in 1988, when the Family Trust made arrangements to acquire the business and allowed the companies registered in the jurisdictions to be sold to the trust. As the jurisdiction is a certain Wingrove, stated "I just am not satisfied that there is any genuine economic activity in the jurisdiction. The place is a tax haven, and there are many people who are not really there, but they are in the jurisdiction of the trust."

After the 1992 election, the Conservative Party, with its new leader John Major, continued to be preoccupied by the problems of the economy and the social issues. In the 1994 election, the Labour Party, led by Tony Blair, won a landslide victory, and the Conservative Party was reduced to a minority government. The Labour Party's victory was a result of its focus on social issues and its promise to bring about a new era of social justice. The Conservative Party, on the other hand, was seen as being out of touch with the needs of the people. The Labour Party's victory was a significant turning point in British history, and it marked the beginning of a new era of social justice.

There were two initial tests, intended to be performed on the night. Originally, we intended to compare the acute response to two different doses of the active ingredient.

When the General was made, many of the comments were attributed to him. I pointed out that he was not a geographer. There were four comments from the right and each moderator repeated, twice, the comments and each moderator - each I will say, the two - did repeat them, making comments on the first comment, which was that it is strange to see that the General could be so much of a internationally renowned scholars Arthur and Marilouise Kroker present an innovative and interdisciplinary survey of the relationship between humanity and technology The reader offers a study of our digital future a means of understanding the world with new analytic tools and means of communication that are defining the twenty first century The second edition includes new essays on the impact of social networking technologies and new media A new section New Digital Media presents important new articles on topics including hacktivism in the age of digital power and the relationship between gaming and capitalism The extraordinary range and depth of the first edition has been maintained in this new edition Critical Digital Studies will continue to provide the leading edge to readers wanting to understand the complex intersection of digital culture and human knowledge

The Gypsy Debate Joanna Richardson,2017-02-13 Jo Richardson explores the extent to which modes of discourse reflect antipathy towards gypsies and travellers and control and shape the treatment of this minority group by the rest of society The focus is housing policy but her discussion has a wide application

The French Revolution and the Creation of Benthamism C. Blamires,2008-07-10 The first study of how Genevan Etienne Dumont and his traumatic experience of the French Revolution shaped the reception and presentation of Benthamism and masked the true face of Jeremy Bentham one of the architects of modern society who visualised a new world based on the values of transparency accountability and economy

