Curriculum And Imagination Process Theory Pedagogy And Action Research:

Curriculum and Imagination James McKernan, 2007-08-07 Curriculum and Imagination describes an alternative process model for designing developing implementing and evaluating curriculum suggesting that curriculum may be designed by specifying an educational process which contains key principles of procedure This comprehensive and authoritative book offers a practical and theoretical plan for curriculum making without objectives shows that a curriculum can be best planned and developed at school level by teachers adopting an action research role complements the spirit and reality of much of the teaching profession today embracing the fact that there is a degree of intuition and critical judgement in the work of educators presents empirical evidence on teachers human values Curriculum and Imagination provides a rational and logical alternative for all educators who plan curriculum but do not wish to be held captive by a mechanistic ends means notion of educational planning Anyone studying or teaching curriculum studies or involved in education or educational planning will find this important new book fascinating reading

Action Research Jean McNiff, 2013 This edition provides updates on methodological discussions and includes new sections on case study material and information on supporting action research

Bridging Educational Leadership, Curriculum Theory and Didaktik Michael Uljens, Rose M. Ylimaki, 2017-10-04 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This volume argues for the need of a common ground that bridges leadership studies curriculum theory and Didaktik It proposes a non affirmative education theory and its core concepts along with discursive institutionalism as an analytical tool to bridge these fields It concludes with implications of its coherent theoretical framing for future empirical research Recent neoliberal policies and transnational governance practices point toward new tensions in nation state education These challenges affect governance leadership and curriculum involving changes in aims and values that demand coherence Yet the traditionally disparate fields of educational leadership curriculum theory and Didaktik have developed separately both in terms of approaches to theory and theorizing in USA Europe and Asia and in the ways in which these theoretical traditions have informed empirical studies over time An additional aspect is that modern education theory was developed in relation to nation state education which in the meantime has become more complicated due to issues of globalism This volume examines the current state of affairs and addresses the issues involved In doing so it opens up a space for a renewed and thoughtful dialogue to rethink and re theorize these traditions with non affirmative education theory moving beyond social reproduction and social transformation perspectives

Transformative Learning and Teaching in Physical Education Malcolm Thorburn, 2017-04-07 Transformative Learning and Teaching in Physical Education explores how learning and teaching in physical education might be improved and how it might become a meaningful component of young people's lives With its in depth focus on physical education within contemporary schooling the book presents a set of professional perspectives that are pivotal for realising high quality learning and teaching for physical education With contributions from a range of international academics chapters critically engage with vital issues within contemporary physical education These include examples of complex learning principles in action which are discussed as a method for bettering our understanding of various learning and teaching endeavours and which often challenge hierarchical and behaviourist notions of learning that have long held a strong foothold in physical education Authors also engage with social ecological theories in order to help probe the complex circumstances and tensions which many teachers face in their everyday work environments where they witness first hand the contrast between discourses which espouse transformational change and the realities of their routine institutional arrangements This book enables readers to engage in a fuller way with transformative ideas and to consider their wider implications for contemporary physical education Its set of professional perspectives will be of great interest to academics policymakers teacher educators and teachers in the fields of physical education health and well being It will also be a useful resource for postgraduate students studying in these subject areas

Teaching Inclusively in Higher Education Moira A. Fallon, Susan C. Brown, 2010-04-01 This book is designed for higher education instructors The focus of the book is to assist all faculty instructors in higher education to better meet the needs of their student populations It addresses the major issue of higher education teaching today the need to reach all higher education students using active learning strategies Higher education today is rapidly changing and faculty members are being presented with new types of students ones who often have clear goals for bettering themselves but at the same time lack what might have been considered to be basic skills necessary for success in a college or university setting Instructors today must reach and bring all students into the college or university setting in an inclusive manner The emphasis of this book is on student focused strategies for teaching inclusively This book will provide valuable strategies and practical techniques for instructors to develop inclusive college classrooms that promote the learning of all students The audience targeted will be all instructors who work with higher education students including students in community colleges and vocational institutions The book is designed to be mainly practical instructional strategies with limited theoretical text and references At the same time major theories will be included to demonstrate why specific approaches are recommended Although the authors and editors are from the field of education the book is particularly valuable for all college instructors without a background in the discipline of education

