Forecasting An Appraisal For Policy Makers And Planners:

Forecasting William Ascher, 1978-02-17 Abstract Forecasting is a new and still changing field One of the most important factors in the relationships between method and result is that core assumptions are more important than sophisticated techniques improved technique does not compensate for faulty assumptions Forecasting is still an art and one that is difficult to master The uses of forecasting can be so varied and applied to so many different disciplines that it is worth making the effort The appraisal of forecasts and the choice of the most likely from a group focusing on the same area is also a type of forecasting Forecasting in the Social and Natural Sciences Kenneth C. Land, Stephen H. Schneider, 2012-12-06 Social and natural scientists often are called upon to produce or participate in the production of forecasts This volume assembles essays that a describe the organizational and political context of applied forecasting b review the state of the art for many forecasting models and methods and c discuss issues of predictability the implications of forecast errors and model construction linkage and verification The essays should be of particular interest to social and natural scientists concerned with forecasting large scale systems This project had its origins in discussions of social forecasts and forecasting methodologies initiated a few years ago by several social and natural science members of the Social Science Research Council's Committee on Social Indicators It became apparent in these discussions that certain similar problems were confronted in forecasting large scale systems be they social or natural In response the Committee hypothesized that much could be learned through more extended and systematic interchanges among social and natural scientists focusing on the formal methodologies applied in forecasting To put this conjecture to the test the Committee sponsored a conference at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder Colorado on June 10-13 1984 on forecasting in the social and natural sciences The conference was co chaired by Committee members Kenneth C Land and Stephen H Schneider representing respectively the social and natural science membership of the Committee Support for the conference was provided by a grant to the Council from the Division of Social and Economic Science of the National Science Foundation Urban Planning Methods

Urban Planning Methods Ian Bracken, 2014-04-04 In order to develop and exercise their skills urban planners need to draw upon a wide variety of methods relating to plan and policy making urban research and policy analysis More than ever planners need to be able to adapt their methods to contemporary needs and circumstances This introductory textbook focuses on the need to combine traditional research methods with policy analysis in order to understand the true nature of urban planning processes It describes both planning methods and their underlying concepts and principles illustrating applications by reference to the daily activities of planning including the assessment of needs and preferences of the population the generation and implementation of plans and policies and the need to take decisions related to the allocation of land population change employment housing and retailing Ian Bracken also provides a comprehensive guide to the more specialized research literature and case studies of contemporary urban planning practice This book was first published in 1981 Forecasting and Management of Technology Alan L. Porter, Scott W. Cunningham, Jerry Banks, A. Thomas Roper, Thomas W. Mason, Frederick A. Rossini, 2011-06-09 Published in 1991 the first edition of Forecasting and Management of Technology was one of the leading handful of books to deal with the topic of forecasting of technology and technology management as this discipline was emerging The new revised edition of this book will build on this knowledge in the context of business organizations that now place a greater emphasis on technology to stay on the cutting edge of development The scope of this edition has broadened to include management of technology content that is relevant to now to executives in organizations while updating and strengthening the technology forecasting and analysis content that the first edition is reputed for Updated by the original author team plus new author Scott Cunningham the book takes into account what the authors see as the innovations to technology management in the last 17 years the Internet the greater focus on group decision making including process management and mechanism design and desktop software that has transformed the analytical capabilities of technology managers Included in this book will be 5 case studies from various industries that show how technology management is applied in the real world

Time, Planning, and Policy Making Gerald Schneider, 1991 How should governments deal with the future This question is still the cornerstone in the clash between different ideologies However despite the lasting debate almost no empirical evidence exists about the impact of the conflicting schemes The present book is a systematic and comparative attempt to shed light on this complex matter The in depth evaluation of crucial planning papers of 40 governments leads to an understanding of the theoretically salient relationship between time planning and policy making

