Marginality and Modernity Mauro Giardiello,2017-07-05 This book traces the major stages in the evolution of the sociological concept of marginality highlighting in particular the contribution made by Gino Germani Its purpose is to analyse starting with the sociological theory of the early 1960s the progressive maturation of the scientific status of the concept of marginality and to test the theoretical premise that gave rise to Germani s theory of marginality The author begins by examining the contribution of the Chicago School He explores the complex relationship between the theory of marginality and modernization by analysing North American theses and the criticisms mainly generated in Latin America The goal is to reconstruct Germani s theoretical model of marginality addressing its application to contemporary social and economic conditions Giardiello s analysis is intertwined with two themes that are central to Germani s thought about marginality The first concerns the origin of the concept of social exclusion within sociological thought The second shows how marginality is clearly a phenomenology connected to the contradictions of modernity

Germani's paradigm of marginality enables the social scientist to resolve the contradictions between the analytical perspectives that deal with marginality in an objective way and the one that observes it subjectively Senses in Cities Kelvin Low, Devorah Kalekin-Fishman, 2017-10-05 Urban landscapes are usually thought of first and foremost as engineered formations designed for functionality. It is quite clear, however, that cities and towns are sites of social structure, scenes of diversity and hotbeds of transgressions. They are also sources of satisfying social relationships, settings for actions negotiated on an everyday basis and opportunities for kinesthetic and aesthetic experiences. Within these processes, the senses mediate engagement with the optimism of urban growth, the comfort of urban traditions and a consciousness of the diverse relationships that embellish urban living but also with the repellent sights and sounds that invade zones of comfort. This book examines how qualities of place and their sensuous reorganisation elucidate particular sociocultural expressions and practices in urban life. The collection illuminates how urban environments are distinguished, valued or reconfigured with the senses as media for evaluating authentic spaces and places that endure and change over time Smart Cities and Connected Intelligence Nicos Komninos, 2019-12-05 Internet and World Wide Web platforms, big data analytics software, social media and civic technologies allow for the creation of smart ecosystems in which connected intelligence emerges and disruptive social and eco-innovation flourishes. This book focuses on three grand challenges that matter for any territory, no matter where it is located: i) smart growth, a path that more and more cities, regions and countries are adopting, having realised the unlimited potential of growth that is based on knowledge innovation and digital technologies; ii) safety and security, which is a pre-requisite for quality of life in a world of intense social, natural and technological threats; and iii) sustainability, use of renewable energy, protection of living ecosystems, addressing climate change and global warming in a period of rapid urbanisation that makes established sustainability models and planning patterns quickly obsolete. The core argument of the book is that problem-solving and novel solutions to these grand challenges emerge in smart ecosystems through connected intelligence. It is the broadest form of intelligence that combines capabilities from heterogeneous actors: humans, organisations, machines, and propel problem-solving through externalities and resource agglomeration, user engagement and collaboration, awareness and behaviour change. This book will be of interest to students and researchers of urban and regional studies, innovation studies, economic geography and urban planning, as well as urban policy makers.

