Critical Environmental Social Ecological Ontological Explorations:

Critical Realism, Environmental Learning and Social-Ecological Change Leigh Price, Heila Lotz-Sistka, 2015-12-14
Southern Africa where most of these book chapters originate has been identified as one of regions of the world most at risk of the consequences of environmental degradation and climate change At the same time it is still seeking ways to overcome the century long ravages of colonial and apartheid impositions of structural and epistemic violence Research deliberations and applied research case studies in environmental education and activism from this region provide an emerging contextualized engagement that is related to a wider internationally articulated quest to achieve social ecological justice resilience and sustainability through educational interventions This book introduces a decade of mainly southern African critical realist environmental education research and thinking that asks the question How can we facilitate learning processes that will lead to the flourishing of the Earth s people and ecosystems in more socially just ways The environmental education research topics represented in this book are wide ranging However they all exhibit the common theme of social justice and wanting to create change towards a better future All the authors have used critical realist or critical realist influenced research methodologies Offering contributions from a small but growing community of researchers working with critical realism in the global South this book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners in the areas of environmental education sustainability development and the philosophy of critical realism in general Crisis System Petter Naess, Leigh Price, 2016-06-17 This book throws light onto the nature and causes of three different but strongly interconnected crises in contemporary societies worldwide an economic crisis an ecological crisis and a normative moral and political crisis These crises are reflected in the profoundly inequitable distribution of wealth resources and life opportunities around the world If we follow the causal roots of these crises we are led back to an inherent dynamic in the capitalist economic system itself discursively expressed as neoclassical mainstream economics For instance by conflating human needs with market demand mainstream economics disregards the needs of those who do not have sufficient purchasing power as well as any needs that cannot be quantified or monetised in some way Mainstream economics also ignores the notion of natural limits Furthermore it seems that everything that is quantifiable is potentially for sale and this results in the substitution of nature indigenous cultural traditions and various life forms with commodities and human capital The latter is defined as the skills instrumental for continual economic growth Besides critiquing the academic discipline of economics this book also points to a number of dysfunctional and crisis prone structures and practices of substantive economic life It will be of interest to students and scholars working in philosophy economics and environmental studies An Exploration of Prehistoric Ontologies in the Bering Strait Region Feng Qu, 2021-01-07 This book introduces readers to the belief and symbolism present in the prehistoric art of the Bering Strait region For about a century the archaeology of this area has mainly focused on material economic and technological perspectives leaving studies of prehistoric spirituality religion and cosmology to be under conceptualized This text questions the nature of materiality and the relationship between it and spirituality It employs an analytical and methodological approach located within the frameworks of practice theory and animist ontologies to open up thought provoking avenues for interpretive possibility This book also provides new knowledge about the prehistoric material culture of ancient Inuit people and offers an assessment of contemporary archaeological theories such as cognitive archaeology structural archaeology and shamanism theory in order to examine the reliability of these theories in the studies of prehistoric art According to the ontological trend which has constituted a powerful challenge to traditional nature culture and body mind dichotomies this book reconsiders prehistoric Inuit cultures providing an analysis of therianthropic motifs on prehistoric ivories to explore potential shamanism within ontological and cosmological structures

Enlightened Common Sense Roy Bhaskar, 2016-07-01 Since the 1970s critical realism has grown to address a range of subjects including economics philosophy science and religion It has become a complex and mature philosophy Enlightened Common Sense The Philosophy of Critical Realism looks back over this development in one concise and accessible volume The late Roy Bhaskar was critical realism's philosophical originator and chief exponent He draws on a lifetime's experience to give a definitive systematic account of this increasingly influential international and multidisciplinary approach Critical realism's key element has always been its vindication and deepening of our understanding of ontology Arguing that realist ontology is inexorable in knowledge and action Bhaskar sees this as the key to a new enlightened common sense From the definition of critical realism and its applicability in the social sciences to explanation of dialectical critical realism and the philosophy of metaReality this is the essential introduction for students of critical realism

A Complex Integral Realist Perspective Paul Marshall, 2016-07-01 This book sketches the contours of a vision that moves beyond the dominant paradigm or worldview that underlies and governs modernity and postmodernity It does so by drawing on the remarkable leap in human consciousness that occurred during the Axial Age and on a cross pollination of what are arguably the three most comprehensive integrative metatheories available today Complex thought integral theory and critical realism i e a complex integral realism By deploying the three integrative metatheories this book recounts how the seeds of a number of biases within the Western tradition analytical over dialectical epistemology over ontology presence over absence and exterior over interior were first sown in axial Greece later consolidated in European modernity and then challenged throughout the 20th century It then discusses the remedies provided by the three integrative philosophies remedies that have paved the way for a new vision Outlining a new axial vision for the twenty first century which integrates the best of premodernity modernity and postmodernity within a complex integral realist framework this book will be of interest to students and scholars of the Axial Age critical realism integral theory and complex thought It will also appeal to those interested in a possible integration of the insights and knowledge gleaned by science spirituality and philosophy

