lies between the statuses of insider and outsider in immigrant nations It asks Who is conditionally included excluded in relation to whom and for what reasons What does this conditional inclusion exclusion entail in terms of citizenship material resources and sense of belonging How does it affect the cultural and economic well being of refugees migrants and the host society The focus is on Canada which is often described as the quintessential immigrant nation The chapters in this book provide new insights into several hotly contested issues the overlapping cultural and economic logics of nationalist inclusion exclusion the growing prevalence of temporary and two step migration regimes the importance of cities in managing multiculturalism the need to disaggregate minority groups and the intersections of race class and gender in narratives of nationhood By shifting the focus of research from us them binaries to the study of relational inclusion exclusion involving three or more actors or groups this book highlights the often overlooked conditionality and temporality of immigrant inclusion the messiness of policies aimed at ethnic diversity and the uneven distribution of attitudes among members of minority groups This book will be valuable for scholars students and policymakers in the fields of sociology political science migration studies and Canadian studies The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Nationalism and Ethnic Politics and are accompanied with a new Foreword a comprehensive glossary and critical engagement questions

Canada and the Crown D. Michael Jackson, Philippe Lagassé, 2014-01-01 Stephen Harper's Conservative government has reversed the trend of its predecessors by giving the Crown a higher profile through royal tours publications and symbolic initiatives Based on papers given at a Diamond Jubilee conference on the Crown held in Regina in 2012 Canada and the Crown assesses the historical and contemporary importance of constitutional monarchy in Canada Established and emerging scholars consider the Canadian Crown from a variety of viewpoints including the ways in which the monarch relates to Quebec First Nations the media education Parliament the constitution and the military They also consider a republican option for Canada Editors D Michael Jackson and Philippe Lagassé provide context for the essays summarize and expand on the issues discussed by the contributors and offer a perspective on further study of the Crown in Canada Contributors include Richard Berthelsen Lieutenant Colonel Alexander Bolt Office of the Judge Advocate General James W J Bowden Stephanie Danyluk Whitecap Dakota First Nation Linda Cardinal University of Ottawa Phillip Crawley CEO The Globe and Mail John Fraser Massey College Carolyn Harris University of Toronto Robert E Hawkins University of Regina Ian Holloway University of Calgary Senator Serge Joyal Nicholas A MacDonald Christopher McCreery Office of Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia J R Jim Miller University of Saskatchewan Peter H Russell University of Toronto David E Smith Toronto Metropolitan University and John D Whyte University of Regina

Feminism's Fight Barbara Cameron, Meg Luxton, 2023-06-01 Feminism's Fight explores and assesses feminist strategies to advance gender justice for women through Canadian federal policy over the past fifty years from the 1970 Report of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women to the present The authors evaluate changing government orientations through the 1990s and 2000s revealing the negative impact on most women's lives and the challenges for feminists The COVID 19 pandemic has exacerbated misogyny and related systemic inequalities Yet it has also revived feminist mobilization and animated calls for a new and comprehensive equality agenda for Canada Feminism's Fight tells the crucial story of a transformation in how feminism has been treated by governments and asks how new ways of organizing and new alliances can advance a feminist agenda of social and economic equality

Global Perspectives on the Politics of Multiculturalism in the 21st Century Fethi Mansouri, Boulou Ebanda de B'éri, 2014-06-05 Multiculturalism is now seen by many of its critics as the source of intercultural and social tensions fostering communal segregation and social conflicts While the cultural diversity of contemporary societies has to be acknowledged as an empirical and demographic fact whether multiculturalism as a policy offers an optimal conduit for intercultural understanding and social harmony has become increasingly a matter of polarised public debate This book examines the contested philosophical foundations of multiculturalism and its often controversial applications in the context of migrant societies. It also explores the current theoretical debates about the extent to which multiculturalism and related conceptual constructs can account for the various ethical challenges and policy dilemmas surrounding the management of cultural diversity in our contemporary societies. The authors consider common conceptual and empirical features from a transnational perspective through analysis of the case studies of Australia, Canada, Columbia, Germany, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and Uruguay. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of political science, comparative politics, international studies, multiculturalism, migration, and political sociology.