London's Urban Landscape Christopher Tilley, 2019-05-07 London's Urban Landscape is the first major study of a global city to adopt a materialist perspective and stress the significance of place and the built environment to the urban landscape. Edited by Christopher Tilley, the volume is inspired by phenomenological thinking and presents fine-grained ethnographies of the practices of everyday life in London. In doing so, it charts a unique perspective on the city that integrates ethnographies of daily life with an analysis of material culture. The first part of the volume considers the residential sphere of urban life, discussing in detailed case studies ordinary residential streets, housing estates, suburbia and London's mobile linear village of houseboats The second part analyses the public sphere including ethnographies of markets a park the social rhythms of a taxi rank and graffiti and street art London's Urban Landscape returns us to the everyday lives of people and the manner in which they understand their lives The deeply sensuous character of the embodied experience of the city is invoked in the thick descriptions of entangled relationships between people and places and the paths of movement between them What stories do door bells and house facades tell us about contemporary life in a Victorian terrace How do antiques acquire value and significance in a market How does living in a concrete megastructure relate to the lives of the people who dwell there These and a host of other questions are addressed in this fascinating book that will appeal widely to all readers interested in London or contemporary urban life Handbook of Critical Environmental Politics Pellizzoni, Luigi, Leonardi, Emanuele, Asara, Viviana, 2022-10-20 This timely Handbook offers a comprehensive outlook on global environmental politics providing readers with an up to date view of a field of ever increasing academic and public significance Its critical perspective interrogates what is taken for granted in current institutions and social and power relations highlighting the issues preventing meaningful change in the relationship between human societies and their biophysical underpinnings This title contains one or more Open Access chapters Destination London Andrew Smith, Anne Graham, 2019-05-21 London is one of the world's most popular destinations and visitors contribute approximately 14.9 billion of expenditure to the city every year Its tourism and events sectors are growing and over the last few years London has received more visitors than ever before However detailed accounts of the city's visitor economy are conspicuously absent This book analyses how the capital is developing as a destination through the expansion of tourism and events into new urban spaces The book outlines how parts of London not previously regarded as tourist territory are now subject to the visitor gaze with tourism spreading beyond established central zones into peripheral suburban and residential areas in part propelled by a big rise in peer to peer accommodation use Simultaneously London's airports and sports stadiums and their surrounds are becoming destinations in their own right New vantage points have been created allowing tourists to explore the city from above at night time or through tours given by the homeless via the opening up of the River Thames or through the transformation of local parks into eventsapes The book explores these trends and shows how urban destinations expand In doing so it enhances our understanding of London and highlights the growing significance of tourism and events in global cities The New Urban Aesthetic Mónica Montserrat Degen, Gillian Rose, 2022-01-27 Shortlisted for the Jane Jacobs Urban Communication Book Award 2023 The New Urban Aesthetic explores how cities worldwide are being transformed and reconfigured by the twin forces of digital technologies and urban branding in the name of global capitalism Both of these shifts entrain new sensory bodily experiences and this digitally mediated reconfiguration of what cities feel like is what this book terms the new urban aesthetic Focussing on major case studies of urban change from London to Doha the book explores how different kinds of digital mediation play a central role in urban transformation from smart city phone apps to social media interactions to computer generated visualisations The book reveals how different versions of the new urban aesthetic organize different sensory experiences of temporality and spatiality leading to a new understanding of the way we experience cities today The New Urban Aesthetic is essential reading for researchers and students in urban studies architecture digital studies sociology and human geography Sociology for Education Studies Catherine A. Simon, Graham Downes, 2020-02-05 Sociology for Education Studies provides a fresh look at the sociology of education focusing on themes such as habitus hegemony and intersectionality It supports students in applying sociological theory to their own educational experiences and developing an understanding of why social orders appear to be predetermined why the state continues to create education policy in certain forms and crucially how to make it better The book explores the multi faceted perspectives that influence the sociology of education and presents examples of the applications of sociology to a wide variety of different educational contexts including education in schools and in the community Chapters cover topics such as Morality education and social order Spaces of invisibility and marginalisation in schools The global political economy of education Rethinking the international perspective in Education Studies This accessible book is an essential read for students of Education Studies as well as those involved in teacher education and training The Sensory Studies Manifesto David Howes, 2022-08-31 The senses are made not given This revolutionary realization has come as of late to inform research across the social sciences and humanities and is currently inspiring groundbreaking experimentation in the world of art and design where the focus is now on mixing and manipulating the senses The Sensory Studies Manifesto tracks these transformations and opens multiple lines of investigation into the diverse ways in which human beings sense and make sense of the world This unique volume treats the human sensorium as a dynamic whole that is best approached from historical anthropological geographic and sociological perspectives In doing so it has altered our understanding of sense perception by directing attention to the sociality of sensation and the cultural mediation of sense experience and expression David Howes challenges the assumptions of mainstream Western psychology by foregrounding the agency interactivity creativity and wisdom of the senses as shaped by culture The Sensory Studies Manifesto sets the stage for a radical reorientation of research in the human sciences and artistic practice Dynamics Of Mediatization Olivier Driessens, Göran Bolin, Andreas Hepp, Stig Hjarvard, 2017-11-30 This volume sheds light on the underlying dynamics of mediatization disentangling the actual unfolding of mediatization processes The wide adoption and deep embedding of digital media and technology brings new questions to mediatization studies how can we grasp this deep mediatization In which way should we develop existing approaches of mediatization to analyse such dynamics What are the consequences of this for theorising and empirically studying mediatization By using these questions as a starting point this book presents an innovative and original collection that is dedicated to both the underlying dynamics of mediatization and recent dynamics related to digital media The Routledge Companion to Urban Media and Communication Zlatan Krajina, Deborah Stevenson, 2019-09-23 The Routledge Companion to Urban Media and Communication traces central debates within the burgeoning interdisciplinary research on mediated cities and urban communication. The volume brings together diverse perspectives and global case studies to map key areas of research within media, cultural and urban studies where a joint focus on communications and cities has made important innovations in how we understand urban space, technology, identity and community. Exploring the rise and growing complexity of urban media and communication as the next key theme for both urban and media studies, the book gathers and reviews fast developing knowledge on specific emergent phenomena such as reading the city as symbol and text, understanding urban infrastructures as media and vice versa, the rise of global cities, urban and suburban media cultures, newspapers, cinema, radio, television and the mobile phone, changing spaces and practices of urban consumption, the mediation of the neighbourhood, community and diaspora, the centrality of culture to urban regeneration, communicative responses to urban crises such as racism, poverty and pollution, the role of street art in the negotiation of the right to the city, city competition and urban branding, outdoor advertising, moving image, architecture, smart cyber urbanism, the emergence of Media City, production spaces and clusters. Charting key debates and neglected connections between cities and media, this book challenges what we know about contemporary urban living and introduces innovative frameworks for understanding cities, media and their futures. As such, it will be an essential resource for students and scholars of media and communication studies, urban communication, urban sociology, urban planning and design, architecture, visual cultures, urban geography, art history, politics, cultural studies, anthropology and cultural policy studies, as well as those working with governmental agencies, cultural foundations and institutes and policy think tanks.