Critical Realism, Environmental Learning and Social-Ecological Change Leigh Price, Heila Lotz-Sistka, 2015-12-14 Southern Africa where most of these

book chapters originate has been identified as one of regions of the world most at risk of the consequences of environmental degradation and climate change At the same time it is still seeking ways to overcome the century long ravages of colonial and apartheid impositions of structural and epistemic violence Research deliberations and applied research case studies in environmental education and activism from this region provide an emerging contextualized engagement that is related to a wider internationally articulated quest to achieve social ecological justice resilience and sustainability through educational interventions This book introduces a decade of mainly southern African critical realist environmental education research and thinking that asks the question How can we facilitate learning processes that will lead to the flourishing of the Earth s people and ecosystems in more socially just ways The environmental education research topics represented in this book are wide ranging However they all exhibit the common theme of social justice and wanting to create change towards a better future All the authors have used critical realist or critical realist influenced research methodologies Offering contributions from a small but growing community of researchers working with critical realism in the global South this book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners in the areas of environmental education sustainability development and the philosophy of critical realism in general

Resilience in Social-Ecological Systems Marianne E. Krasny, Cecilia Lundholm, Ryan Plummer, 2013-10-18 Resilience thinking challenges us to reconsider the meaning of sustainability in a world that must constantly adapt in the face of gradual and at times catastrophic change This volume further asks environmental education and resource management scholars to consider the relationship of environmental learning and behaviours to attributes of resilient social ecological systems attributes such as ecosystem services innovative governance structures biological and cultural diversity and social capital Similar to current approaches to environmental education and education for sustainable development resilience scholarship integrates social and ecological perspectives The authors of Resilience in social ecological systems the role of learning and education present a wealth of perspectives integrating theory with reviews of empirical studies in natural resource management and in youth adult and higher education The authors explore the role of education and learning in helping social ecological systems as they respond to change through adaptation and transformation This book also serves to integrate a growing literature on resilience and social learning in natural resources management with research in environmental education and education for sustainable development This book was originally published as a special issue of Environmental Education Research

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism and the Environment Andrew Holden, David A. Fennell, 2013 This handbook explores and critically evaluates the debates and controversies inherent to tourism s relationship with nature especially pertinent at a time of major re evaluation of our relationship with the environment as a consequence of the environmental problems we now face