Banister,2015-08-28 In the last forty years or so the research field exploring the relationship and interaction between transport and development has developed rapidly While sophistication in analysis has increased understanding the effective integration of transport and development often remains poor in theory and in practice with sometimes devastating effects This Handbookprovides a comprehensive analysis of both the current and emerging thinking in this field drawing on multidisciplinary thinking in transport planning transport urban and spatial economics and the wider social sciences With 45 chapters from leading international authors the book is organised around three main themes urban structure and travel transport and spatial impacts wider dimensions in transport and development The chapters each present commentary on key issues within these themes presenting the debate on the impacts of urban structure on travel the impacts of transport investment on development and social and cultural change on travel A multitude of competing inter disciplinary perspectives are considered leaving the reader with an invaluable comprehensive and critical understanding of the field This major Handbookwill serve as a guide for undergraduates and graduate students researchers consultants and also practitioners and policy makers wishing to find a comprehensive and original reference to research on transport and development Contributors J A Annema F Avelino D Banister D Bonilla F Bruinsma C C Cantarelli X Jason Cao C L Chen G Cohen Blankshtain C Curtis G Dane J Dodson A Donald R Dowling M Echenique A El Geneidy R Ewing E Feitelson B Flyvbjerg N Garrick H Geerlings K Geurs M Givoni A R Goetz P Gordon A Grigolon D Halden P Hall I Hamiduddin S Handy P Headicar D A Hensher D Hidalgo R Hickman R Hjorthol M Hillman E Holden T Holvad H Holzapfel M Iacono O B Jensen P Jones J Kenworthy S Kenyon C A Kl ckner K J Krizek B Lee S Leleur D Levinson T Li Z Li K Linnerud S Marshall W Marshall E Matthies L Meija Dorantes R Meyfahrt P Mokhtarian J C Mu oz P Naess P Newman S Nordbakke S Petheram S Rasouli P Rietveld O Rotem Mindali T Schwanen N Sipe D Stead P Stoker G Stokes H Timmermans B Van Wee R Wilson D Yang

Panels for Transportation Planning Thomas F. Golob,Ryuichi Kitamura,Lyn Long,2013-03-14 Panels for Transportation Planning argues that panels repeated measurements on the same sets of households or individuals over time can more effectively capture dynamic changes in travel behavior and the factors which underlie these changes than can conventional cross sectional surveys Because panels can collect information on household attributes attitudes and perceptions residential and employment choices travel behavior and other variables and then can collect information on changes in these variables over time they help us to understand how and why people choose to travel as they do and how and why these choices are likely to evolve in the future This book is designed for a wide audience survey researchers who seek information on methodological advancements and applications transportation planners who want an improved understanding of dynamic changes in travel behavior and instructors of graduate courses in urban and transportation planning research methods economics sociology and public policy Each chapter has been prepared to stand alone to illustrate a particular

theme or application The book is divided into topical parts which address the most salient issues in the use of panels for transportation planning panels as evaluation tools regional planning applications accounting for response bias and modeling and forecasting issues These parts describe panel applications in the US Australia Great Britain Japan and the Netherlands Each chapter is supplemented by extensive references more than 400 studies reflecting the work of more than 700 authors are cited in the text

A Practitioner's Guide to State and Local Population Projections Stanley K. Smith, Jeff Tayman, David A. Swanson, 2013-12-16 This book focuses on the methodology and analysis of state and local population projections It describes the most commonly used data sources and application techniques for four types of projection methods cohort component trend extrapolation structural models and microsimulation It covers the components of population growth sources of data the formation of assumptions the development of evaluation criteria and the determinants of forecast accuracy It considers the strengths and weaknesses of various projection methods and pays special attention to the unique problems that characterize small area projections The authors provide practical guidance to demographers planners market analysts and others called on to construct state and local population projections They use many examples and illustrations and present suggestions for dealing with special populations unique circumstances and inadequate or unreliable data They describe techniques for controlling one set of projections to another for interpolating between time points for subdividing age groups and for constructing projections of population related variables e g school enrollment households They discuss the role of judgment and the importance of the political context in which projections are made They emphasize the utility of projections or their usefulness for decision making in a world of competing demands and limited resources This comprehensive book will provide readers with an understanding not only of the mechanics of the most commonly used population projection methods but also of the many complex issues affecting their construction interpretation evaluation and use
