The Energy System Travis Bradford, 2018-09-11 A comprehensive textbook that integrates tools from technology economics markets and policy to approach energy issues using a dynamic systems and capital centric perspective The global energy system is the vital foundation of modern human industrial society Traditionally studied through separate disciplines of engineering economics environment or public policy this system can be fully understood only by using an approach that integrates these tools This textbook is the first to take a dynamic systems perspective on understanding energy systems tracking energy from primary resource to final energy services through a long and capital intensive supply chain bounded by both macroeconomic and natural resource systems The book begins with a framework for understanding how energy is transformed as it moves through the system with the aid of various types of capital its movement influenced by a combination of the technical market and policy conditions at the time It then examines the three primary energy subsystems of electricity transportation and thermal energy explaining such relevant topics as systems thinking cost estimation capital formation market design and policy tools Finally the book reintegrates these subsystems and looks at their relation to the economic system and the ecosystem that they inhabit Practitioners and theorists from any field will benefit from a deeper understanding of both existing dynamic energy system processes and potential tools for intervention

Economic Efficiency Ben Van Rompuy, 2012-08-01 Over the past decade we have witnessed an apparent convergence of views among competition agency officials in the European Union and the United States on the appropriate goals of competition law enforcement Antitrust policy it is now suggested should focus on enhancing economic efficiency which we are to believe will promote consumer welfare Recent EU Commission Guidelines on the application of Article 101 TFEU appear to banish considerations that cannot be construed as having an economic efficiency value such as the environment cultural policy employment public health and consumer protection from the application of Article 101 TFEU Arguing that the professed adoption of an exclusive efficiency approach to Article 101 TFEU does not preclude but rather obfuscates the role of non efficiency considerations the author of this timely contribution accomplishes the following objectives traces the genesis of the shift to an efficiency orientation in EU and US antitrust policy and dispels several ingrained misconceptions that underpin it demonstrates the close interrelationship between evolving images of the purpose of antitrust the development of related enforcement norms and enforcement output provides in depth analyses of a number of analytically rich cases in the audiovisual sector and particularly those related to sports rights and explores what the role of non efficiency considerations in the application of Article 101 TFEU could and should be under the modernized enforcement regime

The Right to Be Punished Gabriel Hallevy, 2012-10-12 Does an offender have the right to be punished The right to be punished may sound like an oxymoron but it is not necessarily so With the emergence of modern criminal law the offender gained the right to be punished by rational criminal law rather than being lynched by an angry mob The present day offender may have the right to be punished by doctrinal sentencing rather than being subjected to verdicts based on vague unclear and uncertain principles In modern criminal law the imposition of criminal liability follows accurate and strict rules whereas there are no similar rules for the imposition of punishment The process of sentencing is vague and obscure as are the considerations used for the imposition of punishments The objective of the present book is to propose a comprehensive general and legally sophisticated theory of modern doctrinal sentencing The challenges of such a legal theory are plenty and complex In addition to increasing clarity and certainty modern doctrinal sentencing must deal with modern types of delinquency e g organized crime recidivism corporate offenders high tech offenses etc and modern principles of criminal law Modern doctrinal sentencing must serve to ensure optimal sentencing
