Syntactic Analysis and Description David Lockwood, 2005-12-07 This book is designed to teach undergraduate and beginning graduate students how to understand analyse and describe syntactic phenomena in different languages The book covers every aspect of syntax from the basics to more specialised topics such as clitics which have grammatical importance but cannot be used in isolation and negation in which a construction contradicts the meaning of a sentence The approach taken combines concepts from different theoretical schools which view syntax differently These include M A K Halliday s systemic functional linguistics the stratificational school advocated by Sydney Lamb and Kenneth L Pike s tagmemic model The emphasis of the book is on syntactic structures rather than linguistic meaning and the book stresses the difference between a well formed sentence and a meaningful one The final chapter brings these two aspects together to show the connections between syntax and semantics Each chapter concludes with exercises from a diverse range of languages and a list of major technical terms The book also includes a glossary as an essential resource for students approaching this difficult subject for the first time

Multiple Perspectives in Linguistic Research on Baltic Languages Ineta Dabašinskienė, Nicole Nau, Aurelia Usoniene, 2012-01-17 The ten contributions to this volume present original research on grammar and discourse in modern Lithuanian and Latvian They reflect the diversity of approaches in linguistic research on Baltic languages that has developed in recent years after a period where these languages were studied almost exclusively from the perspective of historical comparative linguistics Current research perspectives include among others perspectives from discourse analysis sociolinguistics language acquisition research corpus linguistics contrastive studies and linguistic typology The studies in this volume explore new ways of describing the system and use of Latvian or Lithuanian from a synchronic non normative point of view They focus on grammatical categories and constructions modality evidentiality case existential clauses grammatical characteristics of lexical classes reflexive verbs numerals the characteristics of certain forms of discourse academic discourse food discourse and the effects of an ideology of correct language on language users

Areal Linguistics within the Phonological Atlas of Europe Thomas Stolz, Nataliya Levkovych, 2021-08-23 In contrast to many other levels of language there is as yet no comprehensive areal linguistic description of the segmental phonological properties of the languages of Europe To complement the synchronic picture of the languages of Europe it is time to take stock of their phoneme inventories to provide an empirical basis for generalizations about the similarities and dissimilarities of the languages of Europe The best way to visualize the areal phonology of Europe is that of the Phonological Atlas of Europe Phon Europe which features the isoglosses of phonological phenomena on a plethora of maps As a prequel to Phon Europe this study not only outlines the goals methodology sample and theory of the project but also focuses on loan phonemes whose diffusion across the 210 doculects of the sample yields meaningful patterns The patterns are indicative of recent processes of convergence which have transformed a diverse phonological mosaic into a superficially homogeneous linguistic area The developments which have led to the present situation are traced back through the history of the sample languages

Latvians in Michigan Silvija D. Meija, 2005-07-11 Latvians have contributed to the cultural mosaic and economy of Michigan far more than one might imagine There are three large Latvian communities in Michigan Kalamazoo Detroit and Grand Rapids with several smaller enclaves elsewhere in the state An underlying goal of Latvians who now live in Michigan as well as other parts of the United States and Canada is to maintain their language and culture More than five thousand Latvians came to Michigan after World War II found gainful employment purchased homes and became a part of the Michigan population Most sought to reeducate themselves and struggled to educate their children in Michigan s many colleges and universities Latvians in Michigan examines Latvia and its history and describes how World War II culminated in famine death and eventual flight from their homeland by many Latvian refugees After the war ended most Latvian emigrants eventually made their way to Sweden or Germany where they lived in displaced persons camps From there the emigrants were sponsored by individuals or organizations and they moved once again to other parts of the world Many came to the United States where they established new roots and tried to perpetuate their cultural heritage while establishing new lives

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope,John Neubauer,2006-09-13 Continuing the work undertaken in Vol 1 of the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe Vol 2 considers various topographic sites multicultural cities border areas cross cultural corridors multiethnic regions that cut across national boundaries rendering them permeable to the flow of hybrid cultural messages By focusing on the literary cultures of specific geographical locations this volume intends to put into practice a new type of comparative study Traditional comparative literary studies establish transnational comparisons and contrasts but thereby reconfirm however inadvertently the very national borders they play down This volume inverts the expansive momentum of comparative studies towards ever broader regional European and world literary histories While the theater of this volume is still the literary culture of East Central Europe the contributors focus on pinpointed local traditions and geographic nodal points Their histories of Riga Plovdiv Timi oara or Budapest of Transylvania or the Danube corridor to take a few examples reveal how each of these sites was during the last two hundred years a home for a variety of foreign or ethnic literary traditions next to the one now dominant within the national borders By foregrounding such non national or hybrid traditions this volume pleads for a diversification and pluralization of local and national histories A genuine comparatist revival of literary history should involve the recognition that treading on native grounds means actually treading on grounds cultivated by diverse people

Contexts, Subtexts and Pretexts Brian James Baer, 2011 This volume presents Eastern Europe and Russia as a distinctive translation zone despite significant internal differences in language religion and history The persistence of large multilingual empires which produced bilingual and even polyglot readers the shared experience of belated modernity and the longstanding practice of repressive censorship produced an incredibly vibrant profoundly politicized and highly visible culture of translation throughout the region as a whole The individual contributors to this volume examine diverse manifestations of this shared translation culture from the Romantic Age to the present day revealing literary translation to be at times an embarrassing reminder of the region's cultural marginalization and reliance on the West and at other times a mode of resistance and a metaphor for cultural supercession This volume demonstrates the relevance of this region to the current scholarship on alternative translation traditions and exposes some of the Western assumptions that have left the region underrepresented in the field of Translation Studies

Lexical Creativity, Texts and Contexts Judith Munat, 2007-11-06 The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic stylistic textual and social environments in which they occur The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising the daily press electronic communication literature spoken interaction cartoons lexical ontologies and style guides The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic stylistic textual and social environments in which they occur The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising the daily press electronic communication literature spoken interaction cartoons lexical ontologies and style guides Each study analyses novel formations in relation to their contexts of use and inevitably leads to the crucial question of creativity vs productivity By focussing on creative lexical formations at the level of parole these studies provide insights into morphological theory at the level of langue and ultimately seek to explain lexical creativity as a function of language use

Voice and Argument Structure in Baltic Axel Holvoet, Nicole Nau, 2015-08-15 The second volume in the VARGReB series deals with voice in the wider sense encompassing both alternations that preserve semantic valency with passives as the most typical instance and valency changing devices such as the causative Regarding the former special attention is given to event structural conditions on passivization non canonical passives and the relation between passives and active impersonals Papers dealing with causatives focus on valency patterns and argument marking in canonical as well as extended uses of causative morphology Other articles consider converse constructions and the argument structure of middles which seem to hold a position between voice in the narrow sense and valency changing operations An introductory article provides background information on the repertoire of voice alternations in Baltic from a cross linguistic perspective Representing different approaches and methods the contributions to this volume offer fine grained analyses of data from contemporary Latvian and Lithuanian
