Crossing Borders Piet van Boxel, Sabine Arndt, 2009 Crossing Borders tells the intriguing but largely unfamiliar story of the exchange of culture and knowledge between Jews and non Jews in the Muslim and Christian worlds during the late Middle Ages as part of the preparation of Hebrew manuscripts The book is composed of ten narratives each of which brings to light a different aspect of Jewish life in a non Jewish medieval society highlighting the practical cooperation social interaction and religious toleration that was surprisingly common between the groups involved in the early enterprise of book production Alongside the narratives Crossing Borders is beautifully illustrated with images from the Hebrew holdings at the Bodleian Library one of the largest and most important collections of Hebrew manuscripts worldwide The art includes Christian codex fragments from the third century a copy of Moses Maimonides Mishneh Torah signed by Maimonides himself a thirteenth century German Jewish prayer book and lavishly illuminated Spanish Bible manuscripts from the fifteenth century This exquisitely illustrated book takes a fascinating look at the often ignored role of Jews in the written transmission of culture and science throughout medieval Europe Amazon website viewed June 19 2013 Jewish Manuscript Cultures

Irina Wandrey, 2017-12-18 Hebrew manuscripts are considered to be invaluable documents and artefacts of Jewish culture and history Research on Hebrew manuscript culture is progressing rapidly and therefore its topics methods and questions need to be enunciated and reflected upon The case studies assembled in this volume explore various fields of research on Hebrew manuscripts They show paradigmatically the current developments concerning codicology and palaeography book forms like the scroll and codex scribes and their writing material patrons collectors and censors manuscript and book collections illuminations and fragments and last but not least new methods of material analysis applied to manuscripts The principal focus of this volume is the material and intellectual history of Hebrew book cultures from antiquity to the Middle Ages and Early Modern Period its intention being to heighten and sharpen the reader's understanding of Jewish social and cultural history in general Visual Aspects of Scribal Culture in Ashkenaz Ingrid M. Kaufmann, 2019-09-02 The medieval Ashkenazi manuscripts of the Small Book of Commandments Sefer Mitzvot Katan or SeMaK for short which was written by Isaac of Corbeil attest a scribal culture in which rabbinical knowledge and piety were combined with creative freedom in manuscript design This study is concerned with the creation composition and circulation of manuscripts of the SeMaK and concentrates on the book as an artefact The focus of the author's attention is the manuscripts material nature their artistic embellishment and the personal touches that scribes added to them With the act of writing a text and decorating a SeMaK manuscript they appropriated the text so to speak giving it a character of its very own They drew on a visual language in the process or rather on visual languages which occupy a special place between pure writing culture and pure painting culture It was in this area in between the two that spontaneous touches arose ranging from changes in the physical arrangement of the text mise en page to drawings and doodles added in the margins An examination of paratextual elements broadens the reader's knowledge about Jewish scribal culture and grants insights into medieval book art material culture and Judeo-Christian co-existence in the Middle Ages as well as throwing some light on Jewish values, ideals and eschatological hopes

Hillaby, 2013-08-15 Using a wide range of rich original sources this unique reference guide provides a remarkable picture of England's medieval Jewry Following an extensive introduction the dictionary includes illustrations, maps and over 40 topographic, 30 biographic and 80 general entries including texts of key legislation

Practicing Piety in Medieval Ashkenaz Elisheva Baumgarten, 2014-11-07 In the urban communities of medieval Germany and northern France the beliefs, observances and practices of Jews allowed them to create and define their communities on their own terms as well as in relation to the surrounding Christian society Although medieval Jewish texts were written by a learned elite the laity also observed many religious rituals as part of their everyday life In Practicing Piety in Medieval Ashkenaz Elisheva Baumgarten asks how Jews, especially those who were not learned, expressed their belonging to a minority community and how their convictions and deeds were made apparent to both their Jewish peers and the Christian majority Practicing Piety in Medieval Ashkenaz provides a social history of religious practice in context, particularly with regard to the ways Jews and Christians separately and jointly treated their male and female members Medieval Jews often shared practices and beliefs with their Christian neighbors and numerous notions and norms were appropriated by one community from the other By depicting a dynamic interfaith landscape and a diverse representation of believers Baumgarten offers a fresh assessment of Jewish practice and the shared elements that composed the piety of Jews in relation to their Christian neighbors

Cultural Exchange Joseph Shatzmiller, 2017-05-09 Demonstrating that similarities between Jewish and Christian art in the Middle Ages were more than coincidental Cultural Exchange meticulously combines a wide range of sources to show how Jews and Christians exchanged artistic and material culture Joseph Shatzmiller focuses on communities in northern Europe, Iberia and other Mediterranean societies where Jews and Christians coexisted for centuries and he synthesizes the most current research to describe the daily encounters that enabled both societies to appreciate common artistic values Detailing the transmission of cultural sensibilities in the medieval money market and the world of Jewish money lenders this book examines objects pawned by peasants and humble citizens, sacred relics exchanged by the clergy as security for loans and aesthetic goods given up by the Christian well-to-do who required financial assistance The work also explores frescoes and decorations likely painted by non-Jews in medieval and early modern Jewish homes located in Germanic lands and the ways in which Jews hired Christian artists and craftsmen to decorate Hebrew prayer books and create liturgical objects Conversely Christians frequently hired Jewish craftsmen to produce liturgical objects used in Christian churches With rich archival documentation Cultural Exchange sheds light on the social and economic history of the creation of Jewish and Christian art and expands the general understanding of cultural exchange in brand new ways

Contesting Inter-Religious Conversion in the Medieval World Yosi Yisraeli, Yaniv Fox, 2016-12-08. The Mediterranean and its hinterlands were the scene of intensive and transformative contact between cultures in the Middle Ages. From the seventh to the seventeenth century, the three civilizations into which the region came to be divided geographically—the Islamic Khalifate, the Byzantine Empire, and the Latin West—were busily redefining themselves vis-à-vis one another. Interspersed throughout the region were communities of minorities such as Christians in Muslim lands, Muslims in Christian lands, heterodoxical sects, pagans, and, of course, Jews. One of the most potent vectors of interaction and influence between these communities in the medieval world was inter-religious conversion, the process whereby groups or individuals formally embraced a new religion. The chapters of this book explore this dynamic: what did it mean to convert to Christianity in seventh-century Ireland? What did it mean to embrace Islam in tenth-century Egypt? Are the two phenomena comparable on a social, cultural, and legal level? The chapters of the book also ask what we are able to learn from our sources, which at times provide a very culturally charged and specific conversion rhetoric. Taken as a whole, the compositions in this volume set out to argue that inter-religious conversion was a process that was recognizable and comparable throughout its geographical and chronological purview.

Representing Jewish Thought Agata Paluch, 2021-01-18. Representing Jewish Thought originated in the conference convened in honour of Professor Ada Rapoport Albert on the theme of visual representations of Jewish thought from antiquity to the early modern period. The volume encompasses essays on various modes and media of transmitting and re-presenting thought pertinent to Jewish past and present. It explores several approaches to the study of the transmission of ideas in historical sources, zooming in on textual and visual hermeneutics, to material and textual culture, to performative arts. The volume has brought together scholars from different subfields of Jewish Studies, covering thousands of years of Jewish history, who invite further scholarly reflection on the expression, transmission, and organisation of knowledge in Jewish contexts.
