Gilgamesh Joan London:

Gilgamesh Joan London, 2004 This rich spare and evocative debut novel of encounters and escapes of friendship and love of loss and acceptance marks the emergence of a world class talent

Gilgamesh Joan London, 2002 This is a magnificent book a story of encounters and escapes of friendship and love of loss and acceptance It is full of sparsely depicted but fully fleshed characters and the wide sweep of history It is 1937 On a tiny farm in the town of Nunderup in far southwestern Australia seventeen year old Edith lives with her sister Frances and their mother a beautiful woman who lives mostly in her own mind after the sudden death of Frances and Edith's father One afternoon two men Edith's cousin Leopold and his Armenian friend Aram arrive taking the long way home from an archaeological dig in Iraq Among the tales they tell is the story of Gilgamesh the legendary king of Uruk in ancient Mesopotamia Gilgamesh's great journey of mourning after the death of his friend Enkidu and his search for the secret of eternal life is to resonate throughout Edith's life opening up the possibility of a life beyond the hardscrabble farm life of her village When they leave Leopold to return to London and Aram to Armenia the house feels suddenly empty and Edith misses them fervently Two years later in 1939 Edith sets out on a journey of her own bringing with her the young son she and Aram conceived whom he does not know about Motherhood has clarified Edith she has become single minded unwilling to swerve from her path no matter what social mores or practical limitations are put in her way When she is sent to a birthing house to bear Jim and believes they plan to adopt him out against her will she sneaks out at dawn and takes him home She raises him alone under her sister's disapproving eye and despite the patronizing of Madge Tehoe her employer at the Sea House hotel When Madge's brother in law Ronnie comes to visit he tells Edith how easy he has found it to make a life traveling around the world She finds out how much she'd need to get started and begins hoarding tips and quietly stealing small sums and useful objects from guests and the hotel Edith believes that if she can get to Armenia she and Aram will find each other She catches a ship to London where she gets to know Irina Leopold's mother Leopold himself is off at another dig Irina tries to dissuade her from going to Armenia but soon Edith boards the Orient Express in Paris for Armenia On board she and Jim are curiosities a single woman and a toddler traveling alone A wealthy old man known only famously as Mr Five Percent for the five percent share he has in various aspects of Armenia's international trade attempts to seduce her in his compartment but she escapes and is befriended by Hagop a textile trader who was made partially lame when his music school was bombed in a dispute between Armenian nationalists and the secret police Hagop elects himself as Edith's traveling companion negotiating her into Armenia despite her lack of a visa and finding her transport and a place to stay in Yerevan the capital She moves into the apartment of a famous Armenian poet an old blind woman known only as Tati and becomes her caretaker Hagop and his wife Nevart a beautiful caustic pianist embittered by the ending of her career and being put in a wheelchair by the same explosion in which Hagop was injured Edith remains in Yerevan enrolling Jim in school working herself hard caring for Nevart and Tati enjoying Hagop's companionship and once sleeping with a nightclub owner named Manouk Her responsibilities are eased when Nevart begins singing and playing piano at a hotel nightclub for an audience of Russian soldiers and eventually moves into the hotel full time But in January 1943 things start to become more dangerous Germany and Russia are locked in combat and Yerevan is increasingly tense with informers and surveillance In the first months of 1944 Nevart kills herself and simultaneously Hagop informs Edith and Jim they must leave that they are no longer protected from the secret police He picks them up on the street then

The Planetary Turn Amy J. Elias,Christian Moraru,2015-04-30 A groundbreaking essay collection that pursues the rise of geoculture as an essential framework for arts criticism The Planetary Turn shows how the planet as a territory a sociopolitical arena a natural space of interaction for all earthly life and an artistic theme is increasingly the conceptual and political dimension in which twenty first century writers and artists picture themselves and their work In an introduction that comprehensively defines the planetary model of art culture and cultural aesthetic interpretation the editors explain how the living planet is emerging as distinct from older concepts of globalization cosmopolitanism and environmentalism and is becoming a new ground for exciting work in contemporary literature visual and media arts and social humanities Written by internationally recognized scholars the twelve essays that follow illustrate the unfolding of a new vision of potential planetary community that retools earlier models based on the nation state or political blocs and reimagines cultural political aesthetic and ethical relationships for the post Cold War era Reading the Past Across Space and Time Brenda Deen

Schildgen,Ralph Hexter,2017-03-02 Featuring leading scholars in their fields this book examines receptions of ancient and early modern literary works from around the world China Japan Ancient Maya Ancient Mediterranean Ancient India Ancient Mesopotamia that have circulated globally across time and space from East to West North to South South to West Beginning with the premise of an enduring and revered cultural past the essays go on to show how the circulation of literature through translation and other forms of reception in fact long predates modern global society the idea of national literary canons have existed just over a hundred years and emerged with the idea of national educational curricula Highlighting the relationship of culture and politics in which canons are created translated promulgated and preserved this book argues that such nationally defined curricula were challenged by critics and writers in the wake of the Second World War Ancient Epic Katherine

