Foreign Language Education Dale L. Lange, Charles J. James, 1972. This book reviews the record of the foreign language teaching profession over the past several years and examines the successes and determines the reasons for failures.

From Foreign Language Education to Education for Intercultural Citizenship Michael Byram, 2008-05-27. This collection of essays and reflections starts from an analysis of the purposes of foreign language teaching and argues that this should include educational objectives which are ultimately similar to those of education for citizenship. It does so by a journey through reflections on what is possible and desirable in the classroom and how language teaching has a specific role in education systems which have long had and often still have the purpose of encouraging young people to identify with the nation-state. Foreign language education can break through this framework to introduce a critical internationalism. In a globalised and internationalised world, the importance of identification with people beyond the national borders is crucial. Combined with education for citizenship, foreign language education can offer an education for intercultural citizenship.

Polyglot: How I Learn Languages Kat— Lomb, 2008-01-01. KAT LOMB 1909-2003 was one of the great polyglots of the 20th century. A translator and one of the first simultaneous interpreters in the world, Lomb worked in 16 languages for state and business concerns in her native Hungary. She achieved further fame by writing books on languages, interpreting and polyglots. Polyglot: How I Learn Languages first published in 1970 is a collection of anecdotes and reflections on language learning. Because Dr Lomb learned her languages as an adult after getting a PhD in chemistry, the methods she used will be of particular interest to adult learners who want to master a foreign language.
