Policing the Borders Within Ana Aliverti,2021 This book explores the everyday policing of immigration officers and police officers in charge of inland border controls in the United Kingdom It looks at migration policing in terms of a globalized world and how that presents new demands and challenges on those who enforce it This book aims to advance understanding of border law enforcement   National Audit Office (NAO) - Cabinet Office: Managing Government Suppliers - HC 811 Great Britain: National Audit Office,2013-11-12 In this memorandum Managing government suppliers the NAO welcomes the fact that the Cabinet Office is now asserting government s position with contractors in way that its scale as a customer merits Specifically this has enabled government to get greater value from contracting and has sent signals that government is willing to be tough on underperformance However the Cabinet Office still faces a number of challenges in developing a more mature approach It is currently focused on short term savings and has adopted a robust approach with departments and suppliers which has enabled it to report significant savings from contract renegotiations However this approach will become harder over time and risks missing out on achieving longer term value for money through innovation and investment There is a balance to be struck between tough negotiations and maintaining relationship with suppliers in the long term if government is to maintain competition in public sector markets The Cabinet Office is seeking to reform commercial practice across Government with the development of the Crown Commercial Service There is a risk that the ambitions are not matched by the right resources capability and information It has gaps in commercial experience and expertise below senior levels while its information on its 40 strategic suppliers is inconsistent and incomplete A related report The role of major contractors in the delivery of public services HC 810 session 2013 14 ISBN 9780102987027 sets out some of the benefits that can be achieved through contracting but highlights issues that deserve greater public scrutiny

Borders Revisited Bastian A. Vollmer,2021-08-12 The nature and configuration of borders and the relationship between state borders and societies have changed In the 21st century internationalism transnationalism and super diversity have further provoked complexities and anxieties It seems that as border and migration regimes undergo dramatic transformations their public profile increases This book revisits borders bordering practices and meanings with a particular focus on the United Kingdom as a case study Bastian A Vollmer examines not only the theoretical and historical dimensions of borders but also various empirical data including extensive text corpora and dozens of in depth interviews Expanding on the concept of vernacular security that is an everyday understanding of security he argues that the existential value of borders is not merely physical but extends into the order and future construction of states and societies This book demonstrates decisively that the concept of the border has not left the centre stage of philosophy political theory and political sociology but has instead emerged as a focal point for multidisciplinary engagements It further demonstrates how attention to a vernacular perspective can inform those engagements yielding vital insights As such it should appeal to students and scholars across disciplines interested in the contemporary development and relevance of borders and their discursive cultures   Outsourcing in the UK Janice Morphet,2021-04-15 In this comprehensive account Janice Morphet analyses the role and use of outsourcing within the UK public sector since the mid 1970s Morphet examines the many drivers for the use of outsourcing in the public sector including international agreements new public management performativity and austerity She also takes in to account the role and failures of the private sector and its response to the opening up of public sector competition By investigating the way that outsourcing has been used in different service sectors and across scales the book illustrates the impact it has had on ideology policy narratives and public expectations in the present   Work of the Permanent Secretary (April - December 2011) Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Home Affairs Committee,2012-05-29 The Committee identifies significant savings made through improved procurement practices which rose to 75 million in the first three quarters of the 2011 12 financial year It welcomes the fact that the Home Office is acting on its earlier recommendation to extend the use of the compulsory national framework for police procurement however expresses concern about the progress of the e borders programme and the lack of clarity over plans to introduce privatisation into policing The Committee found that the costly joint procurement exercise being undertaken by Surrey and West Midlands Police lacked clarity The Committee were not convinced that the Forces fully understood or were fully able to articulate the process they were undertaking With the overall costs of exploring this process set at 5 million the Committee called on the Home Office to take responsibility for ensuring the public and stakeholders were aware of the process and to postpone the exercise till after the election of the Police and Crime Commissioners Also despite the letting of new contracts to Serco and IBM in preparation for the London Olympics the Committee remains concerned about the progress of the e Borders programme The Committee also found that an unacceptable level of claims under the Riot Damages Act were still outstanding and recommends that the Home Office work with police authorities to publish a timetable for the payment of all outstanding claims All those who made a legitimate claim should receive their payments by the first anniversary at the latest   Media and the Government of Populations Philip Dearman,Cathy