Voices of Justice and Reason Geoffrey V. Davis, 2021-10-25 Over the past fifty years transformations of great moment have taken place in South Africa Apartheid and the subsequent transition to a democratic non racial society in particular have exercised a profound effect on the practice of literature This study traces the development of literature under apartheid then seeks to identify the ways in which writers and theatre practitioners are now facing the challenges of a new social order. The main focus is on the work of black writers, prime among them Matsemela Manaka Mtutuzeli Matshoba and Richard Rive, who as politically committed members of the oppressed majority bore witness to the black experience through their writing. Despite the draconian censorship system, they were able to address the social problems caused by racial discrimination in all areas of life, particularly through forced removals, the migrant labour system, and the creation of the homelands. Their writing may be read both as a comprehensive record of everyday life under apartheid and as an alternative cultural history of South Africa. Particular attention is paid to theatre as a barometer of social change in South Africa. The concluding chapters consider how, in the current period of transition, writers and arts institutions have set about reassessing their priorities, redefining their function, and seeking new aesthetic directions in taking up the challenge of imagining a new society.

The Back Stage Theater Guide Trevor R. Griffiths, Carole Woddis, 1991. The essential reference for the discriminating theatergoer. The alphabetically organized entries are critical eye-opening examinations of the most popular playwrights through the ages. The screen and stage credits for each playwright are listed, and the latest notable productions of their work described. Also included are numerous essays describing major movements in contemporary theater.

Modern Anglophone Drama by Women Alan P. Barr, 2007. Alan P. Barr has brought together eleven world-class modern plays by women that show not only their artistry but also their variety and their passion. Drawn from nine different countries other than the United States and England that use English as their literary language, the plays reflect the concerns of women across the globe. The imagery and dramatic conventions may shift, and the tones vary, but the need to be strong and its difficulty, the sense of a world that is anything but nurturing or ideal, and the suspect nature of family life and relations are constant themes. The struggle over language in countries that are very often ex-colonies conveys the frequent overlap between feminist and postcolonial focuses. The diversity of Englishes on stages from Singapore to South Africa is a lovely curtain call to this theater festival.

Between Two Trailers J. Dana Trent, 2024-04-16. A powerful unforgettable memoir about a girl who escapes her childhood as a preschool drug dealer in rural Indiana, only to find that no one can really make it out until they make peace with where their story began. Home, it turns out, is where the war is. It's also where the healing begins. Dana Trent is only a preschooler the first time she uses a razor blade to cut up weed and fill dime bags for her schizophrenic father King While King struggles with his unmedicated psychosis Dana s mother the Lady a cold and self absorbed woman whose personality disorders rule the home guards large bricks of drugs from the safety of their squalid trailer But when the Lady impulsively plucks Dana from the Midwest and moves the two of them south their fresh start results in homelessness and bankruptcy In North Carolina Dana becomes torn between her gritty midwestern past and her newfound desire to be a polite southern girl struggling to reconcile her shame with an ache to figure out who she is and where she belongs But the past is never far behind After persevering through childhood and eventually graduating from Duke University Dana imagines that her hidden Indiana life is finally behind her only to realize that running from her upbringing has kept her from making peace with the people and places that shaped her Ultimately Dana finds that though love for family is universally complicated there is no shame in survival and for those who want it there is always a path home Leslie's Curl & Dye, A Potter Lake Novel
