Disability Politics And Care The Challenge Of Direct Funding:

Disability Politics and Care Christine Kelly, 2016-01-15 Disability Politics and Care examines a provincial direct funding program to illuminate what happens when people with disabilities take control of their own care arrangements In addition to investigating responses from a wide range of stakeholders Christine Kelly reflects on the broader social and political implications of these types of programs She probes the divide that exists between rejections of care by disability activists on the one hand and attempts by feminists to value gendered forms of labour on the other Rather than trying to find common ground between these viewpoints Kelly explores how maintaining a tension between them could positively transform the understanding and practice of care Enlivened by the voices of disabled people attendants and informal supports this book uses one independent living program as a starting point for untangling much larger philosophical theoretical and material questions about self determination inter dependence governance and justice

Disability Alliances and Allies Allison C. Carey, Joan M. Ostrove, Tara Fannon, 2020-11-09 For its breadth and depth of research Disability Alliances and Allies Opportunities and Challenges is essential reading for researchers and students across the social sciences interested in disability social movements activism and identity

The Aging-Disability Nexus Katie Aubrecht, Christine Kelly, Carla Rice, 2020-06-01 As the global population ages disability demographics are shifting Societal transformation and global health inequities have changed who is likely to reach old age who is likely to live with disability and the relationship between aging and disability in various socio cultural and geopolitical contexts The Aging Disability Nexus breaks new ground by bringing gerontology and disability studies into dialogue with each other through a variety of empirical conceptual and pedagogical approaches Contributors explore the tensions that shape the way disability and aging are understood experienced and responded to at both individual and systemic levels while avoiding the common tendency to conflate these overlapping elements and map them onto a normative faulty notion of the human life trajectory This perceptive work analyzes the distinction between aging with a disability and aging into disability and reveals how multiple identities socio economic forces culture and community give form to our experiences

The New Political Economy of Disability Georgia van

Toorn, 2021-02-22 This book addresses the ways in which individualised market based models of disability support provision have been mobilised in and across different countries through cross national investigation of individualised funding IF as an object of neoliberal policy mobility Combining rich theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives with extensive empirical research the book provides a timely examination of the policy processes and mechanisms driving the spread of IF amongst countries at the forefront of disability policy reform It is argued that IF s mobility is not attributable to neoliberalism alone but to the complex intersections between neoliberal and emancipatory agendas and to the transnational networks that have blended the two agendas in new ways in different institutional contexts The book shows how disability rights struggles have synchronised with neoliberal agendas which explains IF s propensity to move and mutate between different jurisdictions

Featuring first hand accounts of the activists and advocates engaged in these struggles the book illuminates the consequences and risks of the dangerous liaisons and political trade offs that seemed necessary to get individualised funding on the policy agenda for disabled people It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in disability studies social policy sociology and political science more generally Mobilizing Metaphor Christine Kelly, Michael Orsini, 2016-11-01

Mobilizing Metaphor illustrates how radical and unconventional forms of activism including art are reshaping the rich and vibrant tradition of disability mobilization in Canada and in the process challenging perceptions of disability and the politics that surround it Until now research on Canadian disability activism has focused on legal and policy spheres and overlooked how disability activism is as varied as the population it represents Mobilizing Metaphor combines contributions by artists activists and academics including an insightful concluding chapter by renowned disability scholar Tanya Titchkoksy with rich illustrations and photographs to reveal how disability art is distinctive as both art and social action As the contributors sketch the shifting contours of disability politics in Canada and show how disability oppression is not isolated from other prejudices they challenge us to re examine how we enact social and political change Not a New Problem Michelle Owen, 2020-07-10T00:00:00Z

Violence in the lives of women with disabilities is not a new problem but it is a problem about which little has been written This gap in our knowledge needs to be addressed as women with disabilities are valuable members of our society whose experiences need to be made known Without such knowledge political action for social justice and for the prevention of violence is impossible Contributors to Not a New Problem examine the experiences of Canadian women with disabilities the need for improved access to services and the ways this violence is exacerbated by and intersects with gender sexuality Indigeneity race ethnicity and class Disability, Normalcy, and the Everyday Gareth M. Thomas, Dikaïos Sakellariou, 2018-03-09

