Challenging Capacity Building Comparative Perspectives Rethinking International Development Series:

Challenging Capacity Building S. Kenny, M. Clarke, 2010-06-30 Interrogates the idea of capacity building theoretically and explores the variety of meanings constructions and practices of capacity building This book examines capacity building in both developing and developed countries and takes the position that fragile communities are present in all societies

Development in Difficult Sociopolitical Contexts A. Ware, 2016-04-30 This edited volume explores development in the so called fragile failed and pariah states It examines the literature on both fragile states and their development and offers eleven case studies on countries ranking in the very high alert and very high warning categories in the Fund for Peace Failed States Index

International Development and Local Faith Actors Kathryn Kraft, Olivia J. Wilkinson, 2020-03-17 This book explores the interplay and dialogue between faith communities and the humanitarian development community Faith and religion are key influencers of thought and practice in many communities around the world and development practitioners would not be able to change behaviours for improved health and social relations without the understanding and influence of those with authority in communities such as religious leaders Equally religious leaders feel responsibilities to their communities but do not necessarily have the technical knowledge and resources at hand to provide the information or services needed to promote the well being of all in their scope of influence The book demonstrates that partnerships between humanitarian development practitioners and religious communities can be mutually beneficial exchanges but that there are also frequently pitfalls along the way and opportunities for lessons to be learned by each party Delving into how humanitarians and faith communities engage with one another the book focuses on building knowledge about how they interact as peers with different yet complementary roles in community development The authors draw on the Channels of Hope methodology a tool which seeks to engage faith leaders in addressing social norms and enact social change as well as other related research in the sector to demonstrate the many ways in which humanitarian and development policy makers and practitioners could achieve more systematic engagement with faith groups This book is an important contribution to the growing body of literature on faith and development and will be useful both to researchers and to practitioners working with faith communities

Chronic Poverty A. Shepherd, J. Brunt, 2013-05-30 Based on a decade of research by the Chronic Poverty Research Centre this volume includes material on inter generational transmission the importance of assets and vulnerability and conflict and new thinking about the close relationship between social exclusion and adverse incorporation

Migration and Social Protection Rachel Sabates-Wheeler, Rayah Feldman, 2011-03-01 The growing scale of international migration has reshaped the debate on the social rights and social protection available to people outside their countries of origin This book uses conceptual frameworks policy analysis and empirical studies of migrants to explore international migrants needs for and access to social protection across the world

Mia Mia Aboriginal Community Development Cheryl Kickett-Tucker, 2016-10-24 Until recently Aboriginal people have been subjected to mainly top down development which has proven damaging to communities. Mia Mia Aboriginal Community Development offers an alternative to such approaches promoting cultural security in order to empower Aboriginal people to strengthen their own communities. The authors take a multidisciplinary approach to the topics of Aboriginal community development, Aboriginal history, cultural security and community studies. This book includes chapters examining historical and contemporary Aboriginal conceptions of community development and the effects of post structuralism, post modernism, globalisation and digital technology. As well as a comprehensive analysis of community development in Aboriginal communities, it presents practical strategies and tools for improvement. Each chapter includes practical case studies and review exercises encouraging active learning and reflection. A valuable resource for tertiary education students, this book features contributions from some of Australia's most eminent Aboriginal scholars, Elders and Aboriginal community members alongside contributions from community development practitioners.

Adaptation, Poverty and Development D. Clark, 2012-04-05. The first book to examine in detail the ways in which people adapt their understanding and behaviours towards poverty as a direct result to their experiences of poverty in developing countries, including world leading academics and case studies from China, India, Ethiopia and South Africa.

Africa Toward 2030 E. Lundsgaarde, 2011-11-11. Combining studies of demography, climate change, technology and innovation, political development, new actors in international development and global governance frameworks, this book highlights the major underlying determinants of change in the African context and key uncertainties about the continent's future development prospects.

Social Movements in the Global South S. Motta, A. Gunvald Nilsen, 2011-03-29. Popular struggles in the global south suggest the need for the development of new and politically enabling categories of analysis and new ways of understanding contemporary social movements. This book shows how social movements in Africa, South Asia, Latin America and the Middle East politicize development in an age of neoliberal hegemony.

International Migration, Development and Human Wellbeing Katie Wright, 2012-10-26. Katie Wright explores how human wellbeing is constructed and how it travels across spatial boundaries. She draws on empirical research undertaken with Peruvian migrants based in London and Madrid and their Peru-based relatives and close friends to explore how human wellbeing is constructed and how it travels transnationally.

The Securitization of Foreign Aid Stephen Brown, Jörn Grävingholt, 2016-02-17. Security concerns increasingly influence foreign aid: how Western countries give aid to whom and why. With contributions from experts in the field, this book examines the impact of security issues on six of the world's largest aid donors as well as on key crosscutting issues such as gender equality and climate change.

