The Aftermath of the Bangladesh Liberation War of 1971 by Amit Ranjan, Taj Hashmi, and Mazhar Abbas (2024-09-02) This book analyses the human dimension during and after the Bangladesh Liberation War of 1971. The chapters investigate questions of belonging and being an alien, civil rights and ethnic demands, and broader issues of citizenship and statelessness. The analysis centres around the situation of those who crossed into the Indian side of the border during the Liberation War: the Bengali speaking population who chose Pakistan as their country after the birth of Bangladesh, and stranded Pakistani or Bihari Muslims living in Bangladesh. The book addresses three key questions: how do the modern nation states of India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh categorize citizens based on the narratives of 1971? how the acceptance of certain groups as part of the Indian citizenry affected its concept of belonging and after 1971 how do Pakistan and Bangladesh define who is part of their citizenry and how do so-called aliens negotiate their identity in national debates? A timely contribution to the subject of forced migration, citizenship, and identities in South Asia, edited by three academics with Indian, Pakistani, and Bangladeshi heritage, this book will be of interest to a variety of academics studying the history, politics, and sociology of South Asia.