Many critical analyses of disability address important macro concerns but are often far removed from an interactional and micro level focus Written by leading scholars in the field and containing a range of theoretical and empirical contributions from around the world this book focuses on the taken for granted mundane human activities at the heart of how social life is reproduced and how this impacts on the lives of those with a disability family members and other allies It departs from earlier accounts by making sense of how disability is lived mobilised and enacted in everyday lives Although broad in focus and navigating diverse social contexts chapters are united by a concern with foregrounding micro mundane moments for making sense of powerful discourses practices affects relations and world making for disabled people and their allies Using different examples including learning disabilities cerebral palsy dementia polio and Parkinson s disease contributions move beyond a simplified narrow classification of disability which creates rigid categories of existence and denies bodily variation Disability Normalcy and the Everyday should be considered essential reading for disability studies students and academics as well as professionals involved in health and social care With contributions located within new and familiar debates around embodiment stigma gender identity inequality care ethics choice materiality youth and representation this book will be of interest to academics from different disciplinary backgrounds including sociology anthropology humanities public health allied health professions science and technology studies social work and social policy Just Care Akemi Nishida,2022-07-15 Just Care examines care as a site where the somatic the political economy and intersectional social oppressions manifest and materialize interactively while it is also a vision and praxis for radically collective and affectionate ways to live and transform society Home Care Fault Lines Cynthia J.

Cranford,2020-06-15 In this revealing look at home care Cynthia J Cranford illustrates how elderly and disabled people and the immigrant women workers who assist them in daily activities develop meaningful relationships even when their different ages abilities races nationalities and socioeconomic backgrounds generate tension As Cranford shows workers can experience devaluation within racialized and gendered class hierarchies which shapes their pursuit of security Cranford analyzes the tensions alliances and compromises between security for workers and flexibility for elderly and disabled people and she argues that workers and recipients negotiate flexibility and security within intersecting inequalities in varying ways depending on multiple interacting dynamics What comes through from Cranford s analysis is the need for deeply democratic alliances across multiple axes of inequality To support both flexible care and secure work she argues for an intimate community unionism that advocates for universal state funding designs culturally sensitive labor market intermediaries run by workers and recipients to help people find jobs or workers and addresses everyday tensions in home workplaces

