The Bible Text-book American Tract Society,1880 Polemic in the Book of Hebrews Lloyd Kim,2006-11-01 The author of Hebrews is arguing that God himself has brought about the fulfillment of these institutions through his Son s priesthood his once for all sacrifice and the new covenant he inaugurated in the last days These new institutions are never denied the Jews In fact the context of the epistle presumes that these are primarily for the Jews considering that the author was speaking to a Jewish Christian community The author is not arguing for the abandonment by God of the Jewish people but rather for the abandonment of the shadowy means by which God's people drew near to him It is here we can speak of a qualified supersessionism According to the author of Hebrews the Levitical priesthood the Mosaic covenant and the Levitical sacrifices have been superseded by Jesus' priesthood the new covenant and Jesus' once for all sacrifice However we conclude that the polemical passages in Hebrews do not promote hatred of the Jews nor do they advocate the destruction of the Jewish people Rather the author of Hebrews stresses the fulfillment of specific Jewish institutions for the benefit of the Jews It is this idea of fulfillment that rules out the charge that the epistle promotes the supersession of the Jewish people Because of God's great love for his people he has provided a superior way by which his people can draw near to him from the Conclusion

Impeccability and Temptation Johannes Grössl, Klaus von Stosch, 2021-04-13 In Christian theology the teaching that Christ possessed both a human and divine will is central to the doctrine of two natures but it also represents a logical paradox raising questions about how a person can be both impeccable and subject to temptation This volume explores these questions through an analytic theology approach bringing together 15 original papers that explore the implications of a strong libertarian concept of free will for Christology With perspectives from systematic theologians philosophers and biblical scholars several chapters also offer a comparative theology approach examining the concept of impeccability in the Muslim tradition Therefore this volume will be of interest to scholars and graduate students working in analytic theology biblical scholarship systematic theology and Christian Islamic dialogue
