Barker, 2009-05-27 With her provocative focus on the tactile dimensions of cinema Jennifer Barker crucially contributes to a reinvigoration of film theoretical debates This book is a must read not only for those interested in the interface between cinema and the body but for anyone who believes in cinema s endless capacity to surprise us Elena del R o author of Deleuze and the Cinemas of Performance Powers of Affection The Tactile Eye makes an important contribution to the recent discourses of embodiment in cinema and cultural studies Grounded in existential phenomenology the book abounds with productive suggestions and precise analytical tools with which one might carry out a deeply tactile textural analysis of cinema Laura U Marks author of Touch Sensuous Theory and Multisensory Media The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature Patrick Cheney, Philip Hardie, 2015-10-29 The Oxford History of Classical Reception OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This second volume covers the years 1558 1660 and explores the reception of the ancient genres and authors in English Renaissance literature engaging with the major and many of the minor writers of the period including Shakespeare Marlowe Spenser and Jonson Separate chapters examine the Renaissance institutions and contexts which shape the reception of antiquity and an annotated bibliography provides substantial material for further reading The Passage of Literature Christopher GoGwilt, 2011-01-27 Through a set of comparative studies of the fiction of Joseph Conrad Jean Rhys and Pramodya Ananta Toer The Passage of Literature explains the interrelation between English Creole and Indonesian formations of literary modernism arguing that each passage of literature is the site of contest between competing genealogies of culture The Religious Herald ,1922 Healing the World's Children Cynthia

Comacchio, Janet Golden, George Weisz, 2008-06-26 Essays range from historical overviews and historiographic surveys of children's health in various regions of the world to disability and affliction narratives from polio in North America to AIDS orphans in post Apartheid South Africa to interpretations of artistic renderings of sick children that tell us much about medicine, family and society at specific times in history Jewish Literacy in Roman Palestine Catherine Hezser, 2001 Since Judaism has always been seen as the quintessential religion of the book, a high literacy rate amongst ancient Jews has usually been taken for granted. Catherine Hezser presents the first critical analysis of the various aspects of ancient Jewish literacy on the basis of all of the literary, epigraphic and papyrological material published so far. Thereby she takes into consideration the analogies in Graeco-Roman culture and models and theories developed in the social sciences. Rather than trying to determine the exact literacy rate amongst ancient Jews, she examines the various types, social contexts and functions of writing and the relationship between writing and oral forms of discourse. Following recent social anthropological approaches to literacy, the guiding question is: who used what type of writing for which purpose? First, Catherine Hezser examines the conditions which would enable or prevent the spread of literacy, such as education and schools, the availability and costs of writing materials, religious interest in writing and books, the existence of archives and libraries, and the question of multilingualism. Afterwards, she looks at the different types of writing, such as letters, documents, miscellaneous notes, inscriptions and graffiti, and literary and magical texts, until she finally draws conclusions about the ways in which the various sectors of the populace were able to participate in a literate society. *Numismatic Circular List of Coins, Medals, War Medals, Books, Etc.
