The Cambridge Companion to Contemporary African American Literature Yogita Goyal, 2023-12-21 African American literature has changed in startling ways since the end of the Black Arts Era. The last five decades have generated new paradigms of racial formation and novel patterns of cultural production, circulation, and reception. This volume takes up the challenge of mapping the varied and changing field of contemporary African American writing. Balancing the demands of historical and political context with attention to aesthetic innovation, it considers the history, practice, and future directions of the field. Examining various historical forces shaping the creation of innovative genres, the turn to the afterlife of slavery, the pull toward protest, and the impact of new and expanded geographies and methods, this Companion provides an invaluable point of reference for readers seeking rigorous and cutting-edge analyses of contemporary African American literature.

Forms of a World Walt

Hunter, 2019-01-08 What happens when we think of poetry as a global literary form while also thinking the global in poetic terms? Forms of a World shows how the innovations of contemporary poetics have been forged through the transformations of globalization across five decades. Sensing the changes wrought by neoliberalism before they are made fully present, poets from around the world have creatively intervened in global processes by remaking poetry's formal repertoire. In experimental reinventions of the ballad, the prospect poem, and the ode, Hunter excavates a new globalized interpretation of the ethical and political relevance of forms. Forms of a World contends that poetry's role is not only to make visible thematically the violence of global dispossession, but to renew performatively the missing conditions for intervening within these processes. Poetic acts the rhetoric of possessing, belonging, exhorting, and prospecting, addressing contemporary conditions that render social life ever more precarious. Examining an eclectic group of Anglophone poets from Seamus Heaney and Claudia Rankine to Natasha Trethewey and Kofi Awoonor, Hunter elaborates the range of ways that contemporary poets exhort us to imagine forms of social life and enable political intervention unique to, but beyond, the horizon of the contemporary global situation.

The Public Mind and the Politics of Postmillennial U.S.-American Writing Jolene Mathieson, Marius

Henderson, Julia Lange, 2022-08-22 In the last twenty years, how has U.S. American writing and the reading public responded to the complexity of an American culture resolutely situated in a larger, highly politicized, globalized world undergoing radical change? The 20th-century modes of realism and postmodernism have been succeeded by writerly practices that are that are invested in the idea of embodied authenticity and that are relatable to neorealism, whether it be via outright affirmation or critical experimentation and appropriation. The individual case studies mark the ways in which postmillennial U.S. American writing is marked by an ongoing awareness toward complexity and the entanglement of writers and the reading public with pressing political concerns and at times oppressive social and economic discursive and structural formations. These contributions further attest to how narrative and structural complexity grammatical and lexical sophistication and social nuance endure as the main literary modes of confronting 21st century political life This volume is thus of interest for both the study of U S American political culture and U S American literature