Greenfield,Peter Williams,2018-08-12 This book deals with the social cultural and especially political significance of media by shifting from the usual focus on the public sphere and publics and paying attention to populations It describes key moments where populations of different sorts have been subject to formative and diverse projects of governing in which communication has been key It brings together governmentality studies with the study of media practices and communication technologies Chapters consider print culture and the new political technology of individuals digital economies as places where populations are formed known and managed as productive resources workplaces schools clinics and homes as sites of governmental objectives and how to appropriately link communication technologies and practices with politics Through these chapters Philip Dearman Cathy Greenfield and Peter Williams demonstrate the value of considering communication in terms of the governmentof populations

The migration debate Sarah Spencer,2011-06-29 A contribution to one of the most hotly contested issues in Europe The migration debate provides a well balanced critical analysis of UK migration policies in a European context from entry controls through to integration and citizenship Exploring the pressures and constraints that have shaped a rapidly shifting policy terrain this accessible overview offers a considered assessment of policy options to provide the foundation for a less polarised better informed public debate Unusual in its coverage of immigration for work study family and protection and in its insistence that an understanding of integration processes must be considered alongside analysis of entry controls The migration debate will be of equal value to policy makers as to a multi disciplinary academic readership Punishing the Other Anna Eriksson,2015-08-20 Punishing the Other draws on the work of Zygmunt Bauman to discuss contemporary discourses and practices of punishment and criminalization Bringing together some of the most exciting international scholars both established and emerging this book engages with Bauman s thesis of the social production of immorality in the context of criminalization and social control and addresses processes of othering through a range of contemporary case studies situated in various cultural political and social contexts Topics covered include the increasing bureaucratization of the business of punishment with the corresponding loss of moral and ethical reflection in the public sphere punitive discourses around border control and immigration and exclusionary discourses and their consequences concerning terrorists and other socially and culturally defined outsiders Engaging with national and global issues that are more topical now than ever before this book is essential reading for academics and students of involved in the study of the sociology of punishment punishment and modern society the criminal justice system philosophy and punishment and comparative criminology and penology Inside Immigration Detention Mary Bosworth,2014-09-18 On any given day nearly 3000 foreign national citizens are detained under immigration powers in UK detention centres alone Around the world immigrants are routinely detained in similar conditions The institutions charged with immigrant detention are volatile and contested sites They are also places about which we know very little What is their goal How do they operate How are they justified Inside Immigration Detention lifts the lid on the hidden world of migrant detention presenting the first national study of life in British immigration removal centres Offering more than just a description of life behind bars of those men and women awaiting deportation it uses staff and detainee testimonies to revisit key assumptions about state power and the legacies of colonialism under conditions of globalization Based on fieldwork conducted in six immigration removal centres IRCs between 2009 and 2012 it draws together a large amount of empirical data including detainee surveys and interviews staff interviews observation and detailed field notes From this the book explores how immigration removal centres identify their inhabitants as strangers constructing them as unfamiliar ambiguous and uncertain In this endeavour the establishments are greatly assisted by their resemblance to prisons and by familiar racialized narratives about foreigners and nationality However as staff and detainee testimonies reveal in their interactions and day to day life women and men find many points of commonality Such recognition of one another reveals the goal and effect of detention to be incomplete Denial requires effort In order to minimize the effort it must expend the state governs at distance via the contract It also splits itself in two deploying some immigration staff onsite while keeping the actual decision makers the caseworkers elsewhere sequestered from the potentially destabilizing effects of facing up to those whom they wish to remove Such distancing while bureaucratically effective contributes to the uncertainty of daily life in detention and is often the source of considerable criticism and unease Denial and familiarity are embodied and localized activities whose pains and contradictions inhere in concrete relationships Tracking People Anthea Hucklesby,Raymond Holt,2023-08-30 Tracking technologies are now ubiquitous and are part of many people s everyday lives Large sections of the population voluntarily use devices and apps to track fitness medical conditions sleep vital signs or their own or others whereabouts Governments health services immigration and criminal justice agencies increasingly rely upon tracking technologies to monitor individuals whereabouts behaviour medical conditions and interventions Despite the human rights concerns of some organisations and individuals most wearers and their significant others tend to welcome the technologies This paradox is only one of the many fascinating challenges raised by the