Metatheory for the Twenty-First Century Roy Bhaskar, Sean Esbjörn-Hargens, Nicholas Hedlund, Mervyn Hartwig, 2015-12-14 Metatheory for the 21st Century is one of the many exciting results of over four years of in depth engagement between two communities of scholar practitioners critical realism and integral theory Building on its origins at a symposium in Luxembourg in 2010 this book examines the points of connection and divergence between critical realism and integral theory arguably two of the most comprehensive and sophisticated contemporary metatheories The Luxembourg symposium and the four more that followed explored the possibilities for their cross pollination culminating in five positions on their potential for integration and began the process of fashioning a whole new evolutionary trajectory for both integral theory and critical realism The contributors to this book bring together critical realism and integral theory in order to explore the potential of this collaboration for the advancement of both Highlighting the ways in which these metatheories can transform scholarship and address the most pressing global issues of the 21st century this book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners in the areas of metatheory philosophy social theory critical realism integral theory and current affairs more generally Structure, Culture and Agency Tom Brock, Mark Carrigan, Graham Scambler, 2016-11-10 Professor Margaret Archer is a leading critical realist and major contemporary social theorist This edited collection seeks to celebrate the scope and accomplishments of her work distilling her theoretical and empirical contributions into four sections which capture the essence and trajectory of her research over almost four decades Long fascinated with the problem of structure and agency Archer's work has constituted a decade long engagement with this perennial issue of social thought However in spite of the deep interconnections that unify her body of work it is rarely treated as a coherent whole This is doubtless in part due to the unforgiving rigour of her arguments and prose but also a byproduct of sociology's ongoing compartmentalisation This edited collection seeks to address this relative neglect by collating a selection of papers spanning Archer's career which collectively elucidate both the development of her thought and the value that can be found in it as a systematic whole This book illustrates the empirical origins of her social ontology in her early work on the sociology of education as well as foregrounding the diverse range of influences that have conditioned her intellectual trajectory the systems theory of Walter Buckley the neo Weberian analysis of Lockwood the critical realist philosophy of Roy Bhaskar and more recently her engagement with American pragmatism and the Italian school of relational sociology What emerges is a series of important contributions to our understanding of the relationship between structure culture and agency Acting to introduce and guide readers through these contributions this book carries the potential to inform exciting and innovative sociological research The Post-Mobile Society Hidenori Tomita, 2016-04-14 With the spread of mobile augmented reality it has become very difficult to consider digital space and physical space independently In this book the authors identify and discuss the state Second Offline which refers to a real world environment whose elements are augmented by virtual information and one in which individuals are constantly referring to the online world Second Offline is observed across a wide range of social contexts and the relationship between superimposed digital online information and physical offline information is increasingly important This book analyses the cooperative relationship between online and offline and also examines situations where there may be a conflict between these realities Furthermore the authors discuss the possibility that in addition to influencing the physical space the digital world actually causes some of the physical world to be lost Offering a discussion of the implications of a post mobile society in which second offline is widespread this edited collection will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners working in sociology mobile media and cultural studies more generally Queer Ecopedagogies Joshua Russell,2021-04-09 This volume builds on the momentum surrounding queer work within environmental education while also encouraging new connections between environmental education research and the growing bodies of literature dedicated to queer deconstructions of categories such as nature environment and animal The book is composed of submissions that engage with existing literature from queer ecology queer theory and various explorations of sexuality and gender within the context of human animal nature relationships The book deepens and diversifies environmental education by providing new theoretical and methodological insights for scholarship and practice across a variety of educational contexts Queer pedagogies provide important critical points of view for educators who seek broader goals centred around social and ecological justice by encouraging counter hegemonic views of bodies nature and community The scope of this book is multi or interdisciplinary in order to cast a wide net around what kinds of spaces relationships and practices are considered educational pedagogical or curricular The volume includes chapters that are conceptual theoretical and empirical Elgar Encyclopedia of Environmental Sociology Christine Overdevest,2024-04-12 The Elgar Encyclopedia of Environmental Sociology serves as a repository of insight on the complex interactions challenges and potential solutions that characterize our shared ecological reality Presenting innovative thinking on a comprehensive range of topics expert scholars researchers and practitioners illuminate the nuances complexities and diverse perspectives that define the continually evolving field of environmental sociology After the Anthropocene Anne Fremaux,2019-03-25 The environmental crisis is the most prominent challenge humanity has ever had to battle with and humanity is currently failing The Anthropocene or so called age of humans is indeed a period when the survival of humanity has never been so much at risk This book locates itself in the field of critical green political theory Fremaux s analysis of the current environmental crisis calls for us to embrace radical shifts in our modes of being or in other words socially progressive innovations that will be described within the unique framework of Green Republicanism In offering a constructive and emancipatory delineation of what could be considered an ecological civilization that is respectful of its natural environment and social differences this book describes how to shift from an arrogant speciesism and materialistic lifestyle to a post anthropocentric ecological humanism focusing on the good life within ecological limits This new political regime calls for a radical reinvention of our societies a decentering of the humans within our metaphysical worldview and a withdrawal of the capitalist technosphere at the benefit of the biosphere It will require a new economic paradigm that replaces the unsustainable capitalist logic of growth by sustainable degrowth and steady economics Rooted in ethical thinking and political philosophy this book seeks to offer a concrete roadmap of how sustainable societies can be fostered

Doing Political Ecology Gregory L. Simon, Kelly Kay, 2024-10-02 Since its inception the field of political ecology has served as a critical hub for inclusive and transformative environmental inquiry Doing Political Ecology offers a distinctive entry point into this ever growing field and argues that our scholarly foundations today more than ever comprise a cross cutting latticework of research approaches and concepts This volume brings together 28 leading scholars from a range of backgrounds and geographies with contributions organized into 18 analytical lenses that highlight different approaches to critical environmental research and ways of seeing nature society interactions The book's contributors engage the breadth and depth of the field recognizing a variety of roots and genealogies and give ample voice to these rich and complementary lineages This inclusive presentation of the field allows diverse theoretical and empirical approaches to intermingle in novel ways Readers will emerge with a wide ranging understanding of political ecology and will attain a diverse toolkit for evaluating human environment interactions Each chapter astutely grounds key methodological theoretical topical and conceptual approaches that animate a range of influential cutting edge and complementary ways of doing political ecology

