Advertising and the European City Clemens Wischermann,Elliott Shore,2019-01-15 First published in 2000 this volume responds to the rise and spread of advertising throughout Europe and the world in the past one and a half centuries which is breathtaking in its scope and influence now part of the way we think and live Historians are only just beginning to understand this process replacing outmoded theories of manipulation which focused on the advertiser with more sophisticated cultural explanations that centre on the way consumers filter and select messages creating new worlds of perception The authors of this work find the origins and trace the development of this new world of perception in the modern city London and Paris the forerunners and the cities and larger towns of France Germany Belgium and the Netherlands where advertising created new urban perceptions leading to new avenues of consumption and altered lifestyles Advertising is viewed in this work as a new way of perceiving and organising the world of the city dweller a visual culture a way of attaching meaning to things and to words or rearranging the mental map of modern life
