Not a Simple Story Sharon M. Green, 2001-10-01 Not a Simple Story presents the modern Hebrew writer Shmuel Yosef Agnon in a new light as an artist cum thinker whose novels and short stories manifest a deep understanding of the social and political crisis at the heart of modern Jewish life Based on a close reading of Agnon's seminal novel A Simple Story the book argues that Agnon was essentially a Jewish nationalist and secular modernist whose critical portrait of modern Jewish life seeks not to demean Jews but to hold them to a higher standard By demonstrating all that Jewish society lacks Agnon implicitly shows what it needs for it to thrive a return to such lost notions as Jewish self respect heroism and romantic love Sharon Green's scholarly critique of this modern Hebrew classic offers students of Jewish studies a unique opportunity to penetrate the literary enigma Agnon has represented for almost a century

fiction just as an architect would design a house with an eye for details and how all parts of a story or novel interconnect Even with the most dynamic language images and characters no piece of fiction will work without a strong infrastructure Kercheval shows how to build that structure using such tools as point of view characterization pacing and flashbacks Building Fiction will help you envision the landscape of your fiction and build great stories there Tricks of the Writer's Trade Rick Vanes,2011-11-17 From basic story structure through to advanced scriptwriting the techniques used by professional writers and journalists are explained in a simple straightforward and highly entertaining fashion Connecting Brain Research with Effective Teaching Mariale Melanson Hardiman,2003 Offers educators practical use of recent brain research through the Brain Targeted Teaching model an instructional framework that guides teachers in the planning implementation and assessment of a program of instruction The Internet and Instruction Ann E. of time space relationality towards historical events and their narration The book engages with studies of historical writing to discuss materiality in the built environment as a form of literary practice to express marginalised dimensions of social experience in a range of historical contexts It then moves on to reflect on England s nineteenth century industrialization from an architectural topographical perspective challenging theories of space and architecture to examine the complex role of industrial cities in mediating social changes in the practice of everyday life By demonstrating how the authenticity of historical accounts rests on materially emplaced narratives Griffiths makes the case for the emancipatory possibilities of historical writing He calls for a re evaluation of historical epistemology as a primarily socio scientific or literary enquiry and instead proposes a specifically architectural time space figuration of historical events to rethink and refresh the relationship of the urban past to its present and future Written for postgraduate students researchers and academics in architectural theory and urban studies Griffiths draws on the space syntax tradition of research to explore how contingencies of movement and encounter construct the historical imagination