Critical Pedagogy and Marx, Vygotsky and Freire Luis S. Villacañas de Castro, 2015-11-03 This book explores Marx's theory of the phenomenal forms in relation to critical pedagogy and educational action research arguing that phenomenal forms pose a pedagogical obstacle to any endeavour that seeks to expand an individual's awareness of the larger social whole

Education and Society in the Middle East and North Africa Milton George, S. Sergio Saleem Scatolini, 2020-01-17 In the past the Middle East and the so called Muslim world used to be beacons of learning and critical thought Although historical variables such as conquest internal conflict and colonization demoted their position on the global stage changes are now in the offing In these interesting times a growing number of educators thinkers and visionaries are trying both to find and to generate new approaches to the past present and future of the region This book is a collection of articles which reflect on various aspects related to education and society in the Middle East and North Africa also known as the MENA region their peoples and educational processes It provides a platform for people to join the global conversation and to contribute to it with data which are relevant to regional concerns research and practices This is necessary because many of the theories and research findings which are still being used to understand the region were generated elsewhere and despite their lack of regional representativeness were generalized as the most trustworthy interpretive tools across the world Hence there is a need for the world to open up to the voices from the MENA region

Curriculum Integrated Language Teaching Kim Bower, Do Coyle, Russell Cross, Gary N. Chambers, 2020-07-09 Do your students struggle to see the point in learning a language other than English Do you teach in an English dominant setting If so this book is a must read It offers international perspectives on CLIL a revolutionary teaching approach where students study subjects for example physics or history in a language which is not their own Informed by research carried out by the authors it addresses the issues of developing CLIL in Anglophone contexts and shows how to implement this method of language learning successfully in the reality of the classroom Through three key themes sustainability pedagogy and social justice each author explores CLIL as a means of addressing the high levels of cultural diversity and socio economic disparity in Anglophone dominant settings Authored by experts in the field it offers a set of flexible teaching tools which serve to combine language and content ultimately enhancing the learning experience of students

Curriculum and Environmental Education Alan Reid, 2019-11-14

This collection traces the development and findings of curriculum studies of environmental education since the mid 1970s. Based on a virtual special issue of the Journal of Curriculum Studies the volume identifies a series of curriculum challenges for and from environmental education. These include key questions in curriculum politics planning and implementation including which educative experiences should a curriculum foster and why what the scope of a worthwhile curriculum should be and how it should be decided organised and reworked why distinctive curricula are provided to different groups of students and how curriculum should best be enacted and evaluated. The editor and contributors call for renewed attention to the possibilities for future directions in research in light of previously published work and innovations in scholarship. They also offer critical commentary on curriculum critique and crisis in environmental education through new material and previous studies from the journal by addressing three key themes: perspectives on curriculum and environment education, accounting for curriculum in environmental education and changes in curriculum for environmental education.

Curriculum Theory, Curriculum Theorising, and the Theoriser, 2020-12-29 Curriculum studies is at the core of the educational endeavour and informs what happens in every educational institution. As a result of its criticality or primacy every educational practitioner appears to claim expertise in curriculum matters and what direction the field should take. In Africa the curriculum practitioner has been given little or no space to theorise and orient the future of the field in Africa. Instead European and American curriculum theorists have been allowed to exert a marked influence on the nature and direction of African theoretical and philosophical underpinnings. This situation raises fundamental questions about the future of education in Africa and this volume explores and answers these questions relating to curriculum theory theorising and the theoriser by breaking traditions and experimenting on alternative approaches and pathways.
