Christian Schad Retrospective:

Christian Schad Christian Schad, 2008 Christian Schad Christian Schad, Michael Fuhr, Leopold Museum, Thomas Ratzka, 2008 Christian Schad's 1894-1982 cool vibrant portraits with their immaculate surface and the expressive eyes functioning as a mirror to the soul soon became icons of the twenties. Apart from its focus on these world famous key works representing the artist's decisive contribution to the Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity movement, this publication also presents his early work influenced by Cubism and Dadaism and the abstracting tendencies of his work produced during the fifties. Works by companions and contemporaries place Schad's art in the context of Classical Modernism. His graphic oeuvre shows that even at an advanced age he took joy in experimentation, doing brilliant work in a great variety of media and repeatedly exploring new frontiers, for example in his well known and influential Schadographs and rare Formica pieces. A comparison with more recent exponents of realism is meant to stimulate a new evaluation of his often under appreciated late work in which, beginning in the 1960s.

Bodily Desire, Desired Bodies Esther K. Bauer, 2014-06-24 Bodily Desire Desired Bodies examines the diverse ways that literary works and paintings can be read as screens onto which new images of masculinity and femininity are cast. Esther Bauer focuses on German and Austrian writers and artists from the 1910s and 1920s, specifically authors Franz Kafka, Vicki Baum and Thomas Mann and painters Otto Dix, Christian Schad and Egon Schiele, who gave spectacular expression to shifting trends in male and female social roles and the organization of physical desire and the sexual body. Bauer's comparative approach reveals the ways in which artists and writers echoed one another in undermining the gender duality and highlighting sexuality and the body. As she points out, as sites of negotiation and innovation, these works reconfigured bodies of desire against prevailing notions of sexual difference and physical attraction and thus became instruments of social transformation.

Dada in the Collection of the Museum of Modern Art Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), Anne Umland, Adrian Sudhalter, 2008 Presents some seventy works: books, collages, drawings, films, paintings, photographs, photomontages, prints, readymades, reliefs in large scale reproductions and accompanying them with in depth essays by an interdepartmental group of the Museum's curators. Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe Marsha Morton, Barbara Larson, 2021-03-25 Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe investigates the visual imagery of race construction in Scandinavia, Austro-Hungary, Germany and Russia. It covers a period when historic disciplines of ethnography and anthropology were expanding and theorists of race were debating competing conceptions of biological, geographic, linguistic and cultural determinants. Beginning in 1850 and extending into the early 21st century, this book explores how paintings, photographs, prints and other artistic media engaged with these discourses and shaped visual representations of subordinate ethnic populations and material cultures in countries associated with theorizations of white identity. The chapters contribute to postcolonial research by documenting the colonial style treatment of minority groups by exploring the anomalies and complexities that emerge when binary systems are seen.