Feedback David Joselit,2010-02-26 In a world where politics is conducted through images the tools of art history can be used to challenge the privatized antidemocratic sphere of American television American television embodies a paradox it is a privately owned and operated public communications network that most citizens are unable to participate in except as passive specators Television creates an image of community while preventing the formation of actual social ties because behind its simulated exchange of opinions lies a highly centralized corporate structure that is profoundly antidemocratic In Feedback David Joselit describes the privatized public sphere of television and recounts the tactics developed by artists and media activists in the 1960s and 1970s to break open its closed circuit The figures whose work Joselit examines among them Nam June Paik Dan Graham Joan Jonas Abbie Hoffman Andy Warhol and Melvin Van Peebles staged political interventions within television s closed circuit Joselit identifies three kinds of image events feedback which can be both disabling noise and rational response as when Abbie Hoffman hijacked television time for the Yippies with flamboyant stunts directed to the media the image virus which proliferates parasitically invading transforming and even blocking systems as in Nam June Paik s synthesized videotapes and installations and the avatar a quasi fictional form of identity available to anyone which can function as a political actor as in Melvin Van Peebles s invention of Sweet Sweetback an African American hero who appealed to a broad audience and influenced styles of Black Power activism These strategies writes Joselit remain valuable today in a world where the overlapping information circuits of television and the Internet offer different opportunities for democratic participation In Feedback Joselit analyzes such midcentury image events using the procedures and categories of art history The trope of figure ground reversal for instance is used to assess acts of representation in a variety of media including the medium of politics In a televisual world Joselit argues where democracy is conducted through images art history has the capacity to become a political science Control and Freedom Wendy Hui Kyong Chun,2008-09-26 A work that bridges media archaeology and visual culture studies argues that the Internet has emerged as a mass medium by linking control with freedom and democracy How has the Internet a medium that thrives on control been accepted as a medium of freedom Why is freedom increasingly indistinguishable from paranoid control In Control and Freedom Wendy Hui Kyong Chun explores the current political and technological coupling of freedom with control by tracing the emergence of the Internet as a mass medium The parallel and paranoid myths of the Internet as total freedom total control she says stem from our reduction of political problems into technological ones Drawing on the theories of Gilles Deleuze and Michel Foucault and analyzing such phenomena as Webcams and face recognition technology Chun argues that the relationship between control and freedom in networked contact is experienced and negotiated through sexuality and race She traces the desire for cyberspace to cyberpunk fiction and maps the transformation of public private into open closed Analyzing pornocracy she contends that it was through cyberporn and the government s attempts to regulate it that the Internet became a marketplace of ideas and commodities Chun describes the way Internet promoters conflated technological empowerment with racial empowerment and through close examinations of William Gibson s Neuromancer and Mamoru Oshii s Ghost in the Shell she analyzes the management of interactivity in narratives of cyberspace The Internet s potential for democracy stems not from illusory promises of individual empowerment Chun argues but rather from the ways in which it exposes us to others and to other machines in ways we cannot control Using fiber optic networks light coursing through glass tubes as metaphor and reality Control and Freedom engages the rich philosophical tradition of light as a figure for knowledge clarification surveillance and discipline in order to argue that fiber optic networks physically instantiate and thus shatter enlightenment Film and Video Intermediality Janna Houwen,2017-07-13 Develops a view of the difference between film and video that is not based on media specificity but on media practices

Fictional Realities / Real Fictions. Contemporary Theatre in Search of a New Mimetic Paradigm Mateusz Borowski,Malgorzata Sugiera,2009-03-26 The collection of essays Fictional Realities Real Fictions Contemporary Theatre in Search of a New Mimetic Paradigm tackles the problem of fictionality and reality in contemporary theatre practice and playwriting It approaches this hotly debated issue in a larger context of the theories of theatrical and dramatic mimesis The volume provides an answer to the most recent developments in performative arts such as the widespread use of new media technologies the popularity of site specific productions and the flourishing of various post dramatic forms of expression The phenomena scrutinized in this collection call into question the basic dichotomy between the fictional and the real on which the theory and practice of the Western theatre has been based right from its inception However due to their extremely heterogeneous character they pose a considerable problem for researchers and teachers who still do not find a widely applicable methodology for the analysis of contemporary performances and texts for the theatre Fictional Realities Real Fictions sets the discussion of the onset of new mimetic paradigm in three interrelated contexts the new perceptual patterns forged by contemporary theatre the use of media on stage and the strategies of today s political theatre The case studies presented here in spite of their thematic diversity are subordinated to a single theoretical framework Thus they turn out extremely useful both for the scholars investigating the problems of contemporary theatre and students of theatre and drama Fictional Realities Real Fictions offers them a rigid methodological scaffolding supported by a number of illustrative examples from a variety of cultural context and theatre traditions which gives them an opportunity to extrapolate from the main argument of the volume to their own research

Mind the Screen Jaap Kooijman, Patricia Pisters, Wanda Strauven, 2008 Mind the Screen pays tribute to the work of the pioneering European film scholar Thomas Elsaesser author of several volumes on media studies and cinema culture Covering a full scope of issues arising from the author s work from melodrama and mediated memory to avant garde practices media archaeology and the audiovisual archive this collection elaborates and expands on Elsaesser s original ideas along the topical lines of cinephilia the historical imaginary the contemporary European cinematic experience YouTube and images of terrorism and double occupancy among other topics Contributions from well known artists and scholars such as Mieke Bal and Warren Buckland explore a range of media concepts and provide a mirror for the multi faceted types of screens active in Elsaesser s work including the television set video installation the digital interface the mobile phone display and of course the hallowed silver screen of our contemporary film culture