Food, Senses and the City Ferne Edwards, Roos Gerritsen, Grit Wesser, 2021-03-23 This work explores diverse cultural understandings of food practices in cities through the senses, drawing on case studies in the Americas, Asia, Australia and Europe. The volume includes the senses within the popular field of urban food studies to explore new understandings of how people live in cities and how we can understand cities through food. It reveals how the senses can provide unique insight into how the city and its dwellers are being reshaped and understood. Recognising cities as diverse and dynamic places, the book provides a wide range of case studies from food production to preparation and mediatisation through to consumption. These relationships are interrogated through themes of belonging and homemaking to discuss how food, memory and materiality connect and disrupt past, present and future imaginaries. As cities become larger, busier and more crowded, this volume contributes to actual and potential ways that the senses can generate new understandings of how people live together in cities. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical food studies, urban studies and socio-cultural anthropology.

Food and Multiculture Alex Rhys-Taylor, 2020-05-12 In this book, Alex Rhys-Taylor offers a ground-breaking sensory ethnography of East London. Drawing on the multicultural context of London, one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world, he explores concepts such as gentrification, class antagonism, new ethnicities and globalization. Rhys-Taylor shows how London is characterized by its rich history of socioeconomic change and multiculturalism.

exploring how its smells and food are integral to understanding both its history and the reality of London's urban present. From the fiery chillies sold by street grocers which are linked to years of cultural exchange through cuisines of origin like jellied eels to hybridized dishes such as the chicken katsu wrap, sensory experiences are key to understanding the complex cultural genealogies of the city and its social life. Each of the eight chapters combines micro histories of ingredients such as fried chicken, bush meat and curry sauce, featuring narratives from individuals that provide a unique, engaging account of the evolution of taste and culture through time and space. With its innovative methodology, this is a highly original contribution to the fields of sensory studies, food studies, urban studies and cultural studies.
