Ch'in Reading Card One

An Introduction to China

When you think of China, do you see Chinese food, tea, silk fans and the Great Wall? All these things and many more have become linked with the oriental country of China.

Though many people enjoy Chinese food picked up at the corner restaurant, we also eat, drink, wear and use other items that originated in China. Did you know that paper was invented in China?

Before we look further into China and its history, we should first find out where this most interesting country is located and learn a few geological facts about the land.

China is located on the continent we know as Asia. It lies between 20° N latitude and 50° N latitude, and 75° E longitude and 145° E longitude. On its eastern and southeastern coasts lie the ocean, specifically the Yellow Sea, the East China Sea, and the South China Sea. These seas are all part of the world's largest ocean, the Pacific.

China's neighbor to the north is Russia, to the west is India, and to the south is Bangladesh, Burma, Thailand, and Laos. North and South Korea are her nearest neighbors to the east, and across the Sea of Japan lies the country of Japan.

The name China is not what the Chinese gave themselves, but rather a name adopted by people from Europe who first visited China approximately 2 400 years ago. China at that time was ruled by a dynasty called the Ch'in. So the European explorers referred to that country as China. The Chinese preferred to call their country The Middle Kingdom because they thought that they were the center of their world long before they had contact with other countries. Today, China's formal name when translated into English, is the Middle Flowery People's Republic.

Discourse and language learning across L2 instructional settings ,2012-01-01 Studies on discourse and language learning originated in the field of general education and they focused on first language learning environments However since 1980s research on discourse and language learning broadened the scope of investigation to respond to second and foreign language environments Recently the emergence of new language learning contexts such as computer mediated communication multilingual settings or content and language integrated contexts requires further research that focuses on discourse and language learning From this perspective the present volume aims to broaden the scope of investigation in foreign language contexts by exploring discourse patterns in the classroom and examining the impact of factors such as gender explicitness of feedback or L1 use on language learning through discourse With that aim in mind this volume will bring together research that investigates discourse in various instructional settings namely those of primary secondary and university L2 learning environments content and language integrated contexts and other new language learning settings The number and variety of languages involved both as the first language e g English Finnish Basque Spanish Japanese French Italian Catalan as well as the target foreign language e g English French Italian Japanese Spanish makes the volume specially attractive Additionally the different approaches adopted by the researchers participating in this volume such as information processing sociocultural theory or conversation analysis widen the realm of investigation on discourse and language learning Finally the strength of the volume also lies in the range of educational settings primary secondary and tertiary education and the worldwide representation of contributors across seven different countries namely those of Spain France Austria Finland Germany Canada Australia and the United States The uniqueness of the volume is due to its eclectic and comprehensive nature in tackling instructional discourse Worldwide outstanding researchers like Julianne House Carme Mu oz Ute Smit Tarja Nikula or Roy Lyster to quote but a few adopt different perspectives in this joint contribution that will certainly broaden the scope of research on language learners discourse Translations on People's Republic of China ,1961