Configuring the Networked Self Julie E. Cohen, 2012-01-24 The legal and technical rules governing flows of information are out of balance argues Julie E Cohen in this original analysis of information law and policy Flows of cultural and technical information are overly restricted while flows of personal information often are not restricted at all The author investigates the institutional forces shaping the emerging information society and the contradictions between those forces and the ways that people use information and information technologies in their everyday lives She then proposes legal principles to ensure that people have ample room for cultural and material participation as well as greater control over the boundary conditions that govern flows of information to from and about them

Video Theories Dieter Daniels, Jan Thoben, 2022-01-29 Breaking new ground as the first transdisciplinary reader in this field Video Theories is a resource that will form the basis for further research and teaching While theories of video have not yet formed an academic discipline comparable to the more canonized theories of photography film and television the reader offers a major step toward bridging this video gap in media theory which is remarkable considering today s omnipresence of the medium through online video portals and social media Consisting of a selection of eighty three annotated source texts and twelve chapter introductions written by the editors this book considers fifty years of scholarly and artistic reflections on the topic representing an intergenerational and international set of voices This transdisciplinary reader offers a conceptual framework for diverging and contradictory viewpoints following the continuous transformations of what video was is and will be     Management and Participation in the Public Sphere Merviö, Mika Markus, 2015-04-30 Public policy has a dynamic effect on multiple facets of modern society Methods for managing and engaging the public sphere continue to change conceptually across the globe impacting the ways that governments and citizens interact both within and across borders Management and Participation in the Public Sphere is a definitive reference source for the latest scholarly research on the interplay of public affairs and the domestic realm providing innovative methods on managing public policy across various nations cultures and governments Featuring expansive coverage on a multitude of relevant topics in civic involvement information technology and modes of government this publication is a pivotal reference source for researchers students and professionals seeking current developments in novel approaches to public policy studies This publication features timely research based chapters on the critical issues of public policy including but not limited to archival paradigms Internet censorship media control civic engagement virtual public spaces online activism higher education and public private partnerships     Biometrics: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources, 2016-08-30 Security and authentication issues are surging to the forefront of the research realm in global society As technology continues to evolve individuals are finding it easier to infiltrate various forums and facilities where they can illegally obtain information and access By implementing biometric authentications to these forums users are able to prevent attacks on their privacy and security Biometrics Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications is a multi volume publication highlighting critical topics related to access control user identification and surveillance technologies Featuring emergent research on the issues and challenges in security and privacy various forms of user authentication biometric applications to image processing and computer vision and security applications within the field this publication is an ideal reference source for researchers engineers technology developers students and security specialists     Time: Sense, Space, Structure , 2016-05-09 The essays in this volume explore the nature of time our God given medium of ascent known as Augustine puts it through the ordered study of the liberal disciplines that carry the mind to the divine disciplinae liberales intellectum efferunt ad divina grammar and dialectic for example to promote thinking geometry and astronomy to grasp the dimensions of our reality music an invisible substance like time itself as an exemplary bridge to the unseen substance of thoughts ideas and the nature of God theology This ascending course of study rests on procedure progress and attainment on before following and afterwards whose goal is an ascending erudition that lets us finally contemplate as Augustine says in De ordine our invisible medium time within time itself time is immaterial but experienced as substantial The essays here look at projects that chronicle time from the beginning that clarify ideas of creation in time and simultaneous times and the interrelationships between measured time and eternity including no time Essays also examine time as revealed in social and political contexts as told by clocks as notated in music and embodied in memorializing stone In the final essays of this volume time is understood as the subject
