Vucelic,J.F.

Colombel,C. Gasche,J. Schölmerich,2004-12-09 The amount of information on the pathogenesis of inflammatory bowel disease is growing rapidly This is reflected by a continuous increase in the number of papers presented at international GI meetings To make things more difficult for practicing physicians there is also a large number of new clinical trials being published which require periodical critical reviews and recommendations Faced with these issues the scientific committee of the Falk Symposium No 140 decided to take a different approach and to apply a novel format that is reflected in the title of the Symposium Translation from basic research to clinical practice This book contains the proceedings of that Symposium held in Dubrovnik Croatia on May 7 8 2004 The sections are designed so that they start with the information from basic sciences on different aspects of these complex diseases and further lead to their clinical implications Special attention is paid to the mechanisms of actions of established drugs The last two sections are clinically oriented and focus on the most difficult aspects of both Crohn s disease and ulcerative colitis This format provides state of the art chapters by leading experts in the field and at the same time up to date information on the clinical application of the new knowledge Opportunities and Challenges of Interprofessional Collaboration and Education, volume II Jill Thistlethwaite,Martina Müller-Schilling, Anthony Paul Breitbach,John Humphrey Victor Gilbert ,Ciraj Ali Mohammed,Sophie Schlosser,2025-04-30 Following the success of Opportunities and Challenges of Interprofessional Collaboration and Education we are pleased to present Volume II of this collection Interprofessional collaboration is essential in meeting today s health challenges which demand high flexibility and innovation Many health organizations including the World Health Organization WHO demand that interprofessional collaboration should be taught and learned globally Even so interprofessional education tools have not yet been widely implemented in the curricula of medical professions incl physicians nurses pharmacists physiotherapists etc this training usually takes place separately Collaboration is necessary in health professions education as it can allow professionals to increase their skills and help them achieve more than they would at an individual level Collaboration also allows for more open minded approaches when facing new ways of thinking When knowledge is shared healthcare employees are more encouraged to share their own ideas and concerns These achievements of interprofessionalism within health profession education not only benefit the student and employee but also optimize patient care and increase patient safety Productivity can also be increased and therefore reduce costs overall
