Little Things for Little Insects

One misty morning, Chloe and Joey were looking around their backyard. They were sitting on the grass. Joey saw a rock with little plants on it. "Look at that mossy green rock!" Joey cried. "That is not a rock," Chloe said. "It's a dinner table for snails." A snail inched over to the rock to munch on the plants. Next, Joey saw a leaf. "Look at that pretty yellow leaf!" Joey cried. "That is not a leaf," Chloe said. "It's a blanket for beetles." A beetle crawled under the warm leaf. Then, Joey saw a flower. "Look at that red flower!" Joey cried. "That is not a flower," Chloe said. "It's a shower for worms." A worm played in the water under the flower as dewdrops dripped from the petals. "Look at that wild mushroom!" Joey cried. "That is not a mushroom," Chloe said. "It's an umbrella for spiders." A spider knit a web under the mushroom away from the mist. Finally, Joey saw a stick. "Look at that squiggly—" Joey stopped. If he called it a stick, Chloe would say it was not a stick. So, Joey cried, "Look at that squiggly ladybug ladder!" Chloe grinned at Joey and said, "Now you're seeing things from another point of view!"

Through eight compelling stories of restorative literacies Wolter explores the complex relationships among cognition metacognition identity behavior in schools and literacies Based on the principles of restorative justice restorative literacies are designed to help educators repair harm restore relationships and expand the concept of literacy for some of our most disenfranchised and disengaged students Restorative literacies are not just about growing readers and writers per se They are about creating a community of care that involves students teachers administrators and families so that all students experience racially culturally linguistically and economically responsive instruction in multiple forms of literacies Drawing on the author s rich experiences cultivating a love of reading among her students and studying the practices of other educators Restorative Literacies advances a provocative set of examples about centering the voice and stories of people in our quest to humanize and reimagine how we care for about and with others Book Features Presents a literacy model of restorative justice that includes participation from teachers principals administrators and parents Contains engaging narratives from elementary and secondary schools to illustrate concepts and strategies Explores compassionate listening as a conscious process of assuring that all involved are fully heard a skill that requires removing assumptions judgement and bias Identifies practices that take a positive view of learners as opposed to referring students to special education Uses restoration as an alternative to pushout practices that are designed to control students and often prevent them from reaching their capacity Restorative Literacies offers a refreshing perspective on the power of story in cultivating emancipatory restorative and transformative contexts of learning teaching and development During these times of civil and civic unrest this is the book we need in education From the Foreword by H Richard Milner IV Cornelius Vanderbilt Chair of Education Vanderbilt University
