Geschiedenis II De Nieuwe Tijd:

De Nieuwe tijd, 1896 State Communication and Public Politics in the Dutch Golden Age Arthur der Weduwen, 2024-07-19 State Communication and Public Politics in the Dutch Golden Age describes the political communication practices of the authorities in the early modern Netherlands Der Weduwen provides an in depth study of early modern state communication the manner in which government sought to inform its citizens publicise its laws and engage publicly in quarrels with political opponents These communication strategies including proclamations the use of town criers and the printing and affixing of hundreds of thousands of edicts underpinned the political stability of the seventeenth century Dutch Republic Based on systematic research in thirty two Dutch archives this book demonstrates for the first time how the wealthiest most literate and most politically participatory state of early modern Europe was shaped by the communication of political information It makes a decisive case for the importance of communication to the relationship between rulers and ruled and the extent to which early modern authorities relied on the active consent of their subjects to legitimise their government Lords and Towns in Medieval Europe Howard B. Clarke, Annagret Simms, 2017-07-14 This volume is based on possibly the biggest single Europe wide project in urban history In 1955 the International Commission for the History of Towns established the European historic towns atlas project in accordance with a common scheme in order to encourage comparative urban studies Although advances in urban archaeology since the 1960s have highlighted the problematic relationship between the oldest extant town plan and the actual origins of a town the large scale cadastral maps as they have been made available by the European historic towns atlas project are still necessary if we want to understand the evolution of the physical form of our towns By 2014 the project consisted of over 500 individual publications from over 18 different countries across Europe Each atlas comprises at least a core map at the scale of 1:2500 analytical maps and an explanatory text The time has come to use this enormous database that has been compiled over the last 40 years This volume itself based on a conference related to this topic that was held in the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin in 2006 takes up this challenge The focus of the volume is on the question of how seigneurial power influenced the creation of towns in medieval Europe and of how this process in turn influenced urban form Part I of the volume addresses two major issues the history of the use of town plans in urban research and the methodological challenges of comparative urban history Parts II and III constitute the core of the book focusing on the dynamic relationship between lordship and town planning in the core area of medieval Europe and on the periphery In Part IV the symbolic meaning of town plans for medieval people is discussed Part V consists of critical contributions by an archaeologist an art historian and an historical geographer By presenting case studies by leading researchers from different European countries this volume combines findings that were hitherto not available in English A comparison of the English and German bibliographies attached to this volume reveals some interesting insights as to how the focus of research shifted over time The book also shows how work on urban topography integrates the approaches of the historian archaeologist and historical geographer The narrative of medieval urbanization becomes enriched and the volume is a genuine contribution to European studies Commercial Republicanism in the Dutch Golden Age Arthur Weststeijn,2011-12-23 This book is the first comprehensive study of the radical political thought of the brothers Johan and Pieter de la Court two eminent theorists from the seventeenth century Dutch Republic who played a pivotal role in the rise of commercial republicanism The Rise and Decline of Dutch Technological Leadership (2 Vols) Karel Davids,2008-09-17 This book provides a wide ranging overview of Dutch technological leadership in the early modern Europe it explains whence this leadership came about and why it ended and it explores to what extent the Dutch case illuminates the evolution of technological leadership in general ,1998 The Bookshop of the World Andrew Pettegree,Arthur der Weduwen,2019-04-02 The untold story of how the Dutch conquered the European book market and became the world s greatest bibliophiles The Dutch Golden Age has long been seen as the age of Rembrandt and Vermeer whose paintings captured the public imagination and came to represent the marvel that was the Dutch Republic Yet there is another largely overlooked marvel in the Dutch world of the seventeenth century books In this fascinating account Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen show how the Dutch produced many more books than pictures and bought and owned more books per capita than any other part of Europe Key innovations in marketing book auctions and newspaper advertising brought stability to a market where elsewhere publishers faced bankruptcy and created a population uniquely well informed and politically engaged This book tells for the first time the remarkable story of the Dutch conquest of the European book world and shows the true extent to which these pious prosperous quarrelsome and generous people were shaped by what they read Book history at its best Robert Darnton New York Review of Books Compelling and impressive THES Book of the Week An instant classic on Dutch book history BMGN Low Countries Historical Review Petrus Camper in context Klaas van Berkel,Bart Ramakers,2015 A meteor of spirit science talent and activity thus Goethe described Petrus Camper 1722 1789 Goethe s words contain all the elements that make Camper such a fascinating figure in the history of science and arts in the eighteenth century Dutch Republic This volume sheds new light on Camper s versatility engagement and charisma in all fields and disciplines he ventured into and published on It not only addresses his scientific activities findings and opinions but also delves into his careers at the universities of Franeker Amsterdam and Groningen his travels relationships friendships and feuds as well as the ways he communicated his wide ranging research Eleven case studies illustrate Camper s views on eighteenth century life and society which motivated not just his scientific but also his political societal literary and artistic practice Together they amount to a plea for an integration of all aspects of his scholarly life and persona Nederlandsche bibliographie ,1889 The Invention of Enterprise David S. Landes,Joel Mokyr,William J. Baumol,2012-02-26 A sweeping global history of entrepreneurial innovation Whether hailed as heroes or cast as threats to social order entrepreneurs and their innovations have had an enormous influence on the growth and prosperity of nations The Invention of Enterprise gathers together for the first time leading economic historians to explore the entrepreneur's role in society from antiquity to the present. Addressing social and institutional influences from a historical context, each chapter examines entrepreneurship during a particular period and in an important geographic location. The book chronicles the sweeping history of enterprise in Mesopotamia and Neo-Babylon, carries the reader through the Islamic Middle East, offers insights into the entrepreneurial history of China, Japan and Colonial India, and describes the crucial role of the entrepreneur in innovative activity in Europe and the United States from the medieval period to today. In considering the critical contributions of entrepreneurship, the authors discuss why entrepreneurial activities are not always productive and may even sabotage prosperity. They examine the institutions and restrictions that have enabled or impeded innovation and the incentives for the adoption and dissemination of inventions. They also describe the wide variations in global entrepreneurial activity during different historical periods and the similarities in development as well as entrepreneurship's role in economic growth. The book is filled with past examples and events that provide lessons for promoting and successfully pursuing contemporary entrepreneurship as a means of contributing to the welfare of society. The Invention of Enterprise lays out a definitive picture for all who seek an understanding of innovation's central place in our world.

A History of Dutch Corruption and Public Morality (1648-1940) Toon Kerkhoff, Ronald Kroeze, Pieter Wagenaar, Michel Hoenderboom, 2020-07-03. This book represents the first extensive discussion of 300 years of change, continuity and diversity in Dutch corruption and public morality between 1648 and 1940. A collection of rich historical case studies on public and political debates surrounding supposedly corrupt acts of administrators and politicians is set against the backdrop of the major political and socio-economic developments of the time. As the book moves from early modern beginnings of the Dutch Republic to the age of Enlightenment and into modern politics, it tells the story of how, when and why Dutch political administrative thought and practice concerning good and bad government actually evolved. It provides the reader with an understanding of past and present ideas on Dutch corruption and public morality and places these within a wider European historical context. The book will primarily appeal to those interested in European and Dutch political administrative history, the history of corruption, anti-corruption, public values and ethics and integrity.

Acta Historiae Neerlandicae I. Schoffer, 2012-12-06. Academic Interests and Catholic Confessionalisation Bruno Boute, 2010. Focussing on an anomaly, highly controversial but at face value useless privileges granted to the university of Louvain, this book explores the entanglement of material, political, religious and intellectual interests nurtured by early modern academics in the Confessional Age.
