Gdoutos,C.A. Rodopoulos,J.R. Yates,2013-06-29 On Fracture Mechanics A major objective of engineering design is the determination of the geometry and dimensions of machine or structural elements and the selection of material in such a way that the elements perform their operating function in an efficient safe and economic manner For this reason the results of stress analysis are coupled with an appropriate failure criterion Traditional failure criteria based on maximum stress strain or energy density cannot adequately explain many structural failures that occurred at stress levels considerably lower than the ultimate strength of the material On the other hand experiments performed by Griffith in 1921 on glass fibers led to the conclusion that the strength of real materials is much smaller typically by two orders of magnitude than the theoretical strength The discipline of fracture mechanics has been created in an effort to explain these phenomena It is based on the realistic assumption that all materials contain crack like defects from which failure initiates Defects can exist in a material due to its composition as second phase particles debonds in composites etc they can be introduced into a structure during fabrication as welds or can be created during the service life of a component like fatigue environment assisted or creep cracks Fracture mechanics studies the loading bearing capacity of structures in the presence of initial defects A dominant crack is usually assumed to exist      Real Functions in One Variable - Complex... ,      Selected Topics in the Classical Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable Maurice Heins,2015-01-14 Elegant and concise this text explores properties of meromorphic functions Picard theorem harmonic and subharmonic functions applications and boundary behavior of the Riemann mapping function for simply connected Jordan regions 1962 edition      Matrix-geometric Solutions in Stochastic Models Marcel F.