Human Rights in Language and STEM Education Zehlia Babaci-Wilhite, 2016-03-22 This volume explores the challenges of teaching and learning Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM subjects in local languages and local contexts in a range of countries around the world Many countries around the world including African countries have been largely excluded from the transformation that is going on in STEM pedagogy in the USA where the emphasis is on the importance of language choice and the development of English Language Learner ELL STEM subjects in many parts of the world have been taught in a global language mainly English rather than using a local language and local curriculum This creates pedagogical challenges to the teaching of STEM The contributions to this book review evidence and arguments for the teaching of STEM subjects in local languages and several chapters make this case that this should be considered a human right both in national educational programs and in development aid Working across disciplines and domains has the potential to lead to new understanding and the removal of barriers to progress with the ultimate goal of creating solutions to persistent problems in education Cross disciplinary work in science language and literacy has shown much promise and demonstrated the importance of developing language along with disciplinary knowledge This volume provides a deep dive into this topic with articles by several scholars in the field of language in STEM Jaqueline Barber Director of the Learning Design Group at the Lawrence Hall of Science University of California Berkeley USA In an increasingly technological world STEM Education has become a priority on national agendas and in educational institutions Meaningful access to STEM education can enable or hinder young people from gaining entry into the world of work It is against this backdrop that the edited collection Human Rights and Language in STEM Education needs to be welcomed The various chapters tackle the big questions of access and many others This edited collection is required reading for all those working in STEM and for policy makers who tend to see language and STEM as binaries rather than as interdependent Zubeida Desai Professor and Dean of Education University of the Western Cape South Africa This volume by researchers from 10 countries provides a thought and action provoking multidimensional analysis of issues on the dignity of the use of STEM subjects in local education in the perspective of human rights This book is especially recommended to researchers and education policy makers in such areas as STEM Educational Theory and Praxis Human Rights Future sustainable Development Science and Technology Literacy May it inspire similar volumes in today's politically ebullient world Francisco Gomes de Matos Professor Emeritus of Linguistics human linguistic rights scholar Federal University of Pernambuco Recife Brazil

International Handbook of Early Childhood Education Marilyn Fleer, Bert van Oers, 2017-10-10 This international handbook gives a comprehensive overview of findings from longstanding and contemporary research theory and practices in early childhood education in the Northern and Southern hemispheres The first volume of the handbook addresses theory methodology and the research activities and research needs of particular regions The second volume examines in detail innovations and longstanding programs curriculum and assessment and conceptions and research into child family and communities The two volumes of this handbook address the current theory methodologies and research needs of specific countries and provide insight into existing global similarities in early childhood practices By paying special attention to what is happening in the larger world contexts the volumes provide a representative overview of early childhood education practices and research and redress the current North South imbalance of published work on the subject

Challenging Anthropocene Ontology Elisa Randazzo, Hannah Richter, 2024-04-18 Using the recent turn to ecology as a starting point Hannah Richter and Elisa Randazzo bring ecological thinking into contact with Critical Indigenous Studies in which awareness of the necessity for sustainable relations between humans and non humans has long preceded Western Anthropocene discourse Currently the drastic ecological changes labelled as the Anthropocene not only increasingly shape the political awareness and the priorities of citizens and governments but also inform a large body of social scientific scholarship Indigenous scholarship and practice in particular ecological adaptability is intrinsically related to power structures and political struggle hence indigenous understanding of Anthropocene discourses are intertwined with discourses of colonialism and political contestation This book problematises the depoliticising character of Western Anthropocene discourses in relation to indigenous ecologies The authors reveal how the anti colonial struggles of Indigenous communities and the unequal distribution of responsibilities for and suffering from ecological change are concealed and devalued in Western discourses of the Anthropocene

The Dialectics of Ecology John Bellamy Foster, 2024-04-01 Explores ecological socialism's potential against capitalist environmental degradation Today the fate of the earth as a home for humanity is in question and yet contends John Bellamy Foster the reunification of humanity and the earth remains possible if we are prepared to make revolutionary changes As with his prior books The Dialectics of Ecology is grounded in the contention that we are now faced with a concrete choice between ecological socialism and capitalist exterminism and rooted in insights drawn from the classical historical materialist tradition In this latest work Foster explores the complex theoretical debates that have arisen historically with respect to the dialectics of nature and society He then goes on to examine the current contradictions associated with the confrontation between capitalist extractivism and the financialization of nature on the one hand and the radical challenges to these represented by emergent visions of ecological civilization and planned degrowth on the other The product of contemporary ecosocialist debates The Dialectics of Ecology builds on earlier works by Foster including Marx s Ecology and The Return of Nature aimed at the development of a dialectical naturalism and the formation of a path to sustainable human development
