

Bromine, Low Range

D O C 3 16.53.0 1-444

DPD Method¹

Method 8016

0.05 to 4.50 mg/L Br₂

Powder Pillows or AccuVac® Ampuls

Scope and application: For testing bromine residuals (including hypobromite, hypobromous acid and bromamines) in water and wastewater.

¹ Adapted from Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater.

Test preparation

Before starting

Analyze the samples immediately. The samples cannot be preserved for later analysis.
Always do tests in sample cells or AccuVac® Ampuls. Do not put the instrument in the sample or pour the sample into the cell holder.
Make sure that the sample cells are clean and there are no scratches where the light passes through them.
Rinse the sample cell and cap with the sample three times before the sample cell is filled.
Make sure that there are no fingerprints or liquid on the external surface of the sample cells or AccuVac® Ampuls. Wipe with a lint-free cloth before measurement.
Cold waters can cause condensation on the sample cell or bubbles in the sample cell during color development. Examine the sample cell for condensation or bubbles. Remove condensation with a lint-free cloth. Invert the sample cell to remove bubbles.
Install the instrument cap over the cell holder before ZERO or READ is pushed.
If the test result is over-range, or if the sample temporarily turns yellow after the reagent addition, dilute the sample with a known volume of high quality, bromine demand-free water and do the test again. Some loss of bromine may occur due to the dilution. Multiply the result by the dilution factor. Additional methods are available to measure bromine without dilution.
After the test, immediately empty and rinse the sample cell. Rinse the sample cell and cap three times with deionized water.
For the best results, measure the reagent blank value for each new lot of reagent. Replace the sample with deionized water in the test procedure to determine the reagent blank value. Subtract the reagent blank value from the sample results.
The AccuVac Ampul Snapper makes AccuVac Ampul tests easier to do. The AccuVac Ampul Snapper keeps the broken tip of the ampul, prevents exposure to the sample and provides controlled conditions for filling the ampule.
An AccuVac Ampul for Blanks can be used to zero the instrument in the AccuVac test procedure.
The SwiftTest Dispenser for Total Chlorine can be used in place of the powder pillow in the test procedure. One dispensation is equal to one powder pillow for 10-mL samples.
Review the Safety Data Sheets (MSDS/SDS) for the chemicals that are used. Use the recommended personal protective equipment.
Dispose of reacted solutions according to local, state and federal regulations. Refer to the Safety Data Sheets for disposal information for unused reagents. Refer to the environmental, health and safety staff for your facility and/or local regulatory agencies for further disposal information.