Immigration, Racial and Ethnic Studies in 150 Years of Canada, 2019-01-21. Canada's history since its birth as a nation one hundred and fifty years ago is one of immigration, nation building, and contested racial and ethnic relations. In Immigration, Racial and Ethnic Studies in 150 Years of Canada: Retrospects and Prospects, scholars provide a wide-ranging overview of this history with a core theme being one of enduring racial and ethnic conflict and inequality. The volume is organized around four themes where in each theme selected racial and ethnic issues are examined critically. Part 1 focuses on the history of Canadian immigration and nation building while Part 2 looks at situating contemporary Canada in terms of the debates in the literature on ethnicity and race. Part 3 revisits specific racial and ethnic studies in Canada and finally in Part 4 a state of the art is provided on immigration and racial and ethnic studies while providing prospects for the future. Contributors are Victor Armony, David Este, Augie Fleras, Peter R. Grant, Shibao Guo, Abdolmohammad Kazemipour, Anne Marie Livingstone, Adina Madularea, Ayesha Mian, Akram Nilum Panesar, Yolande Pottie, Sherman Paul, Pritchard Howard, Ramos Daniel W., Robertson Vic, Satzewich Morton, Weinfeld Rima Wilkes, Lori Wilkinson, Elke Winter, Nelson Wiseman, Lloyd Wong, and Henry Yu.

The Crown and Canadian Federalism, D. Michael Jackson, 2013-08-31. Following Queen Elizabeth II's historic Diamond Jubilee in 2012, there is renewed interest in the institution of the Crown in Canada and the roles of the queen, governor general, and lieutenant governor. Author D. Michael Jackson traces the story of the monarchy and the Crown and shows how they are integral to Canada's parliamentary democracy.

Citizenship and Naturalization among Turkish Skilled Migrants, Deniz Yetkin Aker, 2020-11-10. This study focuses on three main questions: What does citizenship mean for immigrants? Why do some immigrants decide to acquire host countries' citizenship while others do not? Do citizenship and migration policies of countries such as Canada and Germany are related to the decision-making process of immigrants? More specifically, the objective of the study is to investigate high skilled and business Turkish immigrants (HSBTI) who moved to Germany and Canada between 2000 and 2010. It is expected that immigrants' naturalization decisions and conceptualization of citizenship are related to countries' migration and citizenship policy approaches such as restricted or multiculturalist. With respect to high skilled and business Turkish immigrants, this study put forwards the view that host country citizenship and migration policy, whether it is restricted or multicultural, economic, social, and political benefits and costs of host country's citizenship and individuals' conceptualization of citizenship as a sense of belonging or commodity influence their naturalization decisions

Literacy and citizenship took on new and contested meanings in early twentieth century Canada particularly in frontier work camps In this critical history of the reading camp movement Jody Mason undertakes the first sustained analysis of the organization that became Frontier College in 1919 Employing an interdisciplinary approach Home Feelings investigates how the reading camp movement used fiction poetry songs newspapers magazines school readers and English as a second language and citizenship manuals to encourage ideas of selfhood that were individual and intimate rather than collective Mason shows that British Canadian settlers desire to define themselves in relation to an expanding non British immigrant population as well as a need for immigrant labour put new pressure on the concept of citizenship in the first decades of the twentieth century Through the Frontier College one of the nation's earliest citizenship education programs emerged drawing on literature's potential to nourish home feelings as a means of engaging socialist and communist print cultures and the non British immigrant communities with which these were associated Shifting the focus away from urban centres and postwar state narratives of citizenship Home Feelings tracks the importance of reading projects and conceptions of literacy to the emergence of liberal citizenship in Canada prior to the Second World War

Citizenship and Belonging in France and North America Ramona Mielusel, Simona Emilia Pruteanu, 2020-01-09

The first decades of the new millennium have been marked by major political changes Although The West has wished to revisit internal and international politics concerning migration policies refugee status integration secularism and the dismantling of communitarianism events like the Syrian refugee crisis the terrorist attacks in France in 2015 2016 and the economic crisis of 2008 have resurrected concepts such as national identity integration citizenship and re shaping state policies in many developed countries In France and Canada more recent public elections have brought complex democratic political figures like Emmanuel Macron and Justin Trudeau to the public eye Both leaders were elected based on their promising political agendas that aimed at bringing their countries into the new millennium Trudeau promotes multiculturalism while Macron touts the diverse nation and the inclusion of diverse ethnic communities to the national model This edited collection aims to establish a dialogue between these two countries and across disciplines in search of such discursive illustrations and opposing discourses Analyzing the cultural and political tensions between minority groups and the state in light of political events that question ideas of citizenship and belonging to a multicultural nation the chapters in this volume serve as a testimonial to the multiple views on the political and public perception of multicultural practices and their national and international applicability to our current geopolitical context Migrants and the Courts Mr Geoffrey Care, 2013-12-28 Written in a lively and engaging style from the perspective of a leading immigration judge this book examines how states resolve disputes with migrants The chapters reflect on changes in the laws and rules of migration on an international and regional basis and the impact on the parties administration public and judiciary The book is a critical assessment of how the migration tribunal system has evolved over the last century the lessons which have been learnt and those which have not It includes additional comparative contributions by authors on international jurisdictions and is a valuable overview of the evolution and future of the immigration tribunal system which will be of interest to those involved in human rights migration transnational and international law
