effects Pleasures of Horror combines a wide range of media and textual examples with highly detailed and closely focused exposition of theory It is a fascinating and engaging look at responses to a hugely popular genre and an invaluable resource for students of media cultural and film studies and fans of horror

Wanted Cultured Ladies Only! Neepa Majumdar, 2010-10-01 Wanted Cultured Ladies Only maps out the early culture of cinema stardom in India from its emergence in the silent era to the decade after Indian independence in the mid twentieth century Neepa Majumdar combines readings of specific films and stars with an analysis of the historical and cultural configurations that gave rise to distinctly Indian notions of celebrity She argues that discussions of early cinematic stardom in India must be placed in the context of the general legitimizing discourse of colonial improvement that marked other civic and cultural spheres as well and that vernacular modernist anxieties over the New Woman had limited resonance here Rather it was through emphatically nationalist discourses that Indian cinema found its model for modern female identities Considering questions of spectatorship gossip popularity and the dominance of a star based production system Majumdar details the rise of film stars such as Sulochana Fearless Nadia Lata Mangeshkar and Nargis The Politics of Sex Barbara Sullivan, 1997-09-07 This political history of the sex industry in Australia since World War II cogently presents all sides of a complex and changing debate Don't Mention the War David Miller, 1994-10-20 The media has told us for over twenty five years that the conflict in Northern Ireland is irrational and has no objective social basis The role of the British Army in Northern Ireland is still described as a peacekeeping one the cause of the troubles as terrorism Yet even in the light of the peace initiatives many people in Britain and abroad know little about the war that has not been called a war Why is this so Don t Mention the War explains some of the fundamental reasons why there is such a dearth of knowledge and concern about Northern Ireland and how the problem has been defined both publicly and politically Miller argues that the central strategy of the British state since 1969 has been to contain the troubles and bring about a return to normal In pursuing this argument Miller examines the strategies and tactics used by the British government the nationalists the unionists and others to influence perceptions and ideas about the conflict through press statements and other information management activities This is a unique and timely work based on over 100 interviews with journalists government officials political activists and politicians which lays bare the lies of the propagandists and paints a disturbing picture of the success of the media managers in manipulating our perception of the conflict in Northern Ireland
