Geschiedenis Van De Nederlandse Taal In Hoofdtrekken Geschetst:

The History of Linguistics in the Low Countries Jan Noordegraaf, Kees Versteegh, E.F.K. Koerner, 1992-11-05 The importance of the Low Countries as a centre for the study of foreign languages is well known The mutual relationship between the Dutch grammatical tradition and the Western European context has however been largely neglected In this collection of papers on the history of linguistics in the Low Countries the editors have made an effort to present the Dutch tradition in connection with that of the neighbouring countries Three articles by Claes Dibbets and Klifman deal with the earliest stages of the development of a grammar for the Dutch vernacular Several important European figures worked in the Low Countries their contribution to linguistics is discussed in articles on Vossius Rademaker Spinoza Klijnsmit and one of the most original phoneticians of European linguistics Montanus Hulscher Vivian Salmon's article is a survey on the relations between English and Dutch linguistics in the field of foreign language teaching In the 19th century Dutch linguistics had a special relationship with German general and historical linguistics four articles deal with this period Jongeneelen van Driel le Loux Schuringa Noordegraaf Finally there are three articles by Kaldewij Hagen and van Els Knops on the development of three branches of linguistics in the 20th century structuralism dialectology and applied linguistics This volume should be of interest for all specialists in the history of linguistics in Europe who are interested in the interdependence of the various traditions Netherlandic language research Coenraad Bernardus van Haeringen, Netherlandic language research Haeringen, 2024-03-11 The Transformation of Vernacular Expression in Early Modern Arts Joost Keizer, Todd Richardson, 2011-10-14 Including contributions by historians of early modern European art architecture and literature this book examines the transformative force of the vernacular over time and different regions as well as the way the concept of the vernacular itself changes in the period Netherlandic Language Research Men and Works in the Study of Dutch, E. Kruisinga Arthur Joseph van Essen, 2013-11-11 Lenition and Vowel Lengthening in the Germanic Languages Kurt Goblirsch, 2018-05-24 The interrelationship between three major quantity changes in the history of the Germanic languages gemination lenition and open syllable lengthening Language and Its Functions Pieter Adrianus Verburg, 1998-01-01 When Pieter Verburg 1905 1989 published Taal en Functionaliteit in 1952 the work was received with admiration by linguistic scholars though the number of those who could read the Dutch text for themselves remained limited The title alludes to the theories of linguistic function set out in 1936 by Karl Bühler but Verburg regards the three functions of discourse focussing respectively on the speaker the person addressed and the matter discussed as no more than sub functions of the human function of speech His central concern is to explore the relationships between thought and language and language and reality and the work sets out to provide a historical analysis of views on these relationships in the period 1100 to 1800 The great strength of the work lies in the way in which the views of language are related to contemporaneous moves in philosophy and science contrasting essentially the mediaeval acceptance of authority the beginnings of induction in the Renaissance the dependence of early rationalism on calculation based on axiomatic truths and the further development of independent observation All these trends are reflected in the way men thought about language as well as in the way they used it Much has been written on the history of linguistics since this book was written but it still offers a unique view of the development of thinking about language Linguistics in the Low Countries Roland de Bonth,J.
