Englishes Kingsley Bolton, Braj B. Kachru, 2006 Narration, Navigation, and Colonialism Jamal Eddine Benhayoun, 2006 The texts collected in this book are all produced and located within the converging fields of navigation and displacement The connection between navigation and narration becomes clear when we realise that most of the authors and heroes of the accounts discussed by the author were in one way or another involved in shipping and navigation and that their accounts were produced within fluid and floating spaces and in the course of intriguing voyages and long cruises In all cases these narratives start with the narrators on board ships and end with them once again taking charge of their ships and sailing back home In this book the author argues that the seventeenth and eighteenth century English narratives of adventure and captivity were not produced within clearly demarcated territories and on dry land but within spaces of indeterminacy struggle and transition Discourse Sara Mills, 2006-10-19 Sara Mills offers an accessible and comprehensive analysis of the term discourse and explores the theoretical assumptions underlying it This handy easy to follow pocket guidebook for students provides straightforward working definitions historical developments of the term studied analysis of Michel Foucault discussion of the appropriation of the term discourse by feminist colonial and post colonial discourse theorists examples of literary and non literary texts to illustrate the use of discourse Media Studies Paul Marris, Sue Thornham, 2000-03 Media Studies A Reader provides a thorough introduction to the full range of theoretical perspectives on the mass media from the past thirty years Ranging from the arguments between the American mass communication tradition and the Europe centered Frankfurt School of the 1940s to the analyses of communication technologies by Marshall McLuhan and Raymond Williams in the 1960s Media Studies A Reader maps the mass media field its varied and often conflicting histories and its current debates Sixty five articles provide comprehensive coverage of all the main theorists and approaches The first half Studying the Media explores in detail three core elements of media studies production and regulation of mass media media texts and reception and consumption of media The second half brings

The Politics of Spirit Tim Murphy, 2010-12-28 A penetrating critique of the dominant approach to the study of religion The Politics of Spirit explores the historical and philosophical scaffolding of the phenomenology of religion Although this approach purports to give a value free neutral description of religious data it actually imposes a set of metaphysical and evaluative concepts on that data A very harmful ethnocentrism has resulted which plagues the academic study of religion to this day Analysis of the history core texts and discursive structure of phenomenology of religion reveals how this ethnocentrism is embedded within its assumptions Of particular interest is the revelation of the extent to which Hegel s ideas over those of Husserl contributed to the tenets that became standard in the study of religion Tim Murphy argues that the poststructuralist concept of genealogy as derived from Nietzsche can both describe religion better than the phenomenological approach and avoid the political pitfalls of ethnocentrism by replacing its core categories with the categories of difference contingency and otherness Ultimately Murphy argues that postmodern genealogy should replace phenomenology as the paradigm for understanding both religion and the study of religion

Shaping Claims to Urban Land Fons van Overbeek,2022-10-03 The concept of hybridity is often still poorly theorized and problematically applied by peace and development scholars and researchers of resource governance This book turns to a particular ethnographic reading of Michel Foucault s Governmentality and investigates its usefulness to study precisely those mechanisms processes and practices that hybridity once promised to clarify Claim making to land and authority in a post conflict environment is the empirical grist supporting this exploration of governmentality Specifically in the periphery of Bukavu This focus is relevant as urban land is increasingly becoming scarce in rapidly expanding cities of eastern Congo primarily due to internal rural to urban migration as a result of regional insecurity The governance of urban land is also important analytically as land governance and state authority in Africa are believed to be closely linked and co evolve An ethnographic reading of governmentality enables researchers to study hybridization without biasing analysis towards hierarchical dualities Additionally a better understanding of hybridization in the claim making practices may contribute to improved government intervention and development assistance in Bukavu and elsewhere Turkey, Greece, and the

"Borders" of Europe Douglas Reynolds,2012-10-01 The Republic of Turkey has long aspired to join Europe both politically and culturally However its attempts to do so have been met with scepticism and there is no unequivocal answer to the question of whether or not Turkey is accepted and viewed as European This question is of particular interest in the case of Germany the engine of the European Union s economy which is not only home to millions of Turkish immigrants but also has a history of cooperation with Turkey unique among European countries With its analysis of West German prestige newspapers printed between 1950 and 1975 this study looks into how Germans viewed Turkey from a cultural and political perspective during a critical period of Turkish integration with the West and Europe and compares this with perceptions of Greece whose path to Europe was far less problematic by virtue of its classical legacy and Christian heritage Scribes
