Critical Infrastructure Protection United States. Government Accountability Office,2008 The nation s critical infrastructure sectors such as public health energy water and transportation rely on computerised information and systems to provide services to the public To fulfil the requirement for a comprehensive plan including cyber aspects the Department of Homeland Security DHS issued a national plan in June 2006 for the sectors to use as a road map to enhance the protection of critical infrastructure Lead federal agencies referred to as sector specific agencies are responsible for co ordinating critical infrastructure protection efforts such as the development of plans that are specific to each sector This book determines if these sector specific plans address key aspects of cyber security including cyber assets key vulnerabilities vulnerability reduction efforts and recovery plans To accomplish this the authors analysed each sector specific plan against criteria that were developed on the basis of DHS guidance This book is an excerpted and indexed edition Critical

Infrastructure Protection United States. Government Accountability Office,2012 Natural disasters such as Hurricane Katrina and terrorist attacks such as the 2005 bombings in London highlight the importance of protecting CIKR assets and systems vital to the economy or health of the nation DHS issued the NIPP in June 2006 updated in 2009 to provide the approach for integrating the nation s CIKR Because the private sector owns most of the nation s CIKR for example energy production facilities DHS encourages asset owners and operators to voluntarily participate in surveys or vulnerability assessments of existing security measures at those assets This includes nationally significant CIKR that DHS designates as high priority In response to a request this report assesses the extent to which DHS has 1 taken action to conduct surveys and assessments among high priority CIKR 2 shared the results of these surveys and assessments with asset owners or operators and 3 assessed the effectiveness of surveys and assessments and identified actions taken if any to improve them GAO among other things reviewed laws analyzed data identifying high priority assets and activities performed from fiscal years 2009 through 2011 and interviewed DHS officials GAO recommends that among other things DHS develop plans for its efforts to improve the collection and organization of data and the timeliness of survey and assessment results and gather and act upon additional information from asset owners and operators about why improvements were or were not made DHS concurred with the recommendations

Commercial Facilities Protection and Homeland Security Frank R. Spellman, 2019-08-28 The thirteenth of a well received and highly acclaimed series on critical infrastructure Commercial Facilities Protection and Homeland Security is intended to help law enforcement security specialists managers and anyone involved in protecting commercial facilities handle the security threats that they deal with on a daily basis The Commercial Services sector includes a diverse range of sites that draws large crowds of people for shopping business entertainment or lodging Facilities within this sector operate on the principle of open public access meaning that the general public can move freely without the deterrent of obstructive security barriers The majority of these facilities are privately owned and operated with minimal interaction with the federal government and other regulatory agencies Since these facilities are not subject to the same security measures as an airport or an government building they are a terrorist s dream Commercial Facilities Protection and Homeland Security gives clear and straightforward guidelines on improving the security and the resilience of the commercial services sector Readers will determine how to assess risk identify assets implement protective programs create an emergency response plan and much more

Critical Infrastructure Protection in Homeland Security Ted G. Lewis, 2014-11-10 excellent for use as a text in information assurance or cyber security courses I strongly advocate that professors examine this book with the intention of using it in their programs Computing Reviews com March 22 2007 The book is written as a student textbook but it should be equally valuable for current practitioners this book is a very worthwhile investment Homeland Security Watch August 17 2006 While the emphasis is on the development of policies that lead to successful prevention of terrorist attacks on the nation s infrastructure this book is the first scientific study of critical infrastructures and their protection The book models the nation s most valuable physical assets and infrastructure sectors as networks of nodes and links It then analyzes the network to identify vulnerabilities and risks in the sector combining network science complexity theory modeling and simulation and risk analysis The most critical components become the focus of deeper analysis and protection This approach reduces the complex problem of protecting water supplies energy pipelines telecommunication stations Internet and Web networks and power grids to a much simpler problem of protecting a few critical nodes The new edition incorporates a broader selection of ideas and sectors and moves the mathematical topics into several appendices
