Fundamental Religious Principles in Browning's Poetry Willis Duke Weatherford, 1907 Fundamental Religious Principles in Browning's Poetry (Classic Reprint) Willis D. Weatherford, 2017-09-18 Excerpt from Fundamental Religious Principles in Browning's Poetry Robert Browning was one of the greatest seers as he was one of the foremost poets of his time His poetry is a study of the deeper problems of life These were more to him than all the forms of art God Christ the World Man Suffering Sin these are in reality the subjects of his thought They emerge everywhere in his poems Though he was not professedly a theologian he has thought more vitally and written more helpfully on the problems of theology than most of the theology makers Browning saw life He saw it sanely He saw it deeply His starting point was life his data the experiences of the human Upon these he reasoned free from the biases of theological training and the narrowing restrictions of theological method He touches their real truths and he touches them with a vital touch He has therefore vital messages on the fundamental problems and principles His messages will reach and help those who do not read theology and those who do About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Fundamental Religious Principles in Browning's Poetry Willis Duke Weatherford, 1907
