Tornado Alley Howard B. Bluestein, 2006 Tornadoes are the most violent magnificent and utterly unpredictable storms on earth reaching estimated wind speeds of 300 mph and leaving swaths of destruction in their wake In Tornado Alley

Howard Bluestein draws on two decades of experience chasing and photographing tornadoes across the Plains to present a fascinating historical account of the study of tornadoes and the great thunderstorms that spawn them. A century ago tornado warnings were so unreliable that they usually went unreported. Today despite cutting edge Doppler radar technology and computer simulation these storms remain remarkably difficult to study. Leading scientists still conduct much of their research from the inside of a speeding truck and often contend with jammed cameras, flash floods and windshields smashed by hailstones and flying debris. Using over a hundred diagrams, models and his own spectacular color photographs, Bluestein documents the exhilaration of hair-raising encounters with as many as nine tornadoes in one day as well as the crushing disappointment of failed expeditions and ruined equipment. Most of all, he recreates the sense of beauty, mystery and power felt by the scientists who risk their lives to study violent storms. For scientists, amateur weather enthusiasts or anyone who has ever been intrigued or terrified by a darkening sky, Tornado Alley provides not only a history of tornado research but a vivid look into the origin and effects of nature's most dramatic phenomena. They may make great action movies but in real life big disasters are simply tragic. From the beginning, the earth has experienced devastating natural disasters that have resonated today. Humankind has introduced disasters of its own caused by machines and chemicals. Readers will be fascinated to learn of the earthquakes, tornadoes and hurricanes, floods and tsunamis, volcanic eruptions, crashes and sinkings and oil spills and nuclear accidents that have plagued us from ancient to modern times. Sidebars, a glossary and books and websites in the further reading section are also included. The Unthinkable Amanda Ripley, 2009-06-16. Discover how human beings react to danger and what makes the difference between life and death. Today, nine out of ten Americans live in places at significant risk of earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, terrorism or other disasters. Tomorrow, some of us will have to make split-second choices to save ourselves and our families. How will we react? What will it feel like? Will we be heroes or victims? In her quest to answer these questions, award-winning journalist Amanda Ripley traces human responses to some of recent history's epic disasters: from the explosion of the Mont Blanc munitions ship in 1917, one of the biggest explosions before the invention of the atomic bomb, to the journeys of the 15,000 people who found their way out of the World Trade
