Ceramics in America 2010 Robert Hunter, Robert R. Hunter, Luke Beckerdite, 2010 Now in its tenth year of publication Ceramics in America is considered the journal of record for historical ceramic scholarship in the American context The 2010 issue which is intended to be a companion to the 2009 volume will expand the discussion of the Moravian story by presenting a series of groundbreaking articles on other major centers of slipware production in the piedmont region of North Carolina Setting a new standard for American ceramic studies this transdisciplinary effort draws on archaeology art history religion ceramics technology and many other areas of inquiry resulting in a substantively revised history of this much admired North Carolina pottery tradition Many examples of highly decorative slipware and intriguing figural bottles are illustrated here for the first time with the precise color photography of Gavin Ashworth The 2009 and 2010 Ceramics in America journals are centered on the traveling exhibit Art in Clay Masterworks of North Carolina Earthenware a ground breaking exhibit that features masterfully decorated slipware sculptural bottles refined creamware and faience that are but part of the rich artistic legacy of North Carolina s first earthenware potters Art in Clay Masterworks of North Carolina Earthenware Exhibition Schedule The Milwaukee Art Museum September 2 2010 January 17 2011 Old Salem Museums Gardens March 2011 August 2011 Colonial Williamsburg Foundation September 26 2011 June 24 2012 Minerals Yearbook Metals and Minerals

2010 Volume I , Ceramics in the Victorian Era Rachel Gotlieb, 2023-06-29 This book broadens the discussion of pottery and china in the Victorian era by situating them in the national imperial design reform and domestic debates between 1840 and 1890 Largely ignored in recent scholarship Ceramics in the Victorian Era Meanings and Metaphors in Painting and Literature argues that the signification of a pot a jug or a tableware pattern can be more fully discerned in written and painted representations Across five case studies the book explores a rhetoric and set of conventions that developed within the representation of ceramics emerging in the late 18th century and continuing in the Victorian period Each case study begins with a textual passage exemplifying the outlined theme and closes with an object analysis to demonstrate how the fusing of text image and object are critical to attaining the period eye in order to better understand the metaphorical meanings of ceramics Essential reading not only for ceramics scholars but also those of material culture the book mines the rich and diverse archive of Victorian painting and literature from the avant garde to the sentimental from the well known to the more obscure to shed light on the at once complex and simple implications of ceramics agencies at this time

Minerals Yearbook , 2013 Ceramics of Ancient America Yumi Park Huntington, Dean E. Arnold, Johanna Minich, 2018-09-12 This is the first volume to bring together archaeology anthropology and art history in the analysis of pre Columbian pottery While previous research on ceramic artifacts has been divided by these three disciplines this volume shows how integrating these approaches provides new understandings of many different aspects of Ancient American societies Contributors from a variety of backgrounds in these fields explore what ceramics can reveal about ancient social dynamics trade ritual politics innovation iconography and regional styles Essays identify supernatural and humanistic beliefs through formal analysis of Lower Mississippi Valley Great Serpent effigy vessels and Ecuadorian depictions of the human figure They discuss the cultural identity conveyed by imagery such as Andean head motifs and they analyze symmetry in designs from locations including the American Southwest Chapters also take diachronic approaches methods that track change over time to ceramics from Mexico s Tarascan State and the Valley of Oaxaca as well as from Maya and Toltec societies This volume provides a much needed multidisciplinary synthesis of current scholarship on Ancient American ceramics It is a model of how different research perspectives can together illuminate the relationship between these material artifacts and their broader human culture Contributors Dean Arnold George J Bey III Michael Carrasco David Dye James Farmer Gary Feinman Amy Hirshman Yumi Park Huntington Johanna Minich Shelia Pozorski and Thomas Pozorski Jeff Price Sarahh Scher Dorothy Washburn Robert F Wald Advances in Ceramic Matrix Composites I M Low,2014-02-14

Hague,Karen Lipsedge,2021-09-17

The eighteenth century home in terms of its structure design function and furnishing was a site of transformation of spaces identities and practices Home has myriad meanings and although the eighteenth century in the common imagination is often associated with taking tea on polished mahogany tables a far wider world of experience remains to be introduced At Home in the Eighteenth Century brings together factual and fictive texts and spaces to explore aspects of the typical Georgian home that we think we know from Jane Austen novels and extant country houses while also engaging with uncharacteristic and underappreciated aspects of the home At the core of the volume is the claim that exploring eighteenth century domesticity from a range of disciplinary vantage points can yield original and interesting questions as well as reveal new answers Contributions from the fields of literature history archaeology art history heritage studies and material culture brings the home more sharply into focus In this way At Home in the Eighteenth Century reveals a more nuanced and fluid concept of the eighteenth century home and becomes a steppingstone to greater understanding of domestic space for undergraduate level and beyond