Callen King, 2012-02-20 Ancient Epic offers a comprehensive and accessible introduction to six of the greatest ancient epics Homer's Iliad and Odyssey Vergil's Aeneid Ovid's Metamorphoses and Apollonius of Rhodes' Argonautica Provides an accessible introduction to the ancient epic Offers interpretive analyses of poems within a comprehensive historical context Includes a detailed timeline suggestions for further readings and an appendix of the Olympian gods and their Akkadian counterparts Approaches to World Literature Joachim Küpper, 2013-12-20 The present volume introduces new considerations on the topic of World Literature penned by leading representatives of the discipline from the United States India Japan the Middle East England France and Germany The essays revolve around the question of what specifically in today's rapidly globalizing world may be the productive implications of the concept of World Literature which was first developed in the 18th century and then elaborated on by Goethe The discussions include problems such as different script systems with varying literary functions as well as questions addressing the relationship between ethnic self description and cultural belonging The contributions result from a conference that took place at the Dahlem Humanities Center Freie Universität Berlin in 2012 After The Celebration Ken Gelder, Paul Salzman, 2009-01-01 After the Celebration explores

Australian fiction from 1989 to 2007 after Australia's bicentenary to the end of the Howard government In this literary history Ken Gelder and Paul Salzman combine close attention to Australian novels with a vivid depiction of their contexts cultural social political historical national and transnational From crime fiction to the postmodern colonial novel from Australian grunge to rural apocalypse fiction from the Asian diasporic novel to the action blockbuster Gelder and Salzman show how Australian novelists such as Frank Moorhouse Elizabeth Jolley Peter Carey Kim Scott Steven Carroll Kate Grenville Tim Winton Alexis Wright and many others have used their work to chart our position in the world The literary controversies over history identity feminism and gatekeeping are read against the politics of the day Provocative and compelling After the Celebration captures the key themes and issues in Australian fiction where we have been and what we have become

Westerly, 2006 Contemporary Australian Literature Nicholas Birns, 2015-12-01 Australia has been seen as a land of both punishment and refuge Australian literature has explored these controlling alternatives and vividly rendered the landscape on which they transpire Twentieth century writers left Australia to see the world now Australia's distance no longer provides sanctuary But today the global perspective has arrived with a vengeance In Contemporary Australian Literature A World Not Yet Dead Nicholas Birns tells the story of how novelists poets and critics from Patrick White to Hannah Kent from Alexis Wright to Christos Tsiolkas responded to this condition With rancour concern and idealism modern Australian literature conveys a tragic sense of the past yet an abiding vision of the way forward Birns paints a vivid picture of a rich Australian literary voice one not lost to the churning of global markets but in fact given new life by it Contrary to the despairing of the critics Australian literary identity continues to flourish And as Birns finds it is not one thing but many In this remarkable bold and fearless book Nicholas Birns contests how literary cultures are read how they are constituted and what they stand for In examining the nature of the barriers between public and private utterance and looking outside the absurdity of the rules of genre Birns has produced a redemptive analysis that leaves hope for revivifying a world not yet dead John Kinsella Brick, 2003 Australian Classics Jane Gleeson-White, 2010 What are the classic works of Australian literature And what can they tell us about ourselves and the land we live in Providing a selected overview of Australia s greatest literature Australian Classics is an accessible companion to our literature and a story of writing in Australia from the nineteenth century to the present Australian Class Going Places Robert Burgin, 2013-01-08 Successfully navigate the rich world of travel narratives and identify fiction and nonfiction read alike with this detailed and expertly constructed guide Just as savvy travelers make use of guidebooks to help navigate the hundreds of countries around the globe smart librarians need a guidebook that makes sense of the world of travel narratives Going Places A Reader s Guide to Travel Narratives meets that demand helping librarians assist patrons in finding the nonfiction books that most interest them It will also serve to help users better understand the genre and their own reading interests The book examines the subgenres of the travel narrative genre in its seven chapters categorizing and describing approximately 600 titles according to genres and broad reading interests and identifying hundreds of other fiction and nonfiction titles as read alike and related reads by shared key topics The author has also identified award winning titles and spotlighted further resources on travel lit making this work an ideal guide for readers advisors as well a book general readers will enjoy browsing Ararat, 2003 Hell in Contemporary Literature Rachel Falconer, 2019-07-29 This book explores the idea that modern Western secular cultures have retained a belief in the concept of Hell as an event or experience of endless or unjust suffering Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend Dr Donna Coates, 2023-11-01 War is traditionally considered a male experience By extension the genre of war literature is a male dominated field and the tale of the battlefield remains the privileged and only canonised war story In Australia although women have written extensively about their wartime experiences their voices have been distinctively silenced Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend calls for a re definition of war literature to include the numerous voices of women writers and further recommends a re reading of Australian national literatures with women s war writing foregrounded to break the hold of a male dominated literary tradition and pass on a vital but unexplored women s tradition Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend examines the rich body of World Wars I and II and Vietnam War literature by Australian women providing the critical attention and treatment that they deserve Donna Coates records the reaction of Australian women writers to these conflicts illuminating the complex role of gender in the interpretation of war and in the cultural history of twentieth century Australia By visiting an astonishing number of unfamiliar non canonical texts Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend profoundly alters our understanding of how Australian women writers have interpreted war especially in a nation where the experience of colonising a frontier has spawned enduring myths of identity and statehood