Development Challenges and Solutions After the Arab Spring Ali Kadri, 2016-01-26. Since the events of 2011, most Arab countries have slipped into a state of war and living conditions for the majority of the working population have not changed for the better. This edited collection examines the socioeconomic conditions and contests the received policy framework to demonstrate that workable alternatives do exist.

Cash Transfers and Basic Social Protection Moritz von Gliszczynski, 2015-05-26. Cash Transfers and Basic Social Protection offers a ground breaking analysis of the discourses that facilitated the rise of cash transfers as instruments of development policy since the 1990s The author gives a detailed overview of the history of social protection and identifies the factors that made cash transfers legitimate policy

Capacity-Building and the Water-Energy-Food Nexus Maureen Papas,2023-12-22 This book critically explores how the water energy food nexus can be used as an organising framework to address environmental degradation and promote sustainable development Building effective and sustainable mechanisms to tackle environmental problems requires in depth understanding of relationships between natural resources going beyond conventional policy and siloed decision making The water energy food nexus has been promoted as a conceptual framework and management tool to facilitate integrated planning and practical linkages to support sustainable development The author opens this book with an overview of capacity building and reviews the significance of the water energy food nexus bringing in links to the 2030 Agenda Climate change is highlighted as a key consideration in any conversation about natural resource use and case studies from Japan India and China are utilised to show that whilst long term sustainable development practices are being implemented the environmental challenges across the region raise concerns about institutional capacity economic sustainability and future of the region Finally through the lens of capacity building the book suggests that whilst the water energy food nexus may provide a new approach to sustainable development it will not be enough to achieve long term sustainability or extend to the lives of those most affected This section is unchanged This book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners working in the water energy agriculture sectors and keen to adopt a transdisciplinary approach to public policy comparative politics and international relations It will also be a valuable resource to those working in governmental organisations and NGOs involved in capacity building and development      Public Sector Reforms in Developing Countries Charles Conteh,Ahmed Shafiquel

Huque,2014-04-03 The underpinning assumption of public management in the developing world as a process of planned change is increasingly being recognized as unrealistic In reality the practice of development management is characterized by processes of mutual adjustment among individuals agencies and interest groups that can constrain behaviour as well as provide incentives for collaborative action Paradoxes inevitably emerge in policy network practice and design The ability to manage government departments and operations has become less important than the ability to navigate the complex world of interconnected policy implementation processes Public sector reform policies and programmes as a consequence are a study in the complexities of the institutional and environmental context in which these reforms are pursued Building on theory and practice this book argues that advancing the theoretical frontlines of development management research and practice can benefit from developing models based on innovation collaboration and governance The themes addressed in Public Sector Reforms in Developing Countries will enable public managers in developing countries cope in uncertain and turbulent environments as they seek optimal fits between their institutional goals and environmental contingencies      Routledge

Handbook of Public Policy in the Global South Gedion Onyango,Ishtiaq Jamil,2025-06-30 This important new handbook provides a comprehensive assessment of contemporary public policy and governance in the Global South It offers incisive comparative analyses and presents policy specific case studies from across Asia Latin America Middle East and Africa The aim is to inform future governance research policy and practice in these regions This book is timely as it responds to how governments in the Global South are dealing with recent complex series of challenges and crises of the 21st Century These range from the pressures of a global pandemic to the impacts of climate change democratic backsliding deteriorating public services and the realignments in the international political economy following the rise of China In doing so it reflects on the political transformations global convergences and underlying regional as well as national trajectories that have taken place recently focusing on among others Democratic governance and institutional trust Public service delivery motivation and governance outcomes Policy crises disaster management and climate change Policy successes and failures Policy innovations digitalisation and policy research in the Global South Different authors bring together varied and specialised perspectives and experiences which are important for researchers practitioners and policymakers wishing to understand emerging governance models innovations and challenges within the Global South

Resilience, Conflict-Related Sexual Violence and Transitional Justice Janine Natalya Clark, 2022-10-18 This interdisciplinary book constitutes the first major and comparative study of resilience focused on victims survivors of conflict related sexual violence CRSV Locating resilience in the relationships and interactions between individuals and their social ecologies including family community non governmental organisations and the natural environment the book develops its own conceptual framework based on the idea of connectivity It applies the framework to its analysis of rich empirical data from Bosnia Herzegovina Colombia and Uganda and it tells a set of stories about resilience through the contextual dynamic and storied connectivities between individuals and their social ecologies Ultimately it utilises the three elements of the framework namely broken and ruptured connectivities supportive and sustaining connectivities and new connectivities to argue the case for developing the field of transitional justice in new social ecological directions and to explore what this might conceptually and practically entail The book will particularly appeal to anyone with an interest in or curiosity about resilience and to scholars researchers and policy makers working on CRSV and or transitional justice The fact that resilience has received surprisingly little attention within existing literature on either CRSV or transitional justice accentuates the significance of this research and the originality of its conceptual and empirical contributions The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
