Extraction Objets Similaires Simples Image:

Extraction des objets similaires simples dans une image Belhouchet Kenza, 2015-11-02 Notre travail s'intéresse à l'analyse de scène. Il étudie la similarité pouvant exister entre objets d'une image. Afin d'accomplir une telle tâche, nous commençons par extraire les différents objets, nous étudions la similarité par leur classification en utilisant l'algorithme de K-means. Dans ce travail, nous détectons la similarité entre objets par l'application d'une différence de pixels simple entre objets extraits.

Numérisation 3D de bâtiments Raphaële Héno, Laure Chandelier, 2014-05-01 Les bases de données topographiques classiques obtenues par images aériennes ou spatiales fournissent une modélisation 3D simplifiée de notre environnement urbain. Elles répondent aux besoins de nombreuses applications comme l'aménagement, la prévention des risques ou la gestion de la mobilité. Pourtant, lorsqu'il s'agit de représenter et d'analyser des sites plus complexes, monuments, ouvrages d'art, sites archéologiques, etc., elles ne suffisent plus et d'autres moyens d'acquisition et de traitement doivent être mis en œuvre. Numérisation 3D de bâtiments a pour objet l'étude des moyens de levés adaptés aux édifices remarquables pour en restituer les formes avec un niveau de détail optimal. Les méthodes décrites dans cet ouvrage vont de la lasergrammétrie aux techniques modernes de corrélation dense en passant par la photogrammétrie traditionnelle. Elles sont appelées à prendre le relais des techniques habituellement mises en œuvre pour la réalisation des bases de données topographiques dans le cas de commandes spécifiques comme la description du relief des façades et le relevé 3D complet intérieur et extérieur d'un monument. Journal de
