Fantasy in Greek and Roman Literature Graham Anderson, 2019-07-01 Fantasy in Greek and Roman Literature offers an overview of Greek and Roman excursions into fantasy including imaginary voyages dream worlds talking animals and similar impossibilities This is a territory seldom explored and extends to rarely read texts such as the Aesop Romance The Battle of the Frogs and the Mice and The Pumpkinification of the Emperor Claudius Bringing this diverse material together for the first time Anderson widens readers perspectives on the realm of fantasy in ancient literature including topics such as dialogues with the dead Utopian communities and fantastic feasts Going beyond the more familiar world of myth his examples range from The Golden Ass to the Late Antique Testament of a Pig The volume also explores ancient resistance to the world of make believe Fantasy in Greek and Roman Literature is an invaluable resource not only for students of classical and comparative literature but also for modern writers on fantasy who want to explore the genre's origins in antiquity both in the more obvious and in lesser known texts Essays on Ayn Rand's Anthem Robert Mayhew, 2005-01-01 The essays in this collection treat historical literary and philosophical topics related to Ayn Rand's Anthem an anti utopia fantasy set in the future The first book length study on Anthem this collection covers subjects such as free will political freedom and the connection between freedom and individual thought and privacy American Short-story Writers, 1910-1945 Bobby Ellen Kimbel, 1991 Essays on American short story writers published in the years between 1910 and the end of World War II with a primary focus on the growth and popularity of works of fiction Victorian Visions of Suburban Utopia Nathaniel Robert Walker, 2020-11-17 The rise of suburbs and disinvestment from cities have been defining features of life in many countries over the course of the twentieth century In Victorian Visions of Suburban Utopia Nathaniel Walker asks why did we abandon our dense complex urban places and seek to find the best of the city and the country in the flowery suburbs While looking back at the architecture and urban design of the 1800s offers some answers Walker argues that a great missing piece of the story can be found in Victorian utopian literature The replacement of cities with high tech suburbs was repeatedly imagined and breathlessly described in the socialist dreams and science fiction fantasies of dozens of British and American authors Some of these visionaries such as Robert Owen Edward Bulwer Lytton Edward Bellamy William Morris Ebenezer Howard and H G Wells are enduringly famous while others were street vendors or amateur chemists who have been all but forgotten Together they fashioned strange and beautiful imaginary worlds built of synthetic gemstones lacy metal colonnades and unbreakable glass staffed by robotic servants and teeming with flying carriages As varied as their futuristic visions could be Walker reveals how most of them were unified by a single desperate plea for humanity to have a future worth living we must abandon our smoky poor chaotic Babylonian cities for a life in shimmering gardens Biblical Prophecy Ellen F. Davis, 2014-01-01 In this fresh and expansive work Ellen Davis offers a comprehensive interpretation of the prophetic role and word in the Christian scriptures Davis carefully outlines five essential features of the prophetic role and then systematically examines seven representations of prophets and prophecies Thoroughly theological Davis's volume provides both instruction and insight for understanding prophecy in Christian tradition and discipleship This volume concludes with a rich discussion of practical matters including the relationship between Christian discipleship and prophetic interpretation and the role of biblical prophecy in interfaith contexts Water, Power and Identity Rutgerd Boelens, 2015-04-10 This book addresses two major issues in natural resource management and political ecology the complex conflicting relationship between communities managing water on the ground and national global policy making institutions and elites and how grassroots defend against encroachment question the self evidence of State market based water governance and confront coercive and participatory boundary policing normal vs abnormal The book examines grassroots building of multi layered water rights territories and State market and expert networks vigorous efforts to reshape these water societies in their own image seizing resources and or aligning users identities and rights systems within dominant frameworks Distributive and cultural politics entwine It is shown that attempts to modernize and normalize users through universalized water culture rational water use and de politicized interventions deepen water security problems rather than alleviating them However social struggles negotiate and enforce water rights User collectives challenge imposed water rights and identities constructing new ones to strategically acquire water control autonomy and re moralize their waterscapes The author shows that battles for material control include the right to culturally define and politically organize water rights and territories Andean illustrations from Peru Ecuador Bolivia and Chile from peasant indigenous life stories to international policy making highlight open and subsurface hydro social networks They reveal how water justice struggles are political projects against indifference and that engaging in re distributive policies and defying truth politics extends context particular water rights definitions and governance forms