widespread use of tracking technologies which are explored in this book This book critically explores the ethical legal social and technical issues arising from the current and future use of tracking technologies It provides a unique and wide ranging discussion via a cross disciplinary collection of essays on issues relating to technological devices and apps whose use is imposed upon wearers or suggested by others whether agencies or individuals including in the domains of criminal justice terrorism and health and social care Contributions from leading academics from across social sciences engineering computer and data science philosophy and health and social care address the diverse uses of tracking technologies including with individuals with dementia defendants and offenders individuals with mental health conditions and drug users alongside legal ethical and normative questions about the appropriate use of these technologies Cross disciplinary themes emerge focusing on both the benefits of the technologies freedom improved safety security well being and autonomy and increased capacity of and efficiencies for public services and the challenges implementation and operational costs mission creep privacy concerns stigmatisation whether the technologies work as expected and useability and wearability for all wearers This book is essential reading for academics and students engaged in criminology criminal justice socio legal studies science and technology studies medicine health and social care psychology engineering computer and data science philosophy social policy and social work and security studies It will also be of great interest to policy makers regulators practitioners already deploying or considering using tracking technologies and to current and potential wearers Financial Management in the Home Office Great Britain. National Audit Office,2009 The Home Office has made substantial improvements in its financial management since 2006 when the Comptroller and Auditor General disclaimed an opinion on its 2004 05 Resource Accounts Further sustained improvement will still be needed over the next few years so that good financial management becomes business as usual across all of the Department s operations which will help the Department maximise the value for money of its service delivery The Department has increased the number of professionally qualified finance staff particularly in senior finance roles and has improved financial governance and leadership Improvements are also evident in the Department s financial planning and decision making budgeting financial monitoring and forecasting and financial reporting The unqualified audit opinion on its 2007 08 Resource Accounts was an important symbol of the progress made There are areas for further improvement The strategic management of the Department s capital programme has not been responsive enough to avoid large underspends which amounted to 725 million over the 5 years to 31 March 2008 The Treasury has capped access to these funds at 292 million and the Department will need to deliver on the plans it has in place to use them by 2010 11 The Department also needs to develop further its understanding of the cost of its activities and the relationship between resource consumption and service outcomes The Department recognises these issues and has been undertaking work with the aim of improving capital programme management and the basis on which decisions are made for funding allocations The Law and Economics of Enforcing European Consumer Law Franziska Weber,2016-03-03 In the internet age the need for effective consumer law enforcement has arguably never been greater This timely book is a comparative law and economic analysis of the changing landscape of EU consumer law enforcement policy EU member states are moving away from purely public or private law enforcement and now appear to be moving towards a more mixed approach not least due to European legislation This book reflects on the need for and creation of efficient enforcement designs It examines the various economic factors according to which the efficiency of different enforcement mechanisms can be assessed Hypothetical case scenarios within package travel and misleading advertising dealing with substantial individual harm and trifling and widespread harm are used to illustrate various consumer law problems Design suggestions on how to optimally mix enforcement mechanisms for these case scenarios are developed The findings are then used as a benchmark to assess real life situations in countries with different enforcement traditions the Netherlands Sweden and England The book is of value to both researchers and policy makers working in the area of consumer protection

Digital Era Governance Patrick Dunleavy,Helen Margetts,Simon Bastow,Jane Tinkler,2008-06-19 Government information systems are big business costing over 1 per cent of GDP a year They are critical to all aspects of public policy and governmental operations Governments spend billions on them for instance the UK alone commits 14 billion a year to public sector IT operations Yet governments do not generally develop or run their own systems instead relying on private sector computer services providers to run large long run contracts to provide IT Some of the biggest companies in the world IBM EDS Lockheed Martin etc have made this a core market The book shows how governments in some countries the USA Canada and Netherlands have maintained much more effective policies than others in the UK Japan and Australia It shows how public managers need to retain and develop their own IT expertise and to carefully maintain well contested markets if they are to deliver value for money in their dealings with the very powerful global IT industry This book describes how a critical aspect of the modern state is managed or in some cases mismanaged It will be vital reading for public managers IT professionals and business executives alike as well as for students of modern government business and information studies
