The Cambridge Companion to Historical Archaeology Dan Hicks, Mary C. Beaudry, 2006-10-26 The Cambridge Companion to Historical Archaeology provides an overview of the international field of historical archaeology c AD 1500 to the present through seventeen specially commissioned essays from leading researchers in the field The volume explores key themes in historical archaeology including documentary archaeology the writing of historical archaeology colonialism capitalism industrial archaeology maritime archaeology cultural resource management and urban archaeology Three special sections explore the distinctive contributions of material culture studies landscape archaeology and the archaeology of buildings and the household Drawing on case studies from North America Europe Australasia Africa and around the world the volume captures the breadth and diversity of contemporary historical archaeology considers archaeology's relationship with history cultural anthropology and other periods of archaeological study and provides clear introductions to alternative conceptions of the field This book is essential reading for anyone studying or researching the material remains of the recent past

Ceramics of Ancient America Yumi Park Huntington, Dean E. Arnold, Johanna Minich, 2018-09-12 This is the first volume to bring together archaeology anthropology and art history in the analysis of pre Columbian pottery While previous research on ceramic artifacts has been divided by these three disciplines this volume shows how integrating these approaches provides new understandings of many different aspects of Ancient American societies Contributors from a variety of backgrounds in these fields explore what ceramics can reveal about ancient social dynamics trade ritual politics innovation iconography and regional styles Essays identify supernatural and humanistic beliefs through formal analysis of Lower Mississippi Valley Great Serpent effigy vessels and Ecuadorian depictions of the human figure They discuss the cultural identity conveyed by imagery such as Andean head motifs and they analyze symmetry in designs from locations including the American Southwest Chapters also take diachronic approaches methods that track change over time to ceramics from Mexico's Tarascan State and the Valley of Oaxaca as well as from Maya and Toltec societies This volume provides a much needed multidisciplinary synthesis of current scholarship on Ancient American ceramics It is a model of how different research perspectives can together illuminate the relationship between these material artifacts and their broader human culture Contributors Dean Arnold George J. Hague, Karen Lipsedge, 2021-09-17 The eighteenth century home in terms of its structure design function and furnishing was a site of transformation of spaces identities and practices Home has myriad meanings and although the eighteenth century in the common imagination is often associated with taking tea on polished mahogany tables a far wider world of experience remains to be introduced At Home in the Eighteenth Century brings together factual and fictive texts and spaces to explore aspects of the typical Georgian home that we think we know from Jane Austen novels and extant country houses while also engaging with uncharacteristic and underappreciated aspects of the home At the core of the volume is the claim that exploring eighteenth century domesticity from a range of disciplinary vantage points can yield original and interesting questions as well as reveal new answers Contributions from the fields of literature history archaeology art history heritage studies and material culture brings the home more sharply into focus In this way At Home in the Eighteenth Century reveals a more nuanced and fluid concept of the eighteenth century home and becomes a steppingstone to greater understanding of domestic space for undergraduate level and beyond New Directions in Ceramics Jo Dahn, 2016-03-31 New Directions in Ceramics explores and responds to contemporary ceramists use of innovative modes of practice investigating how change is happening and interpreting key works Jo Dahn provides an overview of the current ceramics landscape identifying influential exhibitions events and publications to convey a flavour of debates at a time when much about the character of ceramics is in a state of flux What non traditional activities does the term ceramics now encompass How have these practices developed and how have they been accommodated by institutions in Britain and internationally Work by a wide range of ceramists including Edmund de Waal Nina Hole Clare Twomey Keith Harrison Alexandra Engelfriet Linda Sormin Walter McConnell and Phoebe Cummings is considered Following an extended introduction on ceramics in critical discourse chapters on performance installation raw clay and figuration each provide an introductory overview to the area under discussion with a closer examination of work by key ceramists and illustrations of relevant examples The interplay of actions and ideas is a central concern critical and cultural contexts are woven into the account throughout and dialogues with practitioners provide a privileged insight into thought processes as well as studio activities

Pots, Pans, and People: Material Culture and Nature in Mesoamerican Ceramics Eduardo Williams, 2024-07-19 This book explores material culture and human adaptations to nature over time with a focus on ceramics The author also explores the role of ethnoarchaeology and ethnohistory as key elements of a broad research strategy that seeks to understand human interaction with nature over time

The Archaeology of Villages in Eastern North America Jennifer Birch, Victor D. Thompson, 2018-09-17 The emergence of village societies out of hunter gatherer groups profoundly transformed social relations in every part of the world where such communities formed Drawing on the latest archaeological and historical evidence this volume explores the development of villages in eastern North America from the Late Archaic period to the eighteenth century Sites analyzed here include the Kolomoki village in Georgia Mississippian communities in Tennessee palisaded villages in the Appalachian Highlands of Virginia and Iroquoian settlements in New York and Ontario Contributors use rich data sets and contemporary social theory to describe what these villages looked like what their rules and cultural norms were what it meant to be a villager what cosmological beliefs and ritual systems were held at these sites and how villages connected with each other in regional networks They focus on how power dynamics played out at the local level and among interacting communities Highlighting the similarities and differences in the histories of village formation in the region these essays trace the processes of negotiation cooperation and competition that arose as part of village life and changed societies This volume shows how studying these village communities helps archaeologists better understand the forces behind human cultural change

Global Objects Edward S. Cooke, Jr., 2022-10-04 A bold reorientation of art history that bridges the divide between fine art and material culture through an examination of objects and their uses Art history is often viewed through cultural or national lenses that define some works as fine art while relegating others to the category of craft Global Objects points the way to an interconnected history of art examining a broad array of functional aesthetic objects that transcend geographic and temporal boundaries and challenging preconceived ideas about what is and is not art Avoiding traditional binaries such as East versus West and fine art versus decorative art Edward Cooke looks at the production consumption and circulation of objects made from clay fiber wood and nonferrous base metals Carefully considering the materials and process of making and connecting process to product and people he demonstrates how objects act on those who look at use and acquire them He reveals how objects retain aspects of their local fabrication while absorbing additional meanings in subtle and unexpected ways as they move through space and time In emphasizing multiple centers of art production amid constantly changing contexts Cooke moves beyond regional histories driven by geography nation state time period or medium Beautifully illustrated Global Objects traces the social lives of objects from creation to purchase and from use to experienced meaning charting exciting new directions in art history