Disability and Ageing Ann Leahy,2023-01-10 Establishing a critical and interdisciplinary dialogue this text engages with the typically disparate fields of social gerontology and disability studies It investigates the subjective experiences of two groups rarely considered together in research people ageing with long standing disability and people first experiencing disability with ageing This book challenges assumptions about impairment in later life and the residual nature of the fourth age It proposes that the experience of disability in older age reaches beyond the bodily context and can involve not only a challenge to a sense of value and meaning in life but also ongoing efforts in response Love, Money, Duty Rachel Adams,2025-04-29 From birth to death we care and are cared for by others Yet we rarely acknowledge care except when it fails In Love Money Duty Rachel Adams examines the stories we tell about care those who do the work and those who depend on it These narratives she argues help us better understand our complicated feelings about care and the obligations that come with it Combining insightful and compassionate readings of writers and artists among them Toni Morrison Susan Sontag Roz Chast Sally Mann and Jamaica Kincaid with stories of her own experiences Adams analyzes the work feelings and ethical dilemmas associated with care including unwelcome emotions such as boredom resentment exhaustion and disgust From the universal dependence of infancy to elder care and from the intimacy of home and family to institutions like hospitals nursing facilities and asylums Love Money Duty considers our ambivalence about vulnerability and need and how it is shaped by capitalism race and gender Drawing from moral philosophy gender and queer theory critical race and disability studies and health humanities Adams treats care as a form of work a feeling an ethic and an art Exploring the radical possibilities of care and the devastating consequences of its failure this book invites readers to appreciate care that works recognizing the creativity and resourcefulness of dependent people and their caregivers Care at the End of the World Jina B. Kim, 2025-03-21 In Care at the End of the World Jina B Kim develops what she calls crip of color critique bringing a disability lens to bear on feminist and queer of color literature in the aftermath of 1996 US welfare reform and the subsequent evisceration of social safety nets She examines literature by contemporary feminist queer and disabled writers of color such as Jesmyn Ward Octavia Butler Karen Tei Yamashita Samuel Delany and Aurora Levins Morales who each bring disability and dependency to the forefront of their literary freedom dreaming Kim shows that in their writing liberation does not take the shape of the unfettered individual or hinge on achieving independence Instead liberation emerges by recuperating dependency cultivating radical interdependency and recognizing the numerous support systems upon which survival depends At the same time Kim demonstrates how theories and narratives of disability can intervene into state authored myths of resource parasitism such as the welfare queen In so doing she highlights the alternate structures of care these writers envision and their dreams of life organized around reciprocity and mutual support Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award Women's Health in Canada Marina Morrow, Olena Hankivsky, Colleen Varcoe, 2022-01-27 Women's Health in Canada considers the challenges relating to the conceptualization of women's health While emphasizing the importance of taking an intersectional approach to women's healthcare this book also focuses on the social and structural determinants at play This revised and updated second edition brings together a collection of new chapters and contributors who collectively shed light on the problems and risks involved in perceiving women's healthcare using a strictly gender or sex based lens Contributors foreground an understanding of power as it is mediated through a range of social relations based on gender race culture ethnicity sexuality ability class and geography and the ways in which privilege and oppression intersect to shape health and system responses to health This new edition includes updates on what is currently known about women's health nationally and internationally and situates the chapters in the current Canadian health care and policy context Scholarship is foregrounded in new developments in gender and intersectional health research and policy Collectively this volume explores the important histories and contemporary realities in women's health experiences Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability Katie Ellis, Rosemarie Garland-Thomson, Mike Kent, Rachel Robertson, 2018-12-12 How can a deep engagement with disability studies change our understanding of sociology literary studies gender studies aesthetics bioethics social work law education or history Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability the companion volume to Manifestos for the Future of Critical Disability Studies identifies both the practical and theoretical implications of such an interdisciplinary dialogue and challenges people in disability studies as well as other disciplinary fields to critically reflect on their professional praxis in terms of theory practice and methods Topics covered include interdisciplinary outlooks ranging from media studies games studies education performance history and curation through to theology and immunology Perspectives are drawn from different regions from the European Union to the Global South with chapters that draw on a range of different national backgrounds Our contributors who write as either disabled people or allies do not proceed from a singular approach to disability often reflecting different or even opposing positions The collection features contributions from both established and new voices in international disability studies outlining their own visions for the future of the field Interdisciplinary Approaches to Disability will be of interest to all scholars and students working within the fields of disability studies cultural studies sociology law history and education The concerns raised here are further in Manifestos for the Future of Critical Disability Studies

Unmothering Autism Patty Douglas, 2025-01-15 As global rates of autism diagnosis rise dominant cultural representations continue to define autism as a tragic neurological disorder And mothers as primary caregivers and advocates are centrally implicated in the impulse to find both cause and cure How should we care about autism and autistic people Unmothering Autism emerged from Patty Douglas s desire to understand a contradiction she and her two sons one autistic experienced beauty living together while their public encounters with doctors school professionals and agencies were fraught and sometimes violent In this book Douglas offers a critical history of popular and biomedical assumptions about autism expressed through shifting social constructs that blame or valorize maternal care Throughout she also intersperses her own insights and shares conversations she has had with other autism mothers Unmothering Autism theorizes an ethics of disruption reorienting us to autism and autistic people as valuable and fundamentally human It centres the previously marginalized perspectives of mothers and autistic individuals to affirm their knowledge of living well together in and through difference

Turbulent Times, Transformational Possibilities? Fiona MacDonald, Alexandra Dobrowolsky, 2020-05-12 In Canada and elsewhere recent political economic and social shifts have brought gender to the forefront of politics as never before from gender based analyses and feminist budgets to the MeToo Idle No More and Black Lives Matter movements Detailing these gendered and turbulent political times this book features state of the art scholarship from diverse contributors that encompasses both contemporary challenges as well as avenues for change now and into the future This collection represents a complex treatment of both gender and politics in which gender is examined in light of other collective identities and their intersections and politics refers to both institutional and movement and countermovement politics
