Advancements in Clinical Research Mieczyslaw Pokorski, 2016-10-27 The book presents current progress in clinical practice and research particularly involving pulmonary diseases Chapters tackle a variety of topics including a search for potential biomarkers of lung tumors sleep disordered breathing neurogenic lung dysfunction community acquired and nosocomial respiratory infections developing in the chronically ill mechanisms of hypoxia sensing and the reasons for frequent visits to primary care facilities causing an ever increasing costs for caregivers and society Identifying molecular markers expressed in tumors rather than histological stratification of cancer type forms a rapidly evolving basis of precision medicine with the hope of a future development of targeted treatment Creative ideas drive basic research that spurs innovations that in turn when translated into clinical applications lay the foundation of breakthroughs hopefully leading to increased longevity and better quality of life This book is intended for healthcare professionals particularly pulmonologists primary care physicians and other specialists involved in the management of patients Cerebral Vasospasm Robert H. Wilkins, 1988 Angioplasty, Various Techniques and Challenges in Treatment of Congenital and Acquired Vascular Stenoses Thomas Forbes, 2012-03-14 The field of performing transcatheter interventions to treat vascular lesions has exploded over the past 20 years Not only has the technology changed especially in the arena of balloon stent devices but the techniques of approaching complex lesions has evolved over the past decade Lesions that no one would have imagined treating back in the 1990s are now being done routinely in the catheterization suite This book provides an update on the current techniques and devices used to treat a wide variety of lesions Though at first the outward appearance of the topics appears to be varied they are all related by the common thread of treating vascular lesions We hope by publishing this book to accomplish two things First to offer insight from experts in their field to treat both medically and procedurally complex vascular lesions that we frequently encounter Secondly we hope to promote increased communication between areas of medicine that frequently don't communicate between adult interventional cardiologists pediatric interventional cardiologists interventional radiologists and neurosurgeons Much can be learned from our respective colleagues in these areas which can further our own world of interventions